Turn Within to Love
A Story of Relationship

Introduction

This story will bring to the reader a new way to view life as it unfolds through the eyes of our characters there. It will allow for the reader to see that through the chaotic times of life can come real peace. Most importantly, it will allow for letting go of the mind set of separation and the loneliness and fear that has permeated your existence for so long. At last you will see, that what truly is there within, is a profound place of guidance and love and a place of true worth.

This story is meant to not only provide substance for you, but will provide the way to live your life as you move lovingly forward. It is with the greatest joy that I share this work with you, and know that I am with you always.

We begin this tale knowing that there could never be a story that has the power to change you, for it is not words that can do this, rather, it is the perception change that will provide transformation. We can tell you that a changed perception has the power to move you forward there and truly will bring transformation. It is the purpose of this story to do that, for within these pages will be given the necessary ingredients to provide for that changed perception, if allowed to penetrate into your mind set, your place of transformation.

It is our intent to usher in radical change and to gift you with renewed purpose and understanding. You have long lived as isolated ones there and you have felt the harshness and severity of this way to live. Mental health has not proven easy to maintain and the confusion of a conflicted society whose purpose is to undermine and undervalue you as worthy, looms large.

There can only be peace as this conflicted way is allowed to dissipate and the light of brilliant love shines through. As this love permeates you and you see it as the very substance of you, you will find peace at last. We offer this to you then, as a gift of significant worth, and know that it will not disappoint but will liberate and allow for the truth of whom and what you really are to come forth.

Enjoy the unfolding, and realize, most profoundly that you are never alone!

Our story begins in the heartland of our country, where mid-western values of old fashioned neighborliness still hold strong. Here we find our main character and her name is Randi. She is a daughter of a preacher and one of several children. Her mother was a nurse prior to becoming a minister's wife and she labored along with her husband in serving the several parishes he was called to.

Our character was a large girl, tall in stature and big boned. She was considered attractive in her youth, but age mellowed the features to a plainness that left her ordinary by any measure.

8 Turn Within to Love

She was not without her charms though and always exuded a certain zest for life. Her story takes place in about the middle of her life, when she had left a marriage of many years and had begun a life alone with two grown children, who were now out on their own and who were less dependant on her.

She had a temperament leaning toward isolation and introspection, always relishing in time alone and always wanting to find time for reading and studying spiritual books and exploring spiritual ideas.

This seemed almost innate to her and occupied the majority of her time when she was not working. She had chosen a career as a social worker and felt that working to help people was a worthwhile endeavor. The career, however was not uppermost in her life, but served to provide income and some socialization. She had a deep desire to discover the truth of life and knew that this was her task as she lived. Her mind set was one of openness to receive and to learn and to then incorporate into her life.

As she lived she felt that she was abided with by the Holy Spirit and by Jesus whom she felt exceedingly close to and spoke to him as one would to a friend. Her love of Jesus was what got her through the difficult times and her relationship with him was her main relationship. She was told that she was a mystic and that she had a great gift to give as she lived and that this gift was one of writing and publishing books directly from Jesus, from me, her best friend.

Why was this woman given this purpose, this mission? She had agreed to it before she incarnated on planet Earth and had set it up with her counselors...to tell others about spiritual guidance and to inform them about the direct availability of Jesus to them, to help them, guide them and to love them.

And so, this woman began her mission of writing and publishing books from Jesus. Without anything that would make her stand out, nor cause anyone to take notice, nothing much happened. Life and circumstances intruded at times and the writing had stops and starts. Other than family members, few paid any attention and the woman had a reclusive personality that kept her from getting out there to publicize the works. She became content to write, hoping that a breakthrough would occur that would open the doors to getting the works out.

She was faced with a culture that was inundated with books and authors who had spiritual insights to offer others. She was faced with a culture that lived on sound bites and snippets of written works, few taking time to read books.

As the boxes of book were piled high in her apartment, she wondered what she should do and asked Jesus whether she should give them as freebies to bookstores or to the Good Will. She was told to wait and see what unfolds. Now was the time of writing and the time of putting out manuscripts.

And so the days were filled with writing and the pages mounted. During this time, we on the spiritual plane were wondering how we could assist this woman in bringing her books to the public and allowing her to give her gift. We had thought that the wonderful nature of these works would provide impetus for people to buy them and read them but the culture is so saturated with information and time consumers there, that few ever stopped to question whether there was more to life than meets the eye.

We were pondering this and spoke to others there about what we could do to help this woman give her gifts in a way that would allow for her to continue in her peace and provide recognition at the same time. A bit of a difficult task. Some suggested that the books could show themselves after she had passed and that she would still have given her gifts even though she was on the spiritual plane. Others thought that she would best be served, and others would best be served, if she were somehow brought into the gifting while she was still in the physical dimension as she could testify most powerfully to the veracity of the works.

We were puzzled with this, but hardly stifled. We just wanted to give the mission its best chance of being given and of course we had agreed to help her as she was a part of us. We can tell you that we sent her our love daily and she felt it and was nourished by it.

Now we can tell you that the things she had to convey were of the utmost importance to man/womankind and were essential to awakening there. And so, it was not a small contribution she was making. We will tell you, that the planet you are living on is truly now, at a time like none other, ready to awaken to the truth of life...that it emanates from Source and is spiritual through and through.

Yes, dear one, you there, who see yourself as a physical being, are indeed, spiritual, through and through. The nature of spirit is that which is truly harmonious, not a thing out of place. The nature of spirit is that which is living love and which has as its goal, bringing all into harmonious and wonderful Oneness with all else. You are a part of this Oneness, dear one, truly you are a part of this Oneness but you see yourself as separate. Our mission is to bring to you the awareness of this Wholeness and to usher in change, transformation, as never before. We can tell you that the time is ripe for this and the time is now. Now is the time, so let us into your mind set there, by quieting your thinking and asking us in. We will answer you fully there, truly, we will answer you fully.

Randi now was faced with the real possibility that her works would never get given. She had written seven books, had self-published five and had two novels in the wings. She struggled with this on a daily basis and wondered if all of this would be for naught. A lifetime of dedication with no one to benefit from it. But in response to guidance, she continued on, listening and writing and trusting. We had no idea how it would all turn out, but we knew that sooner or later, if she persisted, all would get given and the years of work and the prayers and the guidance would not have been in vain.

We knew that there was a forward movement occurring in her life and that lessons were learned on a daily basis. The difficulty was that she was settling in, allowing herself to become routine and in effect, lessening the dynamic nature of gifting. She had settled into a life of small creature comforts and small needs. She had settled for a little inexpensive apartment and had limited herself to used clothing and minor outings. Her small income was augmented by some savings from a home she had sold and so she looked on this as the sum of her wealth, and that she needed to guard it and use it very sparingly. Not that she wasn't generous, but the specter of many years of retirement faced her and she was uncertain about things.

How could we shake her out of these doldrums, for they did not serve her well and kept her tethered to the security of smallness and a rather uneventful life. We attempted to gift her by showing her a home that was wonderful and that she could purchase for little, but panic and fear at the thought of getting over her head overwhelmed her. What would her children think if she made such a dramatic move at her retirement age? They would think she had lost her mental judgement. No, this was too much!

Now we tried to point out to her that the home was perfect for her, but she was not ready to hear it, even if it was a gift from us, to be had by simply staying with the panic and working through it.

Now we knew that she understood that growth can only come when you are willing to move out of your comfort zone and willing to work through the resistance you feel to something new.

But the creature comforts of smallness and sameness proved too strong to allow for fear to be overcome and forward movement to occur. She was told that this situation would occur again and that the lesson she learned from working through the panic would help her in times to come.

There were many changes that needed to be made and we were interested in bringing these to her attention and focusing on letting go of her insular behavior. We were interested in showing her how transformation can occur in her life and not just in the lives of others. This work then serves that purpose and let us continue in how and if we are able to do that.

We are not scolding Randi, for she has not turned away from inner guidance in any way. The nature of inner guidance is truly one of love and fulfillment, gifting there, and so anything that is said is truly said in the nature of gifting. We are trying to get her attention in this and to impress on her the importance of taking more direct action and taking more risks. She is truly caught in the safety and security of non-movement or little movement and feels safe in this place. However, it is a trap non-the-less, and as much as out of place as one who sacrifices the use of his or her limbs. It is that paralyzing to stay so entrenched. Now these words are hard for Randi to hear and are giving her some mild anxiety, for she thinks “What next? What will happen to undermine my peace and my solitude?”

We can tell her that she is truly ready to exert herself more and we will help her in this. She is ready to let go of the need for caution and comfort, safety and security and move ahead with courage there. She must remember that through it all she is not alone ever. The comfort of this is huge and the need for step by step guidance is there.

How should she proceed? How should she let go of the resistance? This is the work there and it is the way to move forward. She must do the things we say and not move away from them, but rather stick with them until she has mastered them and then next steps will be given.

Remember, what is being written here is from divine intelligence and is being given from the dimension of true enlightenment. Therefore, what is written here is the most profound way for her to move forward. As this volume continues, we will explore in detail what is necessary for the books to get given and we will see if she has what it takes or is willing to give what it takes to do the work. Yes, we are putting her under a microscope and we are reporting back to you what occurs. You will see first hand what is transpiring here, and you will know how she accomplishes what she will accomplish. We have utmost trust that the gift will get given and we are here to help her.

What is it that will occur? The goal is to have her open to guidance, accepting recommendations and willingly following. This does not mean that she will give up her own identity, nor her sense of individuality, but it does mean that she will understand herself as a part of the Wholeness of Source, and in that she moves and has her being. This will include listening and following and giving utmost attention to what comes forth. This is not a game we are playing...this is life...her life, and it is what she has agreed to before she incarnated and so it is of the utmost importance for her.

If she must return without completing her mission, she will still be loved and cherished, but she will have postponed countless others in getting the good news of direct connection. This will hurt her as she wants so much to give others the good news. We want her to succeed there and we are willing to work with her mightily, there.

Now the time for forward movement is there and the call is to listen and follow. It is not without overcoming fear, anxiety and panic for these will rear their ugly heads (not that they are a real presence) but they will be as defenses in good working order ready to go to battle against this coming into the flow of guidance. They will work their suggestions and innuendos to keep the gift from being given, for they see it as their demise (again, not that they are a real presence, but only a defense system).

We will work with Randi to overcome these and it will get easier as she practices it again and again. We will give her feedback and show her how she blocks the flow of forward movement there and how she retreats to her niche and her smallness. We will show her her separated sense of self, in all its starkness.

You will see that what we are doing is truly something that you can use in your life as you are faced with similar things...all are. It is truly as you let go of the enculturated way and lean into guidance that you will have the know how and the can do of it. We are here for you, dear reader, and we will show you the way.

Now let us see what unfolds as we undertake to bring Randi's mission to the world. Let us see what it takes to shake off the lethargy and the laziness and move, with determination, forward. In and through all of this, she is never alone, as neither are you.

It is with great love that we undertake these things. It is with the greatest care and concern that we push for change there. We see the limitation that holds you so firmly in its grip. We see the fear that accompanies change. For the unknown is not met with an embrace, but rather with the possibility that troubles could mount and that illness, disease, misfortune and impoverishment could appear. All these things are held out to you through your media and through other's life experiences and possibly through your own.

You see the future as bleak and with high risks involved. The idea of expanding responsibility seems at odds with your current life situation. And yet, that is what we are calling for. That is what we want you to do there. It is only through this that you will grow and gain stature as a developed and enlightened one. You must be willing to let go of your fear and transcend your circumstances there. You must be willing to allow for the penetration of spirit to inform you and enlighten you as to what would really be the best next steps there.

For it is in embracing the guidance and exploring what is given that you will move forward. Now the entrenched mind set will give way and the forward movement will occur. It is not something that will be easy, as the ego will insinuate itself into every decision and into every forward movement. It is an entrenched mind set that has as its purpose, annihilation of you...most starkly put, annihilation of you. That is its motive and this is what it will seek to work for.

As you gain an understanding of this and as you turn inward, you will find the strength to carry on there. Truly, you will find the strength to carry on. We will show you through specific steps what to do and how to do it. So let us begin this very day, unearthing and dismantling the entrenched mind set of ego and the separated way. Let us work intelligently and with the Whole of you, the joined you, steadfastly moving forward into the light of living love. This is the way there, this is the way. We would suggest that you begin each day with the intention of letting go of the entrenched habits and familiarity that has posed such a seductive way to live. It has posed a way to live that has been reinforced time and time again by your culture. That is, to accept some semblance of peace and to accept some semblance of stability and to be satisfied with a small amount of pleasure and tokens of leisure there.

Now these things in and of themselves are not wrong, nor are they injurious to you, but they seek to place you in a box and keep you there. They serve as a pat on the head and a token of good behavior. How limiting this mind set is, dear one. How limiting to only allow for smallness to be felt and to back off from greater fulfillment there. It is so easy to settle for what is given and to adjust to it as one would adjust to living in hard times, but making do.

An attitude of limitation serves no one well. All it does is set an example to others that this is the way to live. How sad is this, and it diminishes the benefits and the blessings that can be given and that can be received. As you adjust to limitation, you adjust to closing down vital functions that are left as fallow ground, unused and wasted.

You have the capacity to live a full life and a life of real meaning there. Now the call is to embrace this life capacity and to draw on your spiritual guide who will assist you in how to open to the more of you there to be lived. You must not acquiesce to the mind set of limitation and smallness, for you are truly of great stature there. You see yourself as inconsequential, but you are indeed not that.

Now is the time to let go of this limiting mind set and move forward with the Wholeness of you leading the way. We can tell you that you are ready to expand the possibilities and see life unfold for you into infinitude. These are not just nice words, nor words of what could be called airy fairy in nature, but are words of significance and words of true meaning.

Embrace them, dear one, and move forward joined to the power and the strength and the courage of the universe. All is unfolding there for you as you read this, and it is as you open to receive what is there, you will gain the wisdom and the know how to move forward. Let us now look at specific steps to take there and specific ways to do this.

Do not move forward without connecting to your inner guidance, for it is only as you have the perspective from the transcendent that you can gain the confidence that what you are doing is the appropriate next step to take. It is always as you quiet your thinking mind set and listen for the words from guidance, that you will have the necessary insight to know what next. You see, it is easy to get deluded by what your culture would have you do. It is easy to get deluded by snippets of errant wants and wishes that have no bearing on your life's purpose, your mission there.

The guidance you will receive will be that which takes the entirety into consideration and knows the steps that are necessary to undo the separated mind set that has held you at bay from discovering the truth of you. Now you have so much to be learned there and so much to practice. It is in practicing that you will benefit most, for it is in this behavior that you will allow for the releasing of old habits and behaviors that have held you hostage. Practice make perfect, dear one, and as you do it, it will perfect you.

To begin with, we would say, meditate every day. Take time to get to the deeper levels of Mind and experience the peace from here. It is necessary to do this to understand that there is much more to your life than what you have been so led to believe. Here, in the quiet depths of consciousness, is your connection to your Source. Inner guidance awaits you and the meaning of your life, your purpose, will be made known to you. .

Now is the time to quiet your mind set and let in. Let us do this now as we take a few moments to let go of all the ego involvements that intrude on your peace. Let us take a few moments now ,dear one, and come back to reading after a while. I will end this short chapter with an invitation to meditate and to get to know me there. I am with you fully and I will not leave you alone, stranded, with the cunning and wily ego defenses ready and waiting to undermine what you are involved in. Now is the time to allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 5

You are ready to explore options there. What does this mean? It means that you are ready to look at how Mind works and determine what and where you would choose from. You see, as you become familiar with your Mind's landscape, you will soon discover that there are ways to use mind that will either benefit you or cause you harm. These are strong words, for they lay the choice as an either/or and they do not allow for any in between.

You cannot ride the thought system of the enculturated way, the way of conditioned thinking and also listen to the Voice for Truth, your spiritual guidance, there. It is not possible to truly listen and move forward without choosing for your peace and your spiritual guidance to lead you. Why is this so? Because anything else is an imposter, a made up way to use your mind set and will end up causing you discomfort there and will shroud you in a fear- based decision.

You see, ultimately your choice to live out from the separated way, the way of thinking, is something you have chosen as you wanted to go it alone, do it yourself and enjoy the sovereignty of separateness. Why is this bad for you, and why can this cause you harm? Because it is not the truth of you. It is a crap shoot always, as it bases its decisions on probabilities, past history, and whims and wants that have been pommelled into you by your culture. There is no groundedness, no wellspring of reality to live from as you do so choose from this mind set.

There is a way to live there though, dear one, and it is the way of connection to the Source of you and the reality of you. How wonderful to join with that day spring of life, your Source, your Creator. How wonderful to know that as you live, you are moving and having your being from your true parent, God. How wonderful to relax into this knowing and trust that what unfolds is, indeed, what is best for you and what will bring you fulfillment And as you are fulfilled others, too, will be, for you are never solo in your movement forward there, you are never solo in that. Now is the time to choose for your truth and your connection to your Wholeness. Join with us there in the quiet of your peace and live out from here . You are never alone there, ever, dear one, for indeed, we are One.

As we continue in the story of Randi and her need to let go of the entrenched mind set there, we must give you some more information that will make the story clearer. She has felt that she is involved in something of real worth, but also knows that others are telling this news of direct connection, also. She, therefore, thinks that if she approaches the work as somewhat of a mundane task, without fervor or without direct and vigorously felt intention, it will not matter, for others are giving this news out, also.

Eventually, they will hear the news and be moved to turn inward to guidance. She lacks a certain drive that is there, but is hidden behind her need for peace, calm and low level of tolerance for any thing that offers resistance. She gives up and adjusts rather than persevering. She sees this as her personality and does not think it is anything she has any control over.

Now we are not telling her to get into the ego dynamics of competition, nor the need to excel, be at the top, win, etc.etc. But we do see a need for more dynamism in her work... a willingness to go out there and share the good news...tell about direct guidance and be willing to take the blow -back, whatever it is.

She can and will develop this as the mission becomes uppermost in her Mind and she sees it as her function there. Now we are working with her in this and we are showing her how to develop that perspective of dynamic and persevering intention that brings all to the world. Even as she is writing this and listening to guidance, she is ready to rest and take it all in, let it go, adjust to what she is hearing. She knows that change is on the horizon and will soon be making itself felt.

Now the focus shifts from one of casually living life to one of intense work and focus on mission. There will be no more diversionary activities that create a meandering and lackadaisical approach to life. There will be a clearing away of all that is not directly related to her task, her life's work. We will guide her each step of the way.

Now the forward movement will occur and it will allow for increased dedication as she sees the benefits of her gift. She will see her life as purposeful beyond the years she is in and will know that her unique gift was not one more author of spiritual books, but an author who listened and followed her divine guidance and brought what she promised to the world.

Now you also, must look at yourself with an honest scrutiny of how you have blocked off the flow of inner guidance and the opening up of your life's work, your mission there. All make an agreement with their counsellors before they incarnate and all have missions to fulfill. Some are directly related to bringing the gift of inner guidance to others, while others are not necessarily spiritually related, that is, as a teacher or writer or giver of spiritual knowledge. But always, the mission will involve being a loving presence in the world and showing joy and fulfillment as it is accomplished.

You may ask, "How am I to know this purpose?" We will tell you that you have inner guidance available to talk with you and show you this. You are never alone there, dear one, truly, you are never alone.

Chapter 7

Do not let your life be diminished by the imposition of what your culture tells you your life should be like. Your culture is interested in monetary use of you, for gain and exploitation. Your culture sees you as a means to an end, that is, a means to gain its sovereignty over you. You have your own sovereignty as a Child of Source with all that Source has as yours. You are a divine inheritor, dear one, and you have dismissed this as just words, inconsequential to you. Now I am here to tell you that your inheritance is of genuine importance and will truly be as the reality of you, whom and what you are.

This means that you have, at your disposal, at your call, the Mind set of God-consciousness. You have the Mind of Source there, ready to gift you and to provide fulfillment on a great and magnificent scale. You have your Source as that which is there, at the ready, to give you what you need to carry on, find strength and wisdom and the perfect next steps to your life.

It is truly amazing to us here on the spiritual plane, how few have accessed this fully. Many pray, but still hold the mind set of a beggar to a potentate rather than a child to a loving parent or a brother to a sister. It is truly as family that we exist, dear one, it is truly as family. Family takes care of and knows its own. It nourishes and provides what the member needs and it bolsters them up along the way. That is what we here on the spiritual plane do for you.

Now is the time to learn of our presence there and to bring your attention to this Mind of your Wholeness there. Now is the time to bring your intention to open to guidance and now is the time to trust that what you hear is, indeed, the truth. You are met always with love and nourishment and you are met with eagerness to fulfill your true needs, what would truly provide fulfillment for you. Now is the time, dear one, truly now is the time. Let your intention and your interest lead you onward and let the love you feel feed your soul. You are never alone there ever, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 8

Bring to bear on your life the Mind set of Source. How do you do this? This will be the subject of this writing. It is as you allow for the release of your thinking mind set, your ego, that you will come into that still place where your inner divine guidance can be heard. It is as you quiet that voice for fear and ego insinuation, that you will allow for the still place within to be known to you. It is truly a place of peace and it is a place where the fear-based identity no longer reigns.

How wonderful to be in this place of peace and to allow for the tranquility and the joy to be felt. Here is the life renewing place, for it aligns you with the stream of life, the stream of God-consciousness that is the real you, the truth of you. Here is your Source, your base, your parentage, your firm footing, your beacon, your tree of life that knows you as its own. Here is your place of family and of divine love. Here is where you can learn of what is best for you and what are the perfect steps to take in your life.

How wonderful to have the safety and the security of being on target, flowing with the input from divine intelligence and the confidence of the universe before you. How wonderful to move and have your being holding hands and listening to One who loves you and wants only your best interest at heart. How wonderful for you, dear one.

Now we are telling you that this place exists. That is, it is not a made up thing, nor a fanciful thing, nor a thing to be dismissed as idyllic and of little value there. No! No! No! It is of the utmost importance, for it will give you the way to live as none other could. We so want you to live out from your Source there. We so want you to join with your true parent and come into the flow of dynamic and wonderful life that embraces you and holds you securely in its embrace.

What we are telling you is true and has no other motive than to open you to the truth of your life. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. Now is the time to turn inward and quiet your thinking mind set and now is the time to allow for penetration of the defense system you have put in place so firmly. Let it go and join in the love of your Source.

22 Turn Within to Love

Chapter 9

Let us now focus on bringing to you something that Randi has found of immense worth. This is the specific nature of Source that allows for acceptance...just where you are. There is no need to go through a ritual in order to come into your peace, nor is there a need to have a specific humble and 'on- your- knees' perspective. You do not need to confess your sins and be contrite and self effacing to access your guide. You are accepted 'just as you are'. Now this is truly wonderful, for it means that in the heat of the moment, when you are in the grips of a dilemma, you can quietly turn inward and ask. "What should I do, Father ? Show me your way."

Now you will be given an answer. Sometimes it is to say nothing and to just allow things to unfold. Other times you will be given specific and clear answers. It maybe "No, this is not for you. Move on". Always you will be given an explanation as you do so ask 'why'. And, if you are not satisfied, you will be given further explanation. It will become clear to you, over time, and over many interactions with guidance, that he/she has your best interest at heart, always.

As you listen and follow guidance, you will become very familiar with the process, and you will find, after repeated and consistent intelligent guidance, that what your guide has in mind is fulfillment and gifting for you and most importantly that you will awake to the truth of you, that you are a part of the Wholeness and have that as your foundation.

Randi has found that her life has immeasurably stabilized and immeasurably increased in confidence and forward movement. Through the many years of relationship we have been in, she has found immense satisfaction in what has transpired there.

Now she continues to need assistance always, for the separated sense of self, the ego dynamics continue to assert themselves. But she has learned to identify them for what they are...imposters and only as dust to be swept away. They are not a real presence but serve to undermine her relationship with spirit, for that is their purpose...to undermine and to eventually annihilate that one. Now remember that the ego defense system, the separated sense of self, is not a real presence. It is a learned behavior that has been entrenched into your thinking from the culture over eons of time.

So entrenched is it that few function in any other way but to believe what is presented in mind by this defense system. And so, sin, sickness and disease reign as givens. Fear is the king pin, the lynch pin, in the subtle and complicated system of defense that is wily and cunning, but again, only a system, not a real presence.

The way to outsmart this is to dismiss it and laugh at it as not real...brush it away with a little whisk broom in your mind and allow for truth to penetrate through to you. "I will not listen to such nonsense of fear" you say, "I only listen to the truth of my being, that I am whole, complete and free and that I am connected most powerfully to my Source there. Most powerfully and most wonderfully."

As you practice this, you will diminish the bastard defense system which has no foundation and no family and no parentage, but is truly, a made-up thing there. How wonderful to see it disappear in the nothingness that it is. And how wonderful to see the light of brilliant love pervade your consciousness.

The peace, joy, stability and sanctity of this relationship that brings all things new, unfolds daily with fulfillment for you. That is the truth there, dear one, this is the truth. Read these words and ask your guide for verification that what you are reading is true, and you will be given an answer there. You are never alone, there ever, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 10

Randi did not know that she was off track. She did not know that she had settled for smallness. How is it that as she was in touch with guidance she didn't know? This chapter will deal with how it is that one can be entrenched in living a somewhat normal life and still be missing out.

Randi had fallen into the trap of comfort and smallness, inadvertently. She had thought of purchasing a home and had looked for some time. She knew innately that it was the right thing to do, but she had settled into this small apartment and had found the simple joy of so little requirements on her part to be seductive. It was hard to believe that one could have so few household chores and so few responsibilities.

How enticing it was to have a life of open-ended free time and open-ended living. This must be the right way, she thought. Now the routine set in with all its subtle ploys to entrench itself. Get up, get dressed, make bed, go out for coffee and cookies, get the mail. Then rest, to the library or for a walk in nature. Oh yes, and occasional writing. Journaling kept her in touch with spirit. This must be the way, she thought, this must be what I am given to do. For I am so comfortable in my routine and I have so little stress and involvement. How wonderful to live this way into my old age.

Soon the time at home was spent laying down and reading a book or watching TV. Though she didn't overdo with eating, the small amount of activity wasn't enough to burn off the calories consumed... so weight piled on. The limbs became weaker as the call to lift, pull, dig and reach were no longer required. The legs became stiffer and the middle section grew thick from lack of bending and moving.

Now the entrenched mind set of limitation set in. The reinforcement of the small creature comforts of cookies and coffee each morning, occasional walks in nature and occasional dinner with a neighbor in the complex filled her life. Nothing was required of her and now the small apartment became an entrenched “nest”, a box of safety and security. No longer did she want to take long trips, nor experience anything new. No longer did she want to extend herself.

We on the spiritual side saw this. We kept encouraging her to work on her mission and to become more diligent in this. There was a lackadaisical attitude there, an attitude of “wait and see”. This was what we were faced with when we tried to give her the home that was perfect for her.

It was truly amazing to see the fear and the panic that set in as she was told that this was the home for her. She felt betrayed by Source as he had abandoned her to something that was scary. She felt betrayed and wondered why I would have done such a thing, to disrupt her comfort and her entrenched mind set.

I told her it was because we loved her and wanted her to move forward, escape the smallness and the limitation and come fully into the flow of mission there. How hard this was for her to hear!

Now I can tell you the good news, there. The home was put on the market again and Randi let go of her panic and purchased it. As she began to understand what she had allowed herself to become she understood more of how mind works and how the ego can subtly insinuate itself, like a creeping web, that engulfs and limits. It was as Randi truly faced her fears and panic and came to us for explanations and understanding, that she let go of the timidity, and smallness and began embracing the larger and more wonderful horizon that awaited her.

As this is being written she is waiting to close on the home and is looking forward to it with wholehearted enthusiasm. We are with her through it all there and we will be with you too, as you can see yourself in this example and as you too, have limited yourself.

It is truly amazing to us to see the wonderful attributes and abilities go fallow as so many do, and disallow gifting to enter in. What occurs is a rather ‘do it myself’ attitude and an attitude of smallness and lethargy...holding on and meagerly extending there. The call is to change, dear one, truly, the call is to change. We can tell you that what is there for you is truly magnificent and doable as you open to receive guidance. Go for the more of you and go for the more of life. Let in, dear one, truly let in. All is well there and you are never alone.

Are you someone who has fallen into the trap of addiction? Now this is truly rampant in your culture, for so many have tried to find solace in behaviors that seem to offer a way to find soothing comfort from substances or behaviors that seem to quell anxiety or add excitement to life. Many have fallen into this trap but have not seen it as truly harmful to them. They have dismissed it as part of life and try to cope. Eventually, they do run into hard times with it though, and the face of what they are doing shows itself.

As you have fallen into this behavior, and as it has crept up on you, you have learned to love it and depend on it as a friend. You have learned to defend it as something you do not want to end there as it seems as important to get you through. Now the need for substances is one that has as its roots, a false understanding of life, for it sees life as filled with difficult times and days to get through. The need then is for something to quell the mind of fear and anxiety, that is the ego defense system.

Here is where we can tell you that your relationship with your Source will be of mighty assistance to you, for you will be given the true understanding of the nature of life... that it is spiritual through and through, and that no one is alone to face things, but has the Wholeness there to turn to. No one is alone to face the pain which the ego has impelled into you. Always, it is with relationship that these addictive activities can be let go of and released as the nothingness that they are.

We can tell you that behaviors of repeated use of substances and repeated activities used to quell feelings and numbness and used to create meaning are fully false as that which will achieve that. They are false and are imposters on your peace always. Now is the time to turn inward there, dear one, and now is the time to find anew the relationship that will heal all, and allow for the peace of your being to be felt. You are never alone in this, dear one, truly you are never alone in this. Now turn inward and ask that your guide make him or herself known to you. Ask them to show you the way there for you are never without the accompaniment of that guidance.

There is a way to let go of these behaviors, and as you find the strength to do this, you will marvel that it was there all along and you didn't even know it. You will marvel at this. Now for you the call is to practice getting in touch with spirit regularly. Not only when you feel the urge to use your addictive behavior, but practice on many levels and in many circumstances. For you, the need to practice is great, for it will familiarize yourself with guidance and will make it easier to access if you have the relationship in hand already.

And so, I would encourage you to ask me to help you. Ask me to show you the way there. For as the fullness of our relationship is known to you, you will delight in it and find true meaning there. You are never alone there, dear one, truly, you are never alone.

Chapter 12

Bring to bear on your life, what I call the mind set of intention. Intention is much talked about these days as truly that which will further what you are involved in. It is truly an ingredient in forward movement. It is an attitude, or a characteristic of Mind which provides the leading edge, the trailblazer of unfoldment. So it is no small thing. Intention is important and it is necessary to practice and bring it into play as you live. You have guidance, you have a mission, and you must have intention to blaze the trail for you.

Intention can be nurtured and intention can be stated as an affirmation, again and again. It serves to remind you of what you want and what you expect to have happen. It serves to lay out the attitude and the mind set for forward movement.

Now you can ask that guidance increase your intention there and show you the way. You are truly equipped with this attribute but to bring it into focus you must practice it as with everything else you do so want. Intend for guidance to make itself known to you, and intend for your mission to be made known to you. Intend for the Voice for Truth to speak to you. Now will come the forward movement there and now will come the spectre of fulfillment in all its glory. You will raise your eyes to the horizon and there it will be. You will turn around and there, before you, will be the way made plain. How glorious, dear one, to know that the promise of fulfillment means something real and tangible and transformative. Not as words without substance, nor ideas without form is this promise of fulfillment made.

Now you must grow in your stature there and allow for the more of you to come forth. At first, you will turn back and look at what you were. "Do I want to leave the comfort of that place? It provided such a home for me... now I must leave and grow to be a bigger and more enlarged presence. I must take on the responsibility of being a larger and more enlightened one."

Now you will wonder, "Am I up to this new and larger unfoldment? Will I have what it takes to take the heat of the blow back that will inevitably come as my mission is given?"

Now again will come the choice to choose for guidance. Here you will know that through it all you are never alone. Here, you will know that you are abided with by those that love you deeply and who want only for you to experience true joy.

Few on the Earth plane will be able to provide this for you, for they will have their opinions and their ego dynamics they are working with. Now they will see you as above them or different from them and they will question their love and their loyalty. They will think you are on a different level and they will think they can no longer relate.

Now will come a feeling of aloneness as never before, but it will be dismissed as you now move fully into the joined perspective. You know that you are met with the love of your Source and you know that you have given or are giving your gift. You know that when you reach the other side you will have accomplished what you set out to do.

There you will be greeted by many who have been working with you and who will welcome you soundly. You must remember that growth requires leaving your comfort zone and embracing change and something new. You must leave behind what was loved before, include it, but add the more of you, the larger you.

The chrysalis must be broken to emerge as a new thing. The skin must be crawled out of and left behind to be new, and the old wineskin will not hold new wine. The nature of gifting is newness, dear one, and so welcome and intend for that newness to be felt, for it will be. You are not alone as you live ever, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 13

Randi is struggling with hearing what was just written. She knows that she is on the precipice of change. She wonders if she has what it takes to let go of stasis and move forward. She wonders if she will listen closely enough, follow appropriately or if she will adjust as is her pattern and settle back into her old life. Here, we can tell her, that she has what it takes to move forward there. She has what it takes and we see the gift being given. This is meant to assuage her doubts and to bolster her up. We see the intention she brings to the work and we see the desire to give the gift.

Many of us who are working with her have thought this through and have ascertained that the books should be given while she is still on the Earth plane. We feel that she will testify to the veracity of what she is writing and this will move others into turning inward to guidance.

You see, we here on the other side, which is just another way of saying those of us who exist with you but not visible to the eye there, are intent on bringing the good news of direct guidance to everyone. We state our intention all the time to each other and to those who are listening on the Earth plane. We state out intention and we work to bring it forward there.

What is our greatest intention? It is to have every one wake up to the truth of whom and what they are, direct inheritors of the Source and true brothers and sisters there. This is our mission and it is the mission of the many who have incarnated on the Earth plane at this time. There is a swelling up of this purpose and in this increased energy, millions will awaken there. How wonderful for them and for us to now have our brothers and sisters available to love and be loved. We want our Wholeness to be experienced fully and so we are working mightily there to bring those asleep into the knowing of whom and what they are. We want this to be made known, for it will change the way life is lived and will usher in opening to the planetary Wholeness of which you are a part, but don't know it yet.

How wonderful it will be, dear one, to finally embrace the forward movement of all mankind. We can tell you that this is our goal in working with Randi and with the others who have come to the Earth to share the good news. Are you a part of this mission?

You will know as you get in touch with your inner guidance and ask. “What is my purpose here? Am I involved here?”

You will be told and you will know. I can tell you that the joy of living out from Source is more wonderful than you can know. You are of that Source and you have All that Source has. Now is the time to let go, dear one, truly now is the time to let go into your truth. We are One, dear one, truly we are One.

Chapter 14

Stay focused on what is there right in front of you. It is here that you can find the movement of Source in your life. Right where you are is the place of gifting there, and the place of communication. Right where you are is the forward movement felt, and right where you are is the call to turn inward to the Voice for Truth.

Now you are truly meant to bring to bear on the circumstances of your life, the view from the transcendent there. We, who exist in this place of forward movement, are ready to show you the way. There is a need to bring to bear on the smallest of things and the bigger things our perspective, for as you embrace this, you will find that you are given the perfect unfolding there. Do not think that you are in any way misled, for that is not our purpose. It is not to deceive you, but to bless you that we are involved, for you are a part of us, dear one, truly you are a part of us there. We would say to allow for the gifting and allow for the joy to be felt. What you are involved in as you come into the flow of your mission is of vital worth. Not insignificant, nor without great importance, is this gift you are giving.

And so, it truly is important to listen and follow your Voice for Truth. Do not be lackadaisical in this and do not feel that you can be haphazard in this undertaking. Truly, that is not the case. You must be diligent and you must be willing to put on the back burner, activities that might be pleasurable but are divergent in their time consumption and in their purpose. Do not allow this to occur for you will only delay and possibly postpone your gifting, your mission there.

Now you will be given exact movements to follow and you will be given next steps. Listen closely and heed and follow for we are interested in the full gifting there. Now is the time to pay attention, dear one, truly, now is the time to pay attention. You are not alone ever, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 15

We are with you mightily. Even as you read this, we are with you. Now this is such valuable news to take into your mind set for it will give you the support you need to get you through your life situations there. You will feel into the support and the peace that is had as you connect with divine intelligence and with the transcendent there.

How wonderful to know that you are abided with, dear one, how wonderful to know that you are never alone as you live. The way to access this knowing mind set is to practice the meditation and the letting go of the thinking mind set. You see, the thinking mind set is in all ways an imposter there. It is not the way you are suppose to live and it is not the way you are suppose to move forward.

Now you have been enculturated to think that this is the way there, but, indeed, it is a false way to live. Intelligence is from your Source and is not something you have mastered or learned to acquire there. It is available to all. Intelligence is your inheritance as a child of Source. You are not a being without a foundation and without a way to live that is on target, accurate and filled with bountiful blessings for you. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly, you are not alone there ever. We are telling you this over and over and over so that you will get it! The joy of this is so profound there and so much a part of your birthright to access. The deep joy of life is truly what is the way to live and so it will be felt.

Now is the time to allow for your inheritance to be felt and to turn inward there. Ask that you be shown the truth of you and the Wholeness of you, whom and what you are. It is so imperative for you to have this as your birthright and such a pity and shame to forsake it because of what you have been led to believe. What a pity for us here to see you struggle with issues of life and the emotional ups and downs of life that cast you into loneliness and hopelessness and disease and eventually death. This is not necessary, there. It truly is not necessary there. There is joy in the journey as you live, truly, there is joy in the journey as you live. Now is the time to allow, dear one, truly now is the time to allow. As you begin to get a flavor for what is in store for you, you will delight and relish in this.

We, who reside here on the other side, are working mightily to give you this gift and so this writing is a part of this gift.

Ultimately, you are the one who must practice and allow for a little crack in your conditioned thinking and a little willingness to let go of your conditioned thinking. Then will come the huge waves of letting go of what you thought was the way to live and then will usher in radical change there. Truly radical shifting is called for as you live. Do not hold on to your smallness, and your routines and your little means of comfort, but open to receive the big gifts and the unlimited unfolding in your life. You are up for it, dear one, truly you are up for it. Now is the time, now is the time.

Chapter 16

Stay focused on your mission. As you discover that which is your mission there, stay focused and realize that it is the most important thing you could be doing with your time. Nothing else adds up there, nothing else adds up. It is wise to focus your attention on what the current unfolding is. That is, though you may have a goal and a destination, the point of concern is right where you are. The step or the work that you are involved in immediately is the work that deserves the attention. Bring your full attention to it, and do not get waylaid by the insinuation of your culture or of your limited mind set. Focus your attention on the work at hand and stay with that.

Now the need to focus is called for in each and every thing you do, for you cannot bring the Mind of Source into play unless you hone in on the project and listen for guidance as you proceed. There may be stops and starts, and there may be interruptions which are unavoidable but always the call is to return and stay focused on completing that which is before you. Only then, can next steps be given. Only then, for it is important that you realize that each step is interdependent on the other. Each step is interdependent and so must be completed before the next step is appropriately given.

We here, who are working with you, so want you to move forward there, into the larger gifting. We so want you to bring to bear on the situation you find yourself in forward movement and the sense of that "right on target" feeling. This is important so that you can feel the worthwhileness of what you are doing. It is truly important to get what is the feeling of "right on target" there, for it will propel you forward. We are working to instill this into your mind set and to nurture it and understand it there. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone there. Now is the time to allow for forward movement in your life and to trust that what you are involved in is truly from divine intelligence. We are working mightily there to give you what you need to give your mission. We are working with you to let go of the mind set of limitation that holds so many in its grip. Now is the time to let in, dear one, truly now is the time to let in. You are met with the love of your Source, always. As you continue on with your mission, you will find that the need to turn inward is there, for it is always as you bring to bear on your project, divine guidance, that the way is made plain. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Now let us look at the situation you find yourself in. You are faced with a challenge, that of giving your gift, your mission. You have come into guidance and have discovered the Voice for Truth. You have discovered that you are never alone and you have found that what you are engaged in provides true meaning to you. What could possibly upset your forward movement there? What could lead you astray?

There are many things there, dear one, that are not truly real but appear as real obstacles to your forward movement. There are obstacles from your culture, from your family members, and most insidiously, from your own ego mind set. These obstacles may present as logical and sensible to you and you will abandon your guidance as the cultural perspective seems so powerful in its rightness and in its necessity. Here also, check in with guidance for it is truly only then that you will move most intelligently forward. It is amazing to think that guidance cares even for the littlest things. Even for the smallest things there, can you turn to guidance. You are never alone there ever, and it is as you do turn inward and see the way that the perfect forward movement will occur.

As with everything else, even in the smallest way, check in with guidance. "What is your side here, Father? What is the truth here in this situation? What would you have me understand, see and do? What is your will?"

Then, in the quiet, listen...listen... listen. You will be given what next steps there and the right decision will have been made. You then will feel the 'rightness' of this and the relief that you asked, as the mind set of separation may have thrown you off track and delayed things or brought limited forward movement. You must remember that the Father has the whole picture in mind, and that which would benefit many. It is truly as you ask that the answer can be given, for it is not ever that your will can be violated. Your free will is inviolate there and must be held as that. We can never override what you want there and we can never impose what we believe to be the right way. Now the call is to move forward, there dear one, truly, the call is to move forward there. As this chapter comes to a close, take time to practice coming into connection and getting to know the place of peace, the place of our relationship. I am here for you to turn to and to experience the love that pervades this place. Trust that you are meant to live this way and trust that you are never alone.

Bring to bear on each and everything you undertake, a connection to your Wholeness. Then listen for what comes forth. Quiet and clear your thinking mind set and listen for forward movement. Now those of us here who know you and are working with you, will answer your call, for we are attuned to you as you live there. We know the situations you are in and the need for real and important help along the way. We understand the aloneness you feel as you are faced with what could be overwhelming circumstances there. We are attuned to you and we will guide you there.

Now this reassurance is so important and can't be heard too much. For it ameliorates the sense of separateness and immediately joins you with your heavenly realm, your spiritual guides who bolster you up along the way. How wonderful to have these friends there to help, and, as you become more and more acquainted with them you will turn to them more often.

Soon you will know that here is your family, your true and inviolable family that will not desert you in time of need, nor in time of celebration. So close there, are we. Call on us, dear one. Call on us to help you. As you go through life, you will find immediate help in any circumstance in which you call on us. Remember, that it is the work in front of you that should be attended to, not projections out into the future there, and not that which has not occurred. It is easy to project a doom and gloom outcome on things, for that is often the way your culture would have you believe. Your culture is made up of those who would suggest that if you go along and come along all will be all right. If you take the rewards of efforting as just rewards and do not fall outside of what is given to you, you will be all right.

Now all of this is done in the name of freedom and liberty to do what you choose but really you are programmed from the get go to come along and go along. You are programmed from the time of birth to follow in the path of your parents and your culture there. Now this is not necessarily wrong, but it does limit you and limits what you think is possible. It limits you in risk-taking and it limits you in your thoughts about what to do with your life. Truly, we are saddened to see talents and gifts be wasted, as so many succumb to the path of least resistance and the easy way out. It is sad to see the creativity and the new thinking /ideas that could be brought forth, held back by the deeply- ingrained, conditioned thinking there.

But times are changing and many are discovering that there is more to life than what has been told...there is so much more. Now the time for forward movement is there and the time to let go of the mind set of limitation is felt mightily. We are working to instill that in people and we are working to encourage the deep and abiding connection to Source, the true place of liberation/creation there.

It is time to allow for your liberation, dear one, and to be released from the slavery and dictates of a culture holding its citizens in check and in tow and limiting and narrowing expression there. There is a way to break free and to find the joy of whom and what you truly are. You are so much more there, dear one, truly you are so much more, so let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 19

There is no time like the present for gaining entrance to the Kingdom of Heaven. What do these words mean? As you connect with your divine Wholeness, you will be connected to the realm of spirit which sees the world as the Kingdom, there. You see, as you view the world from the separated sense of self, you see it as that which has been defined by separation, which is in all ways faulty there. You have viewed the world as a place to get through and to somehow create a plan and a scheme to make ends meet, make a living there and go after your own dream of what happiness is. Why is this faulty? It is faulty because it cuts out the life force, the Source of you. You cannot live apart from that Source.

You cannot live without fear as you do so live a separate life. Now fear is not called for there. And, as you do so connect to your guide, you will be given a way to live that extinguishes fear and replaces it with confidence, surety, and the invulnerability of coming from your true parentage, your true and authentic place of origination.

Now what you must understand is that the Father, your Source emanates as Mind. Mind is the place and as you quiet your thinking mind set... for thinking itself is of separation... and come into the still quiet place of connection, you will find the territory of your true home, your connection to your lifeline there.

How wonderful to know that you are known and valued there as an individual. You are met with and held as a precious one to love, honor and help along the way. Those of us here in this dimension are eagerly waiting for your return there. We are waiting and we are working to let you know about what is available to you. That is the reason for this writing and the reason that many have incarnated on the Earth at this time. Your planet is waking up to its true heritage and to its planetary involvement there.

Now the releasing of eons of limitation and separation is taking place. Even as you read this, the time is coming when the few will be the many and the eyes of all will be opened. Now is the time to come into the quiet place within, dear one, and learn of the truth of whom and what you are. Words cannot tell of the love we have for you. Words cannot tell of the desire we have to have you learn of the truth of you. We are working vigorously to bring this news to you, dear one.

Now is the time to let the book fall to your lap, close your eyes and ask that you be given a means to know your guide. You will be given a sign and a signal and a way that will be uniquely yours to know that you are in touch. Now will come the great unfolding there and the releasing of illusions. Now will come the interest in finding out more, and you will ask to know more.

Take a paper and pencil and ask. You will be given answers. If you don't understand keep asking and you will be given further clarification. You will wonder how can others not know of this ? How is it that this wonderful thing is not known by every one. It is truly amazing to us also that so few have learned of connection with their Wholeness. Now is the time for you there, dear one, truly now is the time for you. Open to receive and trust. You are not alone , ever.

Deep within the heart of you can be found a relationship of intense worth. Deep within, I am there, ready to assist you in all things. I am there, dear one, I am there. Now these words are meant to verify and validate what we have been talking about in this book. I am here to testify to you that truly you are not alone, and that you have me there always to commune with, and to provide nurturing love to you.

As you have lived a life of separation, you have found that what you are experiencing is painful at times and has caused you emotional stress and a feeling of 'no way out'. Now truly there is a way to escape from the prison of your thoughts, your separation from the reality of you, and that is to come into connection there and to find that you are never alone and that you have the mighty Wholeness of you to call on each and every moment.

How wonderful to know that through all that you go through, you are never alone. Of all the things you can know, this is the most powerful there. How wonderful to know that at each choice point, you have the love of your Source there to bolster you up, help you, guide you, provide the security for you and lead you onward in life.

This bulwark of stability, this infusion of divine love and strength, power and goodness surrounds you in and through it all. Now the call for you is to willingly give up your separated mind set and call on your Source. Call on your Source there! How wonderful to know this, dear one. There is no greater love than this, and there is nothing that could provide the confidence and the forward attitude that coming into connection to Source has for you. I would encourage all to open to receive this wonderful and refreshing gift of whom and what you are. The joy of this is so profound for you that you will hardly believe that all along your inner guidance was there and you did not know of it. I am telling you this, dear one, I am telling you this. You are not alone ever and in this is the greatest gift given.

What you must do is to understand that you must willingly ask for our joining with you. We cannot violate your free will there and as long as you decide to do it yourself, you will feel the fear, isolation and the despondency of one who is disconnected there. You will feel the loneliness and the isolation that is harsh and difficult to bear. As one cut off, isolated, and without roots, you will wither and seek comfort in addictions, and activities that take your mind off of what you are going through. You will look for distractions there and you will want to buffer the harshness with drugs, sex, and other things which used in this way are harmful to you. Ultimately, you will think of death and will become diseased, for these will be in your definitions of what life is like there.

As you feel into the truth of your being, you will no longer seek to avoid life, or fill it up with diversional activities, nor focus on the body and on disease there, you will find that peace and joy are yours to embrace and to feel as whom and what you really are. How wonderful to know that it is in the joining, simply in the joining, that the process of letting go of the separated self is initiated. Bit by bit or perhaps in huge chunks will the letting go of separation enter in. What a gigantic relief you will feel, and as the tears of joy are felt for the relief in being free from the disease and the discomfort of the separated sense of self, you will joy like you have never joyed before.

Now together, at last, we are free to move forward, hand in hand with the love of each other and of the world that the Father has created for us to live in and to love. Here, truly, is the Kingdom of Heaven as seen through the eyes of the spiritual reality of you there. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. Let these words buoy you up and let a little willingness open a crack in the defense system that has held you hostage for so long. I am with you there, dear one, truly, I am with you always, even until the end of time and into everlasting eternity.

Randi felt that her life was truly moving in a direction that felt purposeful and connected. She felt that the home was a gift for her and she felt that it would be a true blessing as she lived. Here were the sounds of nature and the lovely birds and other wildlife that lived on her grounds. Here were the sweet songs of the early morning frogs that lived in the pond. Here were the plants and trees that nourished her soul. As she observed what had been given her, she was filled with a thankful heart and realized that her fear and her anxiety were unfounded there. Here was what would provide joy and a deep sense of communion with nature which she loved, and felt close to the Kingdom in it. We, who had provided this gift, were joyed in her delight in it, and we relished in her acceptance of this. It had allowed for releasing of limitation to be made and it allowed for greater gifting to be given.

Now we knew that what lay ahead for her was something of significance for others there. We knew that her gifts could provide a Voice for Truth and could provide many the opportunity to hear of the Great Resource within that accompanies you always. Her experience would be strong in her testimony and others would resonate with it.

Now would come the time of bringing her books to the world. Now would come the time of telling others the good news of direct connection, there. There would be hurdles to overcome, but the basic understanding was there and Randi knew where to turn to get answers for her life. She did not realize, at first, that this would be a big gift to others. She did not believe us when we said that she would be known to many there as a spiritual teacher and a spiritual mystic who had a purpose and a mission of great significance. In some ways, she didn't want to believe it, for it seemed too overwhelming for her. She was truly questioning her ability to do this and we told her that she had what it takes to do this. She would not be alone there, ever.

Now the great gifting was on the threshold of being given. Not off in the distance years away, but soon the gift would be given, in all its relevance to a waiting public. The time was at hand and the need to move forward was there. Now we told her that the renovation of the house should take second place to mission, that focusing on the writing and on the publishing and promoting of the works would take precedence there.

It was for her to focus on what was at hand, the current work she was on that she would feel into what next. Now these lessons are given to her, but they are also for you, dear reader. You have a mission that you agreed to as you lived. You agreed to a mission there and you incarnated on the Earth at this time to give it. You counseled with those who worked with you in what you would do and they reassured you that they would be there to help you along the way.

As you left the dimension of Truth, you were born into the dimension of illusion, but you have held the truth of you with you always. It is as you allow for the letting go of the false definitions you have given everything...mankind has given everything... and open to what is really there, that is, that everything is spiritual though and though, and that it is not made up of polarities, you will come into the right Mind of family, whom and what you really are. We are working mightily there to bring this to everyone. We are working mightily to unbridle the limitation and release the conditioned thinking there. Now is the time to come into meditation and ask that you be given your guidance. You will receive and you will relish in this. Now is the time, dear one. Now is the time.

There is reason to be happy there, for you are on the cusp of enlightenment. You are on the cusp of letting go of the false sense of self that limited you there. Enlightenment is like letting go of a burden of gigantic proportions. As you realize that you no longer need to do it alone, the release will seem as a prison sentence broken and a mountainous journey abandoned. It will feel like a child stepping out on a walk after a spring rain with the air all fresh and dewy. It will feel like a child whose cares are carried by the parents and who is carefree to enjoy life fully. It will feel like you had an operation and something huge and awful was taken out and now you are recuperated and all is well and you are healthy and back to a full life without any problems to bear. It will feel like being in love and knowing that the love will be there forever. Ultimately, it will feel like you are Whole, Complete, with nothing missing and that you are radiating the most wonderful love and everything else is radiating that wonderful love and that life is unfolding anew each and every moment. These are just words. Nothing can explain enlightenment but enlightenment itself. It is your birthright there dear one, truly it is your birthright there.

We see that the mind set of many is opening up to this. We see that the energy of conditioned thinking is thinning and the energy of Life is bursting through. You must remember that the Source manifests as Mind there, and so it is in Mind that you will make the choice for looking at the world through the mind set of joining with your Wholeness. Now you will not have to give up your identity, but you will have to relinquish the "I'd rather do it myself" attitude, for this is when the trouble started in the first place. You must realize and have a perception change about where your life comes from. Always, you issue forth from the One Source and Center of Life, Father/Mother God, your Creator/Sustainer. You must realize that here is where the true creation originates and so align yourself therewith! Align yourself therewith! You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly, you are never alone.

Move forward knowing that what is unfolding is truly meant as a gift for you. The Source has as his will, gifting there, truly has gifting for you as her/his motive. Now the word gifting is given in the broad sense of the word, so gifting may mean a lesson in letting go, staying with or some other needed mind set/ perception change that will ultimately lead to your enlarging your mind set and becoming an increasingly awakened one. So it is in the broad sense of gifting that we are speaking. Ultimately, the true gift is full awakening to the truth of whom and what you are. Here is where the true joy will be felt and the fullness and Wholeness of you. Here is where the heart full of thanksgiving will be felt there.

Now you are not singular in your life ever, for you have many on the other side who are working with you there. The gifts will be experienced by many, and the joy will be felt there by all, too. It is wonderful to know that what you give is given to the many and what you experience is also that which is experienced by the many. Now the benefits of your mission are never singular there, for they are always that which benefit the Whole of you. They are always that which will gift many. With this understanding, you will gain conviction into your gift, your mission, for you will understand that the gift is to many and without, many will not benefit from that gift.

Therefore, there is an urgency to your gifting/your mission, for you would not want to bypass or allow to go fallow, the gift you have to give. You will not want to return to the other side and feel the sadness or the hurt at having missed an opportunity while on the Earth plane to have given your gift. You will not be punished but you will feel hurt that you did not listen and did not give the gift. Now is the time to find and give what you have to give there. Now is the time to do that. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone there.

Now we will look at some obstacles you may encounter as you gain access to your inner guidance. These obstacles are never insurmountable and as you learn to identify them they will be easy to extinguish there.

First, you are always faced with your ego, your separated sense of self that has been deeply ingrained into your understanding as the only way to access thought and forward movement. Over eons of time, this ego defense mechanism has developed and has so saturated your culture and your world that the way of living from Source has all but been extinguished by so many.

Many pray to God and many have faith but they have not truly believed that they can access the Voice for Truth directly. They think that there is no way that God can directly talk with them and guide them. This is seen as delusional, when in fact it is the place of true sanity, for it puts you in touch with your lifeline, your true parentage, your inheritance there.

It is important to learn to understand what goes on in your mind. It is important to observe it and see how judgements, derision, guilt and mostly fear play a role in how you move and live from your separated mind set. You see, as you left your true Home, your heritage of Oneness, your place of direct connection, you became fearful for there was no grounding in your thinking. All was based on history and on what you have learned from your family and your culture.

Now these things aren't necessarily bad, but they are truly a crap shoot there, for they are always subject to sin, sickness, death and the probability of failure, fear, and frustration. There are always hurdles to climb without any guarantee of success.

What your ego insinuates is to play the game as it wants and you will likely have money and fame and family and success. But there is always the "what if" scenario that plays along with it. There is the depression that accompanies living away from Source, as you know that you are as a cut flower in a vase and the water is running dry. Nothing to buoy you up there, nothing to buoy you up. Now the call is to get in touch with your true Source. Here the well never runs dry. Here the energy of life flows abundantly and you can let go of depression and live from the energetic elements of real connection. How wonderful to feel into this, dear one. How wonderful to feel this.

And so, the need to ascertain the difference between living out from Mind and living out from ego is paramount. As you do find yourself in ego based thinking, you can dismiss it as the imposter it is.

“You are nothing... you are illusion and delusional. You are misperception and I want no part of you.”

“I choose to live from Source and I will hear what Source wants for me in this instance. I will listen and follow what I hear. I am not singular in this life and I will live from my Wholeness.”

The joy of this is that you can give up the vulnerability and gain the security, the strength, the invulnerability and the sanity of living this way. Now that you know that gifting is what the Source has for you, you will know that this way can only move you forward to receive gifting in lessons and in all areas of life. Truly what you are hearing here is of the utmost value for you. What you are hearing is truly for you, transformational, as you get in touch with guidance and live out from there.

Remember you are never alone there ever, for indeed, we are One.

What is the nature of guidance and how will you know that you are coming from guidance rather than ego? That is the subject of this chapter.

The nature of guidance is that which is always loving. Guidance will not belittle you, nor cause you to feel guilty, nor fearful there. Guidance has as its motive, leading you into the perfect next steps to take, clarifying to you what is really going on in a situation, and validating, supporting and filling you with hope, light and love. The nature of guidance is always that which looks at the immediate situation and gets you lovingly through what you are asking for or needing. But guidance also has the long term perspective and sees what would truly be best for you in the long run. Guidance always is interested in that movement forward which benefits the Whole.

No one is hurt as a result of guidance. Now this does not mean that relationships may need to be ended, moves and changes may need to take place, and shifts in perceptions need to occur. But always, these will be given you in the amount and the understanding that suits you where you are. Your guidance knows you, indeed, is a part of you, held in trust while you dally with the ego there. Guidance is your right mind, your mind of spirit waiting to assist you and show you the way.

We here, who exist on the spiritual plane, counsel with each other on your behalf to provide the perfect movement there and we work unceasingly to do this. Our goal is to have you awaken to the truth of whom and what you are. Our goal and intent is to allow for the releasing of the mind set of illusion and shining forth the truth of you, the enlightened you, who is there all along and who is ready to break forth as the ego mind set disappear. Always this breaking forth is in the Father's hands and is not something you can orchestrate. Your job is to ask for guidance to be made known to you and to follow exactly what you are told to do. This will allow for the perfect unfolding there, that which will benefit the Whole.

Your guidance is an awakened one who has sojourned with you for eons of time and who works with you on the spiritual plane. Your guidance cannot and will not leave you. Even if you forget to ask and much time goes by, your guidance stays with you looking for an opportunity to allow for penetration, looking for a little willingness to shine through. Your guide knows you through the ins and out of your life.

It is hard to believe that you are never alone there, isn't it. Well that is the truth there. Do not let this spook you but see it as a blessing. For it allows for the comfort and the safety of real companionship. How wonderful to have a friend there, always. How wonderful to have a friend who will joy with you in the things you joy in, and comfort you and put straight your mind set as you go through the hard times. We here, on the invisible plane have only your best interest at heart and we have only your enlightenment as our goal. Bring to your life a little willingness and a little curiosity to see the more of you there, and we will let you know that you are abided with there. Now the penetration of the spiritual dimension is breaking through mightily and the few will soon be the many. How wonderful, dear one, truly, how wonderful this will be. You are never alone there ever, for indeed, we are One.

There is truly something wonderful to be had as you engage in discovering the truth of you. You are much more than you think you are! You have thought that you were a blending of an egg and a sperm but you are more than the result of a physical process and you are more than a biological being made of skin and bone and sinew and nerves there. Indeed, you are much more.

You see, dear one, you, in entirety, are spirit. Your world is spirit and you have defined it otherwise. You have defined it to be a material world and a world made up of physical processes that you have defined and that you have bought into. You have defined the whole thing and as you were brought into the world, you were led to believe that everything was as you were taught to believe it there. But I can tell you that what you have been taught is faulty. Your definitions fit for a world that is in separation, but not for the real world you live in. Everything you see in your world is spiritual and has as its nature that which is held in the Mind of God, of Source. Everything you see is an idea held in the Mind of Source there and ushers forth moment by moment from this Mind.

The wonderful thing and the most important thing to know is that you are held in the Mind of your Source as an identity and an individual, known to him intimately. He knows each of his creations from the smallest to the largest, intimately. That is, the tiniest flower to the most gargantuan planetary system. All are known to him. And he loves it all and in fact is love expressing in and through it all. All is this energy of living love and all radiates and has meaning which can be felt and experienced as you come into this love.

Did you know that you are spiritual through and through? Now as you look at the world as that which has substance, the substance of spirit, you will see it correctly. Ask that you be shown how this could be and in the quiet of communing with your inner guidance, ask that you be shown this. When you do experience it, you will see that everything is loving you and wants you to know that it loves you and you are loving everything and you want everything to know you love it. Life is just a huge embracement. Who wouldn't want that?

Now we can tell you that the world is on the precipice of experiencing this and the world will soon let go of the false definitions it holds of everything. Soon the releasing will be occurring and the illusional mind set will disappear to show forth what is truly there. Now is the time to invite your guide to show you this, dear one, and now is the time to embrace this most wonderful truth. You are never without the love and support of inner guidance there, for indeed, we are One.

Move into the very heart and soul of creation. The heart and soul of creation is in you. Within you is this very heart and soul. Within you is where you will find the mighty and invulnerable love that holds you securely in its embrace.

We are working to tell the world of this heart and soul of creation within. We are working mightily to awaken you to what is there to embrace and to incorporate into your life as the truth of whom and what you are. We are working mightily to urge you to let go of your separated mind set and come home to the truth of whom and what you are. You are so much more!

We are not interested in bringing you on board for our own glory or our praise, rather we are interested in giving you something of real worth and something that is your inheritance to own and to have as the ballast against the storms of your life. For the three dimensional world of separation, felt by almost all, is a powerful denier of your reality. It seeks to hypnotize you into somnabulance and into acceptance of life as it is. It seeks to down play that which offers possibility of a true eternal reality and of a true place of home within your heart and soul. It is interested in undermining this awareness at all costs as it has as its motive sustaining itself. This ego thing, this separated thing is not a real presence, dear one, truly it is not a real presence and can be dismissed easily as you recognize it for its nothingness. It is a set of defenses, dear one, truly it is a set of defenses there.

Now the time to release it as real in your life is there. Say "I am not that which is separate. I am joined always with my Source who has my best interest at heart always. I am joined with that which is who and what I really am and who and what I have always been. I will not succumb to something that is made up and a liar and nothing but a set of strategies to undermine. I will not allow myself to be led by the nose by a tyrannical thought system that has only my eventual annihilation as its purpose. I will not let myself be led by this. I am from Source and this is my true parentage.”

As you turn inward and invite your spiritual guide in, who has nothing but real love as his/her motive, you will feel into the peace of your being and will dwell there often. Eventually, you will give up the thinking mind set and live out from there always. Here is where life ushers forth abundantly and fully. Here is where the fullness and the majesty and the mystery of life unfolds and the gifting that is the nature of life will be felt. I am with you always, dear one, truly I am with you always and will not depart from you ever. We are One, you and I, indeed, we are One.

Chapter 28

Strengthen our relationship by practicing and becoming familiar with it. It is necessary to get in touch with your guide often, for you to know the benefits, indeed, the blessings that usher forth from this relationship. Randi has discovered this and has lived out from this for many years now. The blessings and the bounty and the stability have increased as time has gone by and the confidence and the trust of what she hears has been her bedrock and her ballast along the way.

We commune daily, Randi and I. Often we commune moment by moment and the words heard offer her such peace and security and such a sense of 'all is well in the world'. Her mental health now is founded on her understanding of her relationship to me and her relationship to the larger spiritual family she knows she is a part of. The peace shes has gained is truly the place shes lives from always.

When she has an illness, she turns inward and is healed by asking of Source for a healing. She knows that she is a spiritual being and that the spirit of Source is not polarized, therefore, illness cannot be really present, but had as its source, definitions that she had given it or that the world had given it. As she places the true understanding in her mind, it manifests as Wholeness, therefore, in fact, it is the truth and must therefore be manifested as truth.

In all her daily decisions, as much as she is possible, she lives out from our guidance. Now this may mean that she changes what was thought to be the usual and acceptable thing to do by the worlds standards and does what she hears from guidance. Not every one will understand her choices, nor her reasoning, for it seems counter to what has been pommelled into minds there. But as she does live from Source she is at peace and knows that this is the way froward for her. Now will come the truth of her existence there. Now will come the forward movement for her and now will come the bountiful unfolding for her. We are telling you about her so that you may see her as a person who does know guidance and who does live out from this way. She is an example of a living being living out from Source to the best of her ability. We can tell you that she has the potential to fully wake up there and to fully feel into the awakened mind set, the mind set of Source. As she continues to let go of the separated mind set, we see her coming into full awakening. Nothing else could make her happier. Nothing else will satisfy her like this, and nothing else will bless her as much.

Now the culture is also on the verge of awakening there and you too have the potential and the possibility to awaken to your truth. Now is the time to turn inward and to learn of what is there for you. Now is the time, dear one, truly now is the time. I can tell you that you are not alone there as you do ask. We are there to answer your call and to bless you with a divine relationship, with the motive of awakening you to whom and what you are. Let us again put the book down and quiet your thinking mind set. Let us again put the book down and ask that your guidance be made known to you. You are truly never alone there ever, for indeed, we are One. I am here and I will answer your call. Call on me! Call on me!

There is a movement afoot on your planet that is bringing change at a remarkable rate. This movement or energy, is bringing the releasing of the mind set of separation as never before. You see, we see your planet as entering the great planetary system that ushers forth from Source. This great planetary system is composed of the Mind of Source. Each thing in this great planetary system, from the largest to the smallest, is an idea in the Mind of Source and each thing is connected through that Mind of Source.

This Mind of Source issues forth as the energy of living love and carries the incalculable intelligence that invades everything. From the idea of a blade of grass, to the idea of a planetary hierarchy throughout the universe this intelligence reigns. All are of it and are embraced by it and are held as an idea in Mind. All are known. Can you believe, dear one, that you are known intimately by the Mind that created everything? What a powerful and wonderful and exquisite thing this is. What safety and satisfaction and what glory this is to be known and felt in your life. As you recognize that you are a part of this great intelligent design and are known by it, you will reevaluate your worth and recalculate your importance. You are of the greatest importance there, dear one, truly you are of the greatest worth to the Mind that created you.

It is as you turn inward and access that Mind that you will know of the intimacy of which He/She/It holds you. You will know of the love that is whom and what you are and you will begin to express this in word and deed. Now will come the great releasing of the false sense of self and the false ideas you had about things. This indoctrination of a mind set that is entirely false and based on the premise that you live in a physical world and that you are a physical being devoid of the nature of spirit is what is at stake here.

As the realization of the spiritual reality of everything begins to be clear to many, the false definitions will be released and the truth of life will come ushering forth. How wonderful this will be, dear one, truly how wonderful this will be. We who are working with you are mightily interested in this and are working tirelessly to bring this truth to you. We are working with each one to allow for a little curiosity to be felt, so that we can move there and begin the work of releasing the entrenched mind set.

Now we cannot overrule you ever. We cannot overrule your free will for it is inviolate there, a part of whom you are. But we can work to awaken you as you do so give permission and express curiosity. We ask you now to show willingness there. Put down the book and show willingness to explore. In quiet meditation, explore the possibility that you are not alone and that you have as your truest guide, one who loves you and cherishes you as his own. I do love you and I do want you to know of me and to realize that I am with you always. We are One, you and I, and this is a plea from me to you to open to receive me. Let in and let us together find the very truth of you and of what life is truly all about. I am here and I will not disappoint you there. You are never alone, truly, you are never alone.

Chapter 30

We are with you there as you live. You are truly joined with throughout the day and night and throughout the days and weeks and throughout your lifetime and into eternity. We are with you there. This family that accompanies you is truly the way to escape loneliness and the feeling of isolation and separation there. You are truly not living a life of separation for you are indeed joined always.

Why do we emphasize this so much? For it is the most powerful way for you to overcome the problems that you face and the most important way for you to experience the joy which is your inherent birthright to experience.

We are not interested in anything but to bring you the truth of your life. And the most powerful truth is that you are met always with the love of Source, which includes multiple others on the spiritual plane who love you and want you to wake up to whom and what you are.

Truly, as you let go of the feeling of separation and embrace the oneness of your life, you will find comfort and security, and the joy of walking, companioning with others who have you as their focus and your awakening as their goal.

This mighty family, who hold you secure in their embrace, are working diligently to bring you out of the miasma of separation and the mind set of illusion and are urging you to open to receive them. For it is as you open to receive that you will move forward most furtively.

Your guide, who is your own companion who has known you and worked with you throughout eons of time will identify him/herself to you as you progress in your relationship. This is a time of great intimacy and a time of great revelation. You will now have an identity to know and you will also have me, dear one, for I am working with all of you, too.

Many think that only a few have Jeshua as their guide, but I can tell you that I am available to all. I know of you and I have an awareness of where you are in your spiritual unfolding there. I know you and I carry you in my heart and in my mind . I am in relationship with you always, dear one, and I will not leave you without the foundation of life available to you. Therefore, the call for you is to embrace me! Let me in! Open to receive me and joy in the bountiful blessings of togetherness. How fun life will be as we journey together, and how wonderful to face the events in your life together.

Now the load will lighten and the burdens will be carried together to be released. Together always, dear one. What more wonderful news can you hear than that! Together always. Now as you have heard this, let the book be placed down. Close your eyes and quiet your thinking mind set. Ask me in. Ask me in. Now in the quiet, I will let you know I am there, I will let you know. Stay with the process and get deeper into the quiet. You will find that you will have deep peace and you will find a place of relationship there. I promise. Now will come the curiosity to be with more and you will turn within again and again. We are working mightily there to open this to you and to begin the journey into wholeness, into the awakening of you to your mighty connection, your place of home with us as a created being , one with the Source. Never alone there dear one, truly never alone.

Let us return to our story and relay what has progressed with our character. She has purchased the home and has moved in. She has taken care of the necessary things that need to be addressed and has found happiness and peace growing daily. She is ready to return to her tasks of getting the mission given and writing and publishing her books. We are working with her in this and we are giving her needed input so that she may move forward with the confidence of deep connection and deep commitment.

We have instructed her to finish this volume before next steps will be given and so the task at hand is to work diligently on completing this volume. She has found that she becomes stuck if she doesn't listen to guidance and becomes mired in feelings of overwhelm and lethargy. There is a feeling of being off track as she struggles to do anything that is not from our connection. Her awareness that she is like a branch cut off from the tree or a light without a lamp moves her to connect and ask for joining and that guidance be given her. She is learning that she must wait for the movement to come and must not force it nor berate herself if she is not in the flow. The movement is in the Father's hands and will come as the timing is right. We have assured her that her gifts will get given there and that she must just listen and follow. No self will is needed but always to bring intention to listening and following. That is the way there and that is the way all can learn to live.

This volume is meant for you to embrace and to learn from. You have a desire to do something and you feel that you have been guided in this. You see it as worthy of great effort and yet you also see the obstacles that seem to be impenetrable. You sense an improbability to your mission being a success and yet you want to do it anyway. It is not something that easily is let go of and though life may enter in and delay things, the sense of always wanting to move forward with it is there. You are committed to working on it and you are committed to stay focussed there. This is the type of mission that brings to others that which is life affirming and life enhancing. It is a vision that will leave the world a better place. There may be great gain from it financially or perhaps not, but the rewards will be that which provide fulfillment to you.

Here is where connection to your guide is vitally necessary, for we guide you from the transcendent plane and we see the whole picture there. We see what will be the best next step and we see how all will unfold. Now always you have your free will there and always you have your own choice to make. We cannot force anything on you nor can we bring you into our point of view without your full agreement. We can only give you guidance if you do so request.

But if you do so request, your request will be heard. Your willingness to open to us will be responded to, for we are there in your right mind, your mind of connection, waiting to guide you there. We are there enlightening you to what is appropriate and enlightening you as to what is the point of view, the truth from your Wholeness, your Source. This is not meant to throw cold water on your ideas but rather to show you that there is a better way. If you do not turn inward you will likely have to backtrack or delay in the process of moving forward.

This happened many times to our main character and she was derailed from mission and got absorbed in her own thing. She always came back to guidance though and was brought back into her mission there. Now she has committed to it as never before and will work her life to bring these books to the world and to share the good news of direct connection there.

Now that we have discovered that she is in her new home and back at working on this volume we will proceed with lessons that will benefit you mightily. Our next chapter will focus on how it is that spirit is available so readily and how it is that so few know of this.

Now we will look at how it is that spirit is always there available to turn to and how it is that so few realize this. It is truly a tragedy that the availability of spiritual guidance has been so derided in your culture. Throughout the world, there is a demeaning of this great resource as that which is hocus pocus and of little value to rely on. There is widespread disbelief in the spiritual realm as that which is truly there to turn to and that this realm awaits you within there.

It is with sadness that we see this, those of us on the other side that so yearn to let you know of our availability to you. It is truly with our deepest convictions and motivations that we would share with you the way to live from the divine, the way of true peace and happiness and forward movement. Now you have seen television shows and movies that portray the spiritual realm as scary and as that which is of ghosts and goblins and that which would undermine your peace and your secure living. You have seen these shows and heard these tales and have put the idea of a spiritual realm into the category of heresy and of that which is inconsequential to you. Now the occasional spiritual story intrigues you and the miracles that some attribute to God and the spiritual sideare of interest but you believe that it could not happen to you, that you could not be truly touched by God or led by Him in your life.

This is the culture you are in, dear one, and we are up against a mind set that disallows the wonderful news of direct involvement. But we are never without the will nor the intention nor the commitment to do what we can to tell you this most wonderful news.

There are those who have opened to believe and who do live out from this way. There are those who move from the point of view of the joined perspective, taking everything to guidance to find the right way there. These ones are working to tell you of the wonderful news of direct connection there. These ones are there to tell you of how important spiritual guidance is to them and how transformative it is to live out from this way. But even as you hear the news from these ones, you must only believe as you do so experience it yourself. Truly it is your own experience that will allow for maximal penetration into your conditioned mind set there. We would say to you that the best use of your time is to learn to access your joined mind , your mind joined with the spiritual wholeness of which you are apart. You are meant to live out from this way there and you are meant to experience a life of transformational and deeply meaningful experiences.

You see, the most important thing for you to know is that you are not alone there. You are never alone. We are with you there always to access and to relate to and to joy in. We are there and the nature of our relationship is that of a loving brother or sister, a fellow sibling of the one true Source and center there. We are direct inheritors of the Source and have all that the Source has as our inheritance. Can you believe this dear one? Can you believe this to be the truth there? You are truly as one who can access the know-how and the can-do of life, directly related to your life, and the things that are occurring in your life. You must ask and you must trust there. You must ask and you must trust.

Now the call is to turn inward and to quiet your thinking mind set. Quiet your thinking mind set and allow for a stillness to be felt. Then ask that your guide be made known to you. Ask that your guide show you how to move forward with your particular problem or situation that needs addressing. If you have no particular problem, ask that you be given the knowledge of the relationship to draw on and to develop as that which is a kindred soul who wants to nourish you and to love you and to show you the way. Now you must not think that your own will be violated, rather you will choose to follow as you are given correct guidance again and quiet your mind set, dear one. Then ask for my presence to be made known to you. Do not be frightened for there is nothing that can harm you here, rather here is blessing and bountiful relationship for you to embrace and relish in. We are in this together , dear one, truly we are in this together. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are one.

We are with you as you live. As close as your breath, we are with you there. Now the time of loneliness can be released, for you are always with those who have your best interest at heart. We see you there. We see the dilemmas you are faced with and the situations that have caused your heart ache and head ache there. We see the situations that have developed as you have lived the separated life. The time for releasing the mind set of separation is there and the time for renewal of heart, mind and soul is there.

There is reason for you to be joyful, for the time of releasing is at hand. Now the way of the joined mind set is there and the way of living out from this joining is at hand. You are truly one who has the will and the vision to open to this, dear one, for you have purchased this book and you have believed that there is more to life than what you have been taught. You have allowed for a crack in your entrenched mind set to be felt and as you have allowed this, the light has been pouring through. Now the time of full releasing is at hand. The joy of seeing what the truth of life is will thrill you, dear one, and the knowledge that you are joined always by your Source will bring such comfort and such security to you.

How wonderful to know that you have only to turn inward and quiet the ego mind set to access the resource that will bring you into the flow of the life of true transformation there. How wonderful to know that you are given all that you need to live an abundant life of blessings and bounty and beautiful unfolding. We can tell you this but it will only be words if you do not open to receive it and live it there. For all the words in the world will not make it a reality unless you turn inward and ask that you be shown the way. Now the need is to listen and to follow what you have heard there. The need is to listen and follow there.

There will be stops and starts as you practice living out from this way and the old entrenched mind set will reassert itself there but you must persist. We will help you in this dear one, truly we will help you in this . All that you need to bring to the table is a little willingness to open to receive. As you gain in the experience you will want to turn inward more and more. Soon it will be the only way you will want to live. This writing is meant to encourage you to persist in your practice and to verify to you that what you hear is the truth there. You may question, "How do I know that this is the truth? How do I know that this is not coming from ego there?"

Well the words that you hear will be words of encouragement, love, support, non-judgement and beneficial to you and to those who are blessed by your actions. We see the whole picture you are involved in and we can tell you that what you hear and what you will do will benefit all those who are touched by your actions. And so, you will know if what you hear is correct if the words are loving and supportive and beneficial in nature.

Truly, ego will be that which undermines your well-being and insinuates itself into your mind set as selfish and that which causes division there. It is interested in your not hearing of your guidance for it will then be annihilated and it is fighting against its demise. Not that it is a real presence, but it is a defense system interested in one thing. Its self preservation. Even at the expense of your death, it is interested in its self preservation there. Therefore, the need is for you to recognize when you are thinking out from ego and when you are moving from the joined perspective. We here, are working with you, dear one. We are working mightily there to bring you into the flow of life as your Father, your Source would have you live. Here is the place of perfect peace and the place of the truth of you. You are never alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed we are one.

Our character has found that she is often led down the path of diversion there. She is led down the path of indolence and has found that she is easily brought into activities that are in essence inconsequential in nature. She is easily brought into activities that serve the purpose of distraction from purpose/ mission there.

Now these words are given in this writing at this time to inform her that she will only succeed in giving her mission if she has the persistence to “stay with”. We can tell her through this writing that she has t he persistence to stay with and we will help her in this. Now she is thinking of the need to leave this writiing and do something else. She is thinking of going into town and abandoning the writing as the day is beautiful and the sun in shining and the birds are singing . There are projects to work on and there is mail to be gotten, garage sales to go to.

How much fun to do thesethings, she thinks. How much fun to jump in the car and get away to the fun things this day. But we want to use this chapter to explore with her the real consequences of abandoning her mission this day. We want to tell her that if she delays with this writing she will loose the chance to bring into the world news of great import to many. She will delay the ultimate publication of her works and the ultimate releasing to others the good news of direct connection.

Now the small things are in fact the way life is lived. It is the small things that make the difference. Each small action sets the course for later actions and so each choice is really charting the path for all future choices. If she realizes this with the full implicatiaons of what is said she will not delay writing and will easily give up the meandering and dilly-dallying which she is so good at.

We are using this chapter for you also, dear one, for you must realize that each small choice is charting the course for all other choices and it is reinforcing the whole destination there. It is not without importance to view each step, each day, hour and minute as charting the course for the future. There is truly consequences for delaying what is given to you to do for in all ways your postponement affects others. And so, it is in consideration of others that you must listen and follow there. Your choices affect the Whole and your choices have direct implications for future gifting.

Now the need for diversion is there and it is as guidance gives you the go ahead that this diversion should be taken. You may say, "Can't I do anything on my own without guidance?"

Well, the answer to that is that you can never be truly alone for you are connected always. Therefore if you decide to do it yourself you are making your choice from the perspective of ignorance. It is as if you decide to do something but leave your brain power at home... hoping to have a good experience with this necessary function absent. No, you cannot choose for yourself and expect success that includes the broader implications of success and forward movement without connection to your Source there.

We're telling you the truth and we are telling you this because it is so vital to your well being and to the well being of others there. We are telling you this because it places listening and following your Source in the correct place of utmost importance there.

The world you see is made up of multiple layers of spiritual penetration. It is as you realize that the world you see is one of spirit and is to be lived by the laws of spirit. These laws are carried out in perfect unfolding as you do so connect with your guidance. Now the laws of Source are not in any way meant to bring harm to you for they are always intent on uplifting, unveiling, releasing and promoting the joining of you with your Wholeness. It is this awakening that we are most interested in, dear one, truly, it is this awakening that we are most interested in. As this brief chapter closes, let the words ring true to our character and let her commitment and determination be strong. Let her words give you the fortitude to stay focused and stay with the great joining. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone.

Turn within to love. This means that within the very heart and soul of you is love that knows no end and that embraces you without judgement there. You have felt that the world is a place of judgement and evaluation based on how one has succeeded in following the world's standards of success. You have felt that you are judged by your physical attributes and by your schooling and your ability to earn a living there. You are judged by how you have been able to form relationships and have been able to ride the crest of change and not sink.

This judgement has felt as a burden for many, for not all are able nor willing to live according to the cultural norms. Many are felt as disenfranchised or as those whom are below the expectations of others. Many have decided that life is too burdensome to bear and too full of corruption and unfairness. Many have felt that the life of great effort yields little guarantee of real happiness.

Where can you go when you are faced with feelings of unworthiness and disenfranchisement from your culture and your world. Where can you turn? Many turn to drugs and alcohol as that which diverts them from the feelings of inadequacy there. Many turn to overindulgence in sex, or in spending sprees, or in overeating. Many turn to entertainment to block out the boredom and the inadequacy of life.

What wonderful news to hear, dear one, that there is a place where you are valued and held up as one with highest esteem. For you are always held as intrinsic to your Source. You are held up as that which completes the Whole. Now you know that your value is set by your Creator and that you are held as equal to all others there. You are held as precious to Him/Her who created you and loves you and cherishes you and guides you without ceasing.

Now you may have been involved in behaviors that need changing but always these behaviors can be taken to guidance and as you stay with, you will have the needed information to move forward.

In some ways your life will begin to change. It will begin to reflect the safety and the security of being loved and cherished and guided. You will begin to feel that life has possibilities you had never known before. You will begin to feel that blessings and gifting are the norm. How wonderful for you to know this and how wonderful for you to let go of the enculturated way that society has held you hostage to its rules and regulations. Not that societal rules are wrong, but as they enslaved you, they hold back whom and what you really are.

When you listen to guidance, you will be given a new perspective and you will feel the living impulses that bring joy to you. You will feel on track, in the groove, and in the flow of love there. As you connect to your Source there will be no other way to live, for you will find this way so joyous and so rewarding and so satisfying that you will live from here always.

Now the judgements will mean nothing to you, for you will know that the evaluation of you Source is what matters. Now you will find that the fullness of life living from Source is far and beyond what society, culture had promised. You will feel the delightful feeling of inclusion, perfection and the knowing mind set that sets all things straight. This is the truth I am telling you, dear one, truly this is the truth.

As you live out from this way and as you gain the needed confidence that you are indeed in touch, you will bring to your world, gifts from the divine plane. That is, gifts that benefit all. It may be in any field of endeavor, or in any activity you are involved in. If you live out from Source, the gifts will seem as beneficial to all. Now is the time to explore this ,dear one, truly now is the time to explore this. You are abided with always and you are truly never alone.

Do not allow for the inclusion of spirit to be that which is burdensome to you. It is not that which is a burden there but rather let it be as one would invite in one you love and want to include with you always. It is not an intrusion to have a loved one with you, is it? It is not an intrusion to hear from one who knows the truth and the correct forward movement? It is not a bother to hear this if it lightens the load and makes everything as correct movement.

Now you will find life unfold with more ease and with more appropriateness. You will find that life moves forth with things in place and as if time was not plodding nor an obstacle...as if time were bypassed and as if results were there without the obstacles that so often get in the way.

How amazing it will be to you to find yourself in a situation that just weeks before or days before or hours before you could not have imagined! How amazing to you it will seem, for this is the way of spirit, for it bypasses the roadblocks and the hardships that the culture has said is the necessary way there. Now this does not mean that you will not have to pay attention, nor have to be steadfast and persist, but it will mean that the outcomes will be as truly without that which you could have imagined could be so wonderful there.

This is the blessing and the boon of living out from guidance. All things are as that which is easily doable as you listen and follow. We can tell you that we see things from the big picture there, where it is impossible for you to see as a separated sense of self. We see things from the big picture there.

Now the way will be plain for you, for we will guide you through the maze of the culture and through the maze of the obstacles that seem so large, that loom gigantically before you. We will guide you through all of this and show you the way that will allow for the perfect unfolding.

Now the call is to trust in your life and to listen and follow. Our character found this to be true in her life, time and time again, through the many phases of her life, she found the way made plain. Now she is in a situation where publishing and getting her books out to the public seems to be insurmountable. For she is not someone who is known there and she feels she does not have the resources to do this. But the way will be made plain to her and she will give her gifts. The way will be made plain and the unfolding will occur.

You too, are involved in a mission or a goal or a situation that seems insurmountable to you. You have a longing or a need there. We see you as you connect with us and we are eager to gift you there. We are eager to provide next steps and to see your life unfold in its perfection. This book is given to you to encourage you to turn inward and ask for inner guidance to be given there. Let your life unfold as one joined always.

Soon the time of increased knowledge of the spiritual dimension will be felt on your planet as never before. Soon the awakening to the mind set of connection will be the norm there. Then will come the great unfolding, the great awakening to the truth of your involvement in the whole of creation, in the great planetary unfolding that you are a part of, but unaware of at this time. It is in your lifetime that this will occur, dear one, it is in this life time. Let your knowing mind set be that of one who listens and trusts. You are indeed abided with and you have a great adventure ahead of you. Now is the time to turn inward and access that trailblazer who will show you the way. I am with you always and I will not leave you alone there stranded in the chaos of separation. You are never alone there, dear one, truly, you are never alone. All is well, all is well.

As we proceed in this book you will find that the words ring true to you and that you can use them practically as you live. The practical nature of inner guidance is so important, for you can see it as intrinsic to your life and not that which is purely esoteric in nature. The practical reality of inner guidance as it flows forth to guide you there is truly wonderful to incorporate into living.

Now you can see how the words are helpful in all areas of life. Not merely in the interpersonal, nor in the world of spiritual understandings that seem somehow other worldly, but in the practical and necessary activities of daily life, your guidance gives you what you need there.

Our character found this out and lives from her guidance in each and every step she takes. She has found that the direction given is truly right on and provides a solid framework on which to proceed. She has found that the guidance given provides a clear and concrete expression of next steps.

In regards to eating, clothes to wear, activities to engage in, she asks. Now she does not always follow, for her own impulses get in the way sometimes, but she does give highest regard to guidance and tries to live out from this way. Her forward movement is felt and the marvelous unfolding is the result. We have told her that this book will get given and that her mission is intact. We have told her that as she finishes this work, next steps in getting it "out there" will be given. We have told her that she must listen intently and not delay for there is a time element to this and the time element is what we know of. There is not what could be called randomness to this unfolding, rather it is truly meant to be given and not a happenstance occurrence of fortuitous events. Rather it is meant to come forth and so the words are truly meant to be given to millions there. As she writes this, she is curious but chooses to focus on the writing as the thought of millions seems impossible and the thought of being known throughout the world seems impossible to her. But this is the truth there and it is truly meant to be. And so the need to focus and finish the writing is what is called for. We, who are working with her, are intent on bringing her works to the world and we will work with her to accomplish this.

Now as you look at your life you have been given a mission also. You may not have discovered it yet, or you may have been guided to it. You may think that your mission is of lesser importance than what is being given in this writing and yet, dear one, your gift is of the most vital importance. As you realize that you a part of the whole and that your part is intrinsic to it, you will put your gift in its perspective there. You will focus on it and ask that guidance show you the way. The way will be made plain. Now it the time to ask and now is the time to bring your attention to the mind set of connection always. Here, your Source, your guidance, awaits you mightily. We are here to show you the way. This book is meant to inspire you to turn inward and to let go of the thinking minds et that delays your opening to receive. It is only as you allow for the peace of your being to be felt that you will let in. Now is the time dear one, truly now is the time. Let this chapter on turning inward be heard and let the joy of our relationship fill you with peace and fulfillment. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone.

There is great progress to be made as you learn of the way to live that has your forward movement as its intention. This way has been known to the ancients but was lost along the way as many abandoned what had been given to them in hopes of moving to their own drum beat, their own authorship. Many lost their way and departed from the truth of creation. This truth is that we are not suppose to be originators of life but are created to live as joined with our Source. We are an extension of that Source, an idea held in the Mind of Source and held as that which completes the Whole.

When we left the crucible of truth, the parentage and family, we left our connection to what was the lifeline of creation and abandoned this home for what we thought would be more powerful and would give us more authority to own our own lives. We wanted to do it ourselves and be our own creators of our destiny. We then moved into the place where we gave up our birthright and our sovereignty as direct inheritors and used our own thinking to live.

Now fear became an ingredient that was not there previously. Fear became an ingredient in our lives and placed us in a position to defend against it. All manor of defenses came into play and all manner of manipulation that signaled others as enemies and as that which could cause us harm. Protection became our gaol and self seeking was rampant. No longer were others thought of as a part of us, but soon became that which could betray and deceive.

These defense patterns became entrenched and the mind set of ego was firmly in place. Its motives were to undermine anything that would destroy it as it became skilled in our minds as protection and retaliation at all costs. The ego defenses appeared like a presence and became known as the evil one, the devil and the satanic presence ready to destroy covertly and covertly if necessary. Protection of its system was paramount and the ultimate threat to it was connection to Source, wholeness, truth and love. Its goal was division as division sets one side a against the other. This would guarantee its ongoing continuation, where joining with the Source would annihilate it. And so the human condition was made as that which was filled with sin, sickness and death. These things were the ego's stakes, the trump cards it played. Remember here it is not a real presence but a set of defenses/strategies to undermine.

Now the Source did not leave His own without the availability of return to full status as children, direct inheritors. Within the Mind always, was this place of return and the place of direct connection. He gave the Holy spirit, guidance, to be turned to always. This great gift of the Creator who sees only that which is of love, sent the great mediator to intercede and to work tirelessly to open the door to the truth of whom and what we really are. This great mediator and those on the other side who see you there are working tirelessly to open to you the truth and the know how to come back to full family status and to full partaking of the gifts of your true parent there.

The mistake was made and mankind suffered but always the mistake was nothing but a misunderstanding of the reality of whom and what we are... spiritual children of the one true Source and center there. This is the best news for you, dear one, truly, this is the best news, for it lets you know that you are not alone there, and that you have a way back into your right mind, your mind of connection.

This book is being written to bring you home! 1! To Bring you into the family of spiritual son and daughter ship and to access the fullness and the fulfillment that is your birthright there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever.

Now the call is to quiet your thinking mind set and ask that Holy Spirit, your inner guidance will speak to you. You will be heard and we will answer you. I will answer you there and I am with you always. I have your best interest at heart and I will work tirelessly to open to you, our love and our relationship. Enter the kingdom dear one and joy in the beauty and love that is your inheritance. Never alone dear one, truly never alone.

Randi was caught in the dilemma that so many find themselves in. She thought that guidance was without a doubt true, yet she was also in tune with what she had been taught through the years and couldn't quite shake her beliefs in that. Now this was the ongoing dilemma for her, and so she was hesitate to tell others of guidance because she was hesitant to put them in a place where they would have to relinquish the tried and true aspects of life.

She was hesitant to proclaim inner guidance, for she had long felt that each one had a right to choose for him/herself and was hesitant to impose anything. It was truly in her belief system that to forcefully proclaim something and not allow for individual autonomy was wrong. She honored people for where they were. Now how can this be wrong, you may ask. Randi is asking this as we speak, how can this be wrong?

You see, the need on your plane at this time is not for others to feel validated in their choices. It is to offer them another choice and to bear witness to the choice that is offered. It is to bear witness to what you have found so meaningful in your life and to share with others the truth of it. Randi does not want to cause anyone discomfort nor draw attention to herself as a "know it all". She is aware of how important people view their beliefs and how defensive they can get if others try to dissuade them from them.

It is truly in the best interest of others to share what you know to be true. It is truly in the best interest for the good news of direct connection to be heard over and over again, for it is only in this way that people will open to their guidance. This is of the utmost importance there for the need for true help is called for mightily. The need is great and the direct assistance of the divine is truly of utmost importance to the people there.

You are mired in the mind set of material goods as that which offers fulfillment there. You are taught that security is based on money in the bank and on a support system that will be there as crises emerge. It is believed that sin, sickness and death are a part of life and must be fought against, protected against, always. In this preoccupation with these they are reinforced and amplified as that which must be fought against. How many of your TV programs, your resources, your health systems, your insurance programs are pommelled into your minds as the things to be thinking about. How much of your time is spent in protection of funds and generating income from these funds. It is what is shoved down peoples throats at every turn. Fear is the tactic used most successfully to engage people in these things as they loom large on the horizon in almost everyone life. Now the time of releasing these things as of such importance is there. The time to release these things as burdens to undo and chains to cut loose, is now.

The correct use of Mind is not to fend off and protect against that which is, in many ways, amplified and projected as huge in your culture. The correct use of Mind is to come into direct relationship with the true promoter of peace, the true place of healing and bounteous health and the place of true protection. When you connect to your Source, you are in direct connection to that which is real about you and your world. It is a different world than what you know, dear one. It is truly a different world.

What you see is spiritual and in that is its wholeness and holiness. Nothing that could cause pain nor sin, sickness, and death is there, for it is not a place where polarities exist. There is not division on the spiritual plane and yet it is a place of identifiable presences and identifiable as whom you really are. Now is the time to let your mind set be felt as joined there dear one, and now is the time to tell others about what you have come to know. We are with you and will help you in this. Remember, you are never alone there and you are never without true help available. I am with you always. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Do not feel that you are without recourse there if you are brought into a situation that puzzles you. There will be times when life seems to be at a stand still and without movement. You will feel that your behavior has slipped back to that which you had thought was let go of. You will feel that your behavior is regressive and lacking insight and direction. You will feel as if you had lost something that was valuable and that escaped you along the way. The culture and the circumstances of your life will crowd in and the connection to guidance will seem as on the back burner there.

Now this period of time is not without some difficulty and you will find that your intention will be as only to get through it. Now will come the great turning inward as time does not let up on the separated sense of self and encourages it. The ego now has jumped into the spotlight and does not easily want to give it up. It feels it has succeeded in discouraging you from inner guidance and it feels its presence (though not a real presence) increased. It cements its defenses into place and it seems as intransigent to move there.

You think that life is not flowing with ease and time is heavy on your hands. Now the three beasts rear their heads; sin, sickness and death. They show themselves to you and peer through the lens of your mind encouraged by the ego and brought clearly into the realm of reality there. The ego shines its menacing glare at the imposters and seeks to weaken and enslave you there.

Now you turn to guidance and ask to join. You bring to it your willingness to hear and to let go. As you have felt hopeless and helpless as you have been out of touch, you now seek for connection there. You search for peace to be felt and for that right-on feeling which is so necessary for your well being.

Now the Voice for Truth is heard and you rejoice, that indeed, your guide has not left you alone there. You rejoice for you know that you will again be in the flow of life-giving love and the safety and succor that is so necessary for right living there. As the ego is released you are filled with thanksgiving and you open to receive what you know to be your birthright. You are not alone any longer and you are not without the true relationship of authenticity felt. How wonderful union is and how at peace you feel coming into that most wonderful of relationships with your Source.

Now the call is to live out from here and to not let the moments of separation be felt as that which causes you guilt. Rather, let them be as a reminder that you are never without the means to come into relationship and live from here. You are never alone there, dear one, truly, you are never alone. Now the time of joyous togetherness is at hand and we love and live from this place. All is well there, dear one, truly all is well.

Turn within to love and turn to your relationship of true value. Here, within, I await your call to join with me and to open to receive what is so lovingly there for you. I am there to answer your call and I will provide that sure knowing mind set that will bring such comfort and such forward movement.

You have long felt that there was more to life and you have long felt that if you had the perfect relationship your life would unfold with the joy that is your birthright to experience. You have felt that this relationship would complete you as nothing else and that it would provide the motivation needed to carry on. You have thought that this relationship would alter your negative outlook and your pessimistic mind set that lacks trust in the world and puts protection as the foremost mind set to have.

Safety and security seem to be felt as which is scarce and must be worked for and guarded there. We can tell you that your safety is truly best felt as you live from your inner guidance, for here is your connection to the Source of you and here is your connection to that which has as his/her/its main mission, to bring you into fulfillment and true awakening there.

Now these words may seem as inconsequential, for you have heard them before and so, dear one, it is truly only appropriate to trust what you have directly experienced. Therefore, I would suggest to you that you close your eyes and turn inward there. Close your eyes and turn within to the place of true connection to me, your inner guidance and to your Source. As you do so experience our connection, you will have the conviction in this which will grow as you turn here again and again.

Now will come the great transformation as you begin to follow guidance. Now will come the change that will allow for releasing the separated mind set that has held you hostage for eons of time. Now will come the great joining and the releasing of what has given you a false sense of what you thought life was about and will usher in the new beginning there. As you let in this new awareness you will delight and relish in what is there so lovingly for you. We are there and we have your best interest at heart. You are met with many who love you and who are eagerly awaiting a chance to guide you lovingly forward and to provide much needed relief from that isolation of separation.

As the awareness of your connection and the certainty increases you will know that what you thought the world was like was wrong and that all your cherished beliefs were only shadows of reality. As you open to embrace what is now given to you, you will feel the influx of the divine and the joy of true and authentic relationship. We are with you there, dear one, truly we are with you there. Our time together will not cease and as you allow for it, it will increase.

As this chapter closes and as you have felt moved by it, let us lay down the book and close your eyes. Ask that you be joined by inner guidance and empty out the snippets of thought that seem to intrude. Let your mind set be one of peace and joy and know that you are never alone. I am with you there, dear one, truly, I am with you there always. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 42

I am with you there. I see you as you read this and I see you as you move forward in your life. Now you have been taught that you are singular in your expression and you have been taught that you have only yourself to rely on and to trust. You have lived as one who is brought into the world and raised to be self sufficient and independent. You have been taught that you are responsible for the outcome of your life and for the decisions that you have chosen. You have been taught that to do it yourself is wise as it fosters self sufficiency and brings to each one a sense of worthwhileness and value. Here is news for you that will alter these cherished and firmly entrenched beliefs and brings you into a place of relationship as nothing else will.

You see, you have always been connected there to your Source. You have always been connected there to your Wholeness and you have always been able to access the joined mind set. What does this mean? It means that in the quiet place within, when you quiet your thinking and allow for all the snippets of random thoughts to be released, there will be a place of quiet, of peace, and in this place is the place of joining there. You are truly not alone there, dear one, you are truly not alone there, ever. I can assure you that your life is meant to be lived as one joined with your Wholeness, always. We here, who reside with you, see you, and we want for you to open to receive the gifts that relationship can bring. We want you to experience the gifts of living and moving forward there. Now the gifts we bring are gifts that will bring change to you and allow for the growth of your being into its full awakening to whom and what it is. We will work with you there and we will move you forward into the unfolding of the awakened state.

I am with you and I was one who dwelt on the Earth eons ago as one who came to tell others of the Oneness we have with our Father there. I was one who wanted to tell you of the majesty and the mystery of connection to our Creator /Sustainer. As I lived there, I too, experienced what life was like in your dimension and what the mind set of separation felt like. But always, it was for me to return to joining with my Father that brought me through the difficult times of my life. Even at death, I was joined with my Source and felt nothing that would cause separation from my Father.

Now the movement was one of teaching and mission there and it was truly one of love for my brothers and sisters. I knew that the gift would reach well beyond the time that I was on Earth and indeed, it has. Now I am still with you there and I am still carrying on the work of teaching and bringing the good news to others through those who will open to receive. The one who is listening to me as she writes has opened to hear and is moving into closer relationship, even as we speak. She is moving into a deeper relationship with me and has only that which is truly beneficial to give to you.

You too, have a guide and you too, have me to open to. Now the time to quiet your thinking mind set is there and the time to quiet your ideas of what you think life should be. In this quiet place I will commune with you and open to you, a way to live that has change, unfolding anew and growth as its motive, ultimately bringing you into inner guidance there. You are not alone as you live dear one, truly, you are not alone. Move into the quiet and join with me there for I will never leave you alone to struggle through. I am with you always, even unto the end of illusions, into the bright new world of joining with whom and what you are. Never alone, truly never alone.

As we continue with this writing, let us reflect on what our character has learned as she has embarked in her forward movement. She has learned that she is always joined with inner guidance. And she has learned that this relationship is not dependent on whether she is acting in accordance with what she has heard but remains available to her regardless of her willingness to follow or not.

She has learned that even in the midst of disregard she does not have to worry or fear that I will leave her or abandon her there. She has learned that the constancy of my love for her is secure.

Now as one who has felt often left to her own life by others who have not been too involved, this security of relationship feels mighty in its constancy and in its ever-present availability. This is mighty for her and mighty for the groundedness that is so necessary to have as she continues on in her mission there. It is the constant joining with me and with others that provides the solid foundation of life there for her.

She is keenly aware that she is loved and held with high esteem by us and not because of anything she has done to earn it nor deserve it. She has allowed for our involvement to be uppermost in her life and always bring the Wholeness, her Source to be included in the activity she is involved in at the moment. We input to her small truths and help her in her decision-making even with the activities of daily living there. We guide her and we move her through the myriad choices that confront her on a daily basis. She knows that the words she hears are from those of us working with her and she listens and takes heed.

This takes away the loneliness that would be so evident in her life if she did not have our relationship. This companionship alone is so powerful and such a gift in itself, that the guidance is like icing on the cake for her. The relationship we have is like a branch to a tree, a ripple to a lake or like a parent/friend to a child/friend. The sense of guardianship she feels with us is mighty and the sense of “ all is right with the world ” is felt daily. Now she has felt this keenly, more and more as the years have passed by. To be nurtured and loved places her in a position to nurture and love others.

She has learned to identify her ego mind set and as often as she can she discredits it and moves away from it. She sees that if it is fed it will grow and so she is mighty uncomfortable staying there too long. We are working with her to now identify the very subtle ways the ego works, in ways that seem innocent, but serve to undermine her well being there. Over indulgence in food, media and sleep are some of the ways her ego would have her let go of the joined perspective. Just being mindless and without purpose and indulging in the aimlessness of living which has proved to be such an impediment to her are indeed subtle ploys the ego would use and do not serve her well. We are working with her on these things and she now is at a point where she is uncomfortable indulging in these things too long. Soon the pull toward this mind set will dissipate as she feels the meaning and the worthwhileness of more focussed attention on her mission there. Soon her energy will be used most meaningfully and the full gifting will be given.

We are with you there, also, showing you the way your ego insinuates itself into your life to dissuade you from joining with your spiritual reality, the only true reality there to live from. Your ego, as entrenched as it is, is only a system of defenses which can be annihilated as it is let go of. It can be diminished and extinguished as you disavow it and move into your peace and into the relationship of which we speak. We will not disappoint you there, nor will we abandon you ever. We are One, you and I, truly we are One. Let the words here penetrate into your life and shine light on the truth of your situation. Feel into our love and into our nurturing companionship and live out from here. We are with you, dear one, truly, we are with you, there, fully. Never alone, truly, never alone.

Do not feel threatened nor ill at ease by those who would scoff at your intentions. For you will find that many will disregard your gift as meaningless nor without merit. Many will find that you are different from them and are not amenable to you.

Here is where our relationship will be felt as of the greatest significance for you and will prove to be the sustaining relationship of your life. You will find that this relationship will weather the storms of your life and will guide you through the times of real tumult. For your nation, your world is heading into the tumult there as the institutions are unable to handle the complexity and the randomness of life as crises after crises befall it. The age-old understandings that have held your world as that which are as bulwarks there, fundamentals to hold on to, are no longer there.

Now will come the great uneasiness as people search for what is there to count as truly bedrock, foundational understanding to hold on to. The searching will open the minds to greater influx from the spiritual dimension and this great influx of the divine will purge the old and allow for new understandings, truth to come forth.

As the releasing is felt the underpinnings of a culture based on falsehood will be seen as the flimsy, gap-filled structure that is as crumbling sand and as a made up thing, a fantasy there. Now will come the true searching for meaning as never before. Now will come the lofty and lovely influx of the spiritual reality of things. What a relief this will be, dear one, truly what a relief this will be for the time worn ways of finding meaning will be let go of and newness will enter in.

Here is the beginning of the new age, and the movement, at last, of a people into its wholeness. How wonderful, at last, to see the opening to spiritual reality and the awareness of the newness of life. Here lies the fountainhead of meaning, directly available within. I am with you there and I will lead you into the newness of whom and what you are. I will lead you into the awareness of your birthright as direct inheritors there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone. Let this teaching on what is in store awaken your immediate interest in turning inward to find the relationship of real worth. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Let us focus on what you find right there in front of you. You have found that you are met with guidance and you have given your attention to it. You have found that you are never alone as you live and you have felt the companionship of your guide. Now is the time to bring to your life not only the companionship of your guide but the knowing mind set that allows for others from the spiritual plane to come into your life also. Now you will not be overwhelmed by this but you will find the additional comfort of so many as a boon and a blessing for you. These others that work with you are there to bring much needed help, for you are often caught in the miasma of delusion and the view from the separated sense of self.

You will benefit from opening to receive these others and you will find the inspiration from them to be valuable beyond what words can relay to you. These others are there to offer to you help in diverse and multiple ways that you may not even be aware of at this point. For we see that there are many places where guidance will provide the changed perception necessary for true change to occur. It is therefore with the greatest love that these others are offered to you. And it is with the giving of your mission, your calling, that they will intercede with and for you. I am there also and I will never abandon you nor leave you without my input, my sincere love and my companionship for you. I will not leave you there alone and in the grips of delusion and all that accompanies this mind set. You must trust, dear one, truly you must trust that what comes forth is meant to further you along in your mission there. You have never been without these others, but you have not known that they were there for you and have often let circumstances rule the day.

The time to listen more closely and turn within more often is called for. The time to find the know-how and the can-do of your life is called for there. We are here for you and we will not let you go without the requested guidance given. As you listen, be open to receive and do not feel frustration if what you hear is different than what you had anticipated. For it is newness that will unfold, dear one, truly it is newness that will unfold for you. I am with you there fully and I will not let you go. Now is the time to prepare for further guidance from others on the spiritual plane. Welcome them in and allow for the gifts they have to give to be given. All is well dear one, truly, all is well. Let in and allow, for indeed , we are One.

Chapter 46

Move closer to the great unfolding of your life, your mission there. Move closer and feel into the rightness of it, the knowing mind set that brings you into the flow and the forward movement there. Do not think that you are held as separate from me to do it alone, nor feel the pangs of loneliness and isolation there. Truly you are not meant to experience this aloneness nor this feeling of abandonment as you live.

We here are there for you always. There is reason for great joy this day, dear one, truly there is reason for great joy . For the movement of the Father goes on uninterrupted and the energy of living love persists.

The tumult of the separated way cannot disturb the great unfolding nor cause any unsettling to occur. It is as you open to receive this peace and this safe and secure place/mind set, that you will find the truth of these words.

You see, you must view yourself as spiritual and you must view yourself as undivided. Not that which is apart from your wholeness there. You see, you have never been apart for it is impossible for you to be apart there. It is impossible for you to know of anything other than a direct connection to your Source as you do so open to this experience. You have long shut off this experience and you have long viewed yourself as that which is separate, isolated and alone. But this is not true there, this is not true. It is truly not whom and what you are ever. I will tell you that your life is truly meant to be lived as that which emanates from your Source and in this is the safety, security and forward movement felt. The joy of your connection is truly the joy of a being living from its Source which has an underlying principle “ever unfolding anew”.

Now the releasing of the fear, the guilt, and the apathy will change and the delightful joy of a being in connection will be felt. We are so happy for you and so delighted in your new found way of being there. The task is to quiet your thinking mind set and allow for the newness to come forth. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone there. Let in the love that you are and join with your true parent, your Father /Mother God.

Chapter 47

Move forward with intention to bring to bear on your life the words heard from inner guidance. There is reason to find joy in this, for as you do so move from the Voice for Truth, you will resonate to the energy of living love. How healing this will be for you and how powerful in its furtherance of the mission you have been given.

This great Voice for Truth, which is , in fact, whom and what you really are, will not leave you there without a way to move forward in your life. You are met with the love of true companionship and you are brought fully into the flow of your Source as you were created to be. You were created to be that which moves and has your being in this great Source of All That Is. You were intended to be a place in the world where love ushers forth and benefits all that you encounter. And so, dear one, this book is written for you to find what has been lost but now is found. This book is being written for you to find that which is your birthright there, and to delight in whom and what you really are.

I am not giving you this information to foster a delusion, nor to cause you harm in any way. Indeed, the opposite is true. For here, you will find the truth of life and the very beneficial and blessed way to move forward there.

We can tell you that the way of the Source, your Father/Mother, is the way of mystical union and the way of true bounty for you. Here is the way to change your mind about how things work and here is the place of true relationship there. You are never alone there dear one, you are never alone there. We are with you always and indeed, we are mightily interested in you moving forward there.

We would say turn inward now and quietly find the place of peace. Here we will give you reassurance that what you are hearing is not delusional, nor misleading, but truly a place of connection there. We are with you always, and we are interested and working mightily to bring you into the connection which is so necessary for you to have there. Equipped with this way to live, you will now find such joy and such positive energy, for you will know that there is so much more than what you have thought there. You are never alone dear one, truly you are never alone, there ever. Let in and allow for indeed, we are One.

There is reason for great joy as you live. Joy, which is the feeling that accompanies you as you find the connection to Source to be so real, is there for you in abundance. Our character found that joy as she let go of her ego involvement and as she embraced the truth of whom and what she was. Our character found that she was most at peace as she turned within to the love and the joy that were there for her. She found that she was embraced by the love of her Source and given what was needed in abundance. She found that all her questions and situations were handled most appropriately as she listened to the Source that loved her and guided her.

This resource is available for you also. Available and ready to gift you, this Source of you awaits your call to join with your Wholeness there. I can tell you that your decision to quiet your thinking mind set and ask that I join with you will reap benefits for you, and put you in touch with whom and what you really are. We have emphasized this over and over in this volume for it is the most important thing to hear. It is the most important change you can make in your life. Now the call is not to do this in a random, nor haphazard way, but rather to do it consciously and regularly. Ask for inner guidance to be made known to you and ask that you be given the clear evidence that this is true. Ask that you have a mind set that allows for change to occur and for transformation to be felt. For it is a game of letting go of what you had thought was the truth of you and opening to what is the real truth of you, whom and what you really are.

Who are you? You are a direct inheritor, dear one, truly you are a direct inheritor there. You have all that is available to you to access. These words seem so unbelievable and so grandiose in their proposition and yet, I can tell you that they are the truth there. They are the truth there, dear one. Now the time of intense letting go is happening around your planet and millions are learning of the truth of whom and what they are.

Millions are finding that they have within them , a guide, the Holy Spirit, whom and what they really are. Millions are finding that life is not what they thought and have found that they have been given fool's gold to believe in there. The culture has pom-melled into its people, a life of giving to get and sacrificing for what is, in effect, illusionary.

For the goods of life, though necessary, are nothing in comparison to the rewards of direct connection. To living and moving and breathing form inner guidance. Here is the true treasure, dear one, here is the true treasure. You are not alone there ever, for indeed, we are One. Let in and allow, for as you so do, we will joy in life together there. All is well, all is well. You are not forgotten, nor left without a means to come into the truth of whom and what you are. Truly, you are not without that means. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Life is opening up for you as you have allowed your spiritual nature, the truth of you, to be heard. Life is opening up and bringing to bear on your world, guidance from the divine, from whom and what you truly are.

The expansion of your mind set to include a greater understanding of the truth of life, that you live and have your being from Source, opens to you untold horizons there. Each day is an opportunity to open to receive the more of you there that is to be had. I can tell you that the more of you is there and the greater Wholeness of which you are a part is there for you. Each one who resides there is far greater than what has been given to each one to believe from your culture. For the culture has as its motive integration into the scheme it views as necessary for life to continue and for the profiteers to continue in their manipulation and in their inestimable greed.

These ones are those who would control the masses and undermine the authority that each one has as his/her own birthright there. For the need to infuse and control remains the motivation of those who would limit and usurp basic human rights. The media is made up of those who have as their motive this great manipulation of minds of the masses. We can tell you that this is now being taken apart and the falsehood of those ones who would dominate are being made clear.

It is imperative for you to quiet your thinking mind set and allow for a place of peace to be felt for it is only as you do so give up the noise in your mind, that you will be able to hear what is there for you. Your guidance awaits you dear one..eagerly wants you to open to it, for it is truly that which emanates from your Source and has the Source as its originator. The movement and the mission of each one is known here and is brought fully into conscious awareness as quiet willingness and listening occurs.

It is necessary for you to ask, for this mind set, this guidance will not intrude itself on you, nor manipulate you into its purpose. No, it is only as you allow, dear one, and only as you let in that the Voice for Truth can be heard. Now is the time to ask “are you there for me...is there guidance there for me?”

You will be given an answer and you will be given the know-how to move forward there. All is well, dear one, and truly all is unfolding perfectly. Trust is called for and persistence is necessary. The rewards are great and the benefits are without measure. Now is the time, dear one, truly now is the time.

Chapter 50

As you walk through the world look at it in a new way. Look at your world with the eyes of one who wants to know the truth of what is seen. Look at your world as that which is from Source and has as its nature All That Is. What this means is that you will find newness there and you will find the substance of it as energy that has as its movement, living love. Now this living love sets all things in order and makes that which is seen as imperfect returns to its original state, that is wholeness, completeness, nothing missing. This love has as its meaning the movement of Source made manifest there. You are of this Source and you, too, have this living love as your substance, but you see it not.

Now is the time to let go of the thinking that has fostered such separation from whom and what you are. Now is the time to open to receive the gift of your reality, the truth of you.

Now is the time to ask, "What is the truth of this Father? What is it here that I should know? Open me to receive what you would make plain to me. Open my eyes to see and my ears to hear and let in the truth of life."

Now you must persist in this and not allow for conditioning to enter in. Release the patterns and the habitual thinking that has moved you into such a state of separation where sin, sickness and death loom large, ever there to taunt you there.

Now is the time to release these conditioned patterns of thinking and allow the fresh air of newness to enter in. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One. I can tell you that as you do persist you will find life changing for you. You will find the simple truth of life to be felt, that you are not alone and that you are met with a love that knows itself and all who are with it.

Unjudged and undaunted is this great love that is with you and, in fact, is you there. Undaunted in its steadfastness and in its desire to have you open to know it and be it there. Your Source wants you to embrace the truth of you and is eager to show you there, dear one, truly is eager to show you there. You are never alone as you live, truly you are never alone there. Let this chapter bring you again this message of greatest worth. You are never alone as you live, truly you are never alone.

Chapter 51

All things are possible. All things are possible for you as you move into the direct connection there. All things are doable and will unfold as you move into that direct connection to your Source, your Allness. We can tell you that you have the resources available for you to live from and to make your own. These resources are inherent in the legacy that was bequeathed to you as you are a direct inheritor there. These things are your birthright, dear one, and cannot be taken from you.

These resources are of such magnitude for you that if you had any inkling of the magnitude and the magnificence you would not hesitate there to open to receive them. You are truly not alone there dear one, truly you are not alone there as you live. I can tell you that your inheritance and your guidance remain steadfast there for you, steadfast in love and in bounty and in readiness to gift you at every turn.

This sounds like pie in the sky, an optimist's dream, a nebulous promise that sounds good but has no relation to reality. But I can tell you that it has! It has a direct and most significant relationship to reality. For the reality of you is grounded in your willingness to open to inner guidance there. Your reality is truly best known as what is true as you let in the relationship to your Source. I am here for you and I have for you unlimited bounty there, fulfillment as my gift to you.

Ultimately your awakening fully to the truth of whom and what you are is my gift to you and is what will occur as you let go of the falsehood that has been impelled into you there. Life is truly much more, dear one, truly much more for you.

Now is the time to open to your relationship within. Here I await you and here I will give you unfettered love and companionship. This in and of itself will be such a boon for you that you will joy in it as in nothing else. We are One you and I, truly we are One.

Now is the time to lay down the book and close your eyes. Lay down the book and ask that all the snippets of thoughts and perturbations be released. Let the cares and concerns of the day be let go of and invite in your peace. As you do feel into this peace, ask that you be given a sign or signal that you are in connection. This will be for you only and will not be the same as someone else. It is your personal way of knowing that you are not alone there. Now the movement forward will proceed as you hear words that seem to be coming from another there. This is your guidance and is truly a part of you, whom and what you really are but will seem as someone else there. It is your greater self, your connected self joining with you as you listen and follow. Now is the time to bring to bear on your life this guidance from the divine.

Here are the words that will move you forward there and will usher in a new beginning for you. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One. I love you and will not leave you there stranded in the separation. Now is the time to join and find anew what was there always. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 52

Stay grounded in love. This means that your groundedness will occur as you let in the love that you are and the love that permeates you. Now this love is, in all ways, the substance of you and is the movement made manifest, as you. Love is of such power in its ability to set things right and move you through the difficulties inherent in living from separation. You see, your life is truly one that ushers forth from Source, from the divine and magnificent realm of spirit there.

Your life is truly one that ushers forth and is sustained by this energy of living love. Why is it that you have not felt this love and have not seen it there? Well that is the reason why this writer is writing to you and why this guidance is bringing to the world such wonderful news there.

You see, you have abandoned your perspective from the divine. You have allowed the infiltration of a mind set that sees itself as separate and independent and as more powerful than the mind set that comes from joining with Source. This abandonment of the mind set of unity is truly what has limited you, dear one. It has limited you and has caused you to be closed off from your truth, from whom and what you really are. You have closed off this truth and you have chosen to ignore it, dear one.

Now this is truly what has caused the problems you are faced with, for it has put you in the place of one who follows what society deems as appropriate and what has happened historically. It places you in the cultural mainstream and insists that this is the way to be. You do not see yourself as anything but one who must steel him/herself against the down side of life and prepare for the eventual sin, sickness, and death that has been instilled into your mind set as what is normal. You are truly not meant to harbor these ideas and they are not meant to bring you into their grip of finality, doom and gloom, and eventual annihilation.

Truly this is not the place for you to be, dear one. It is not the mind set to heed, for it is, in all ways, a lie and a deception there. You are much more there, dear one, truly you are much more.

Now is the time to bring into your life, the input from your Source. Now is the time to listen to your guide who loves you and cherishes you and has only your best interest at heart.

You are not alone there ever, and so we would encourage you to put down this book and ask that the holy spirit, your holy spirit, given to you, and there to accompany you always, whom and what you already are, show you the way. Ask that you come into the full realization of the truth of you and live out from this way.

Now will come the true bounty there and the boon and the blessing will be felt. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed , we are One.

Chapter 53

Move forward with love in all that you do. Now is the time to release the judgements that infiltrate into your mind set on a daily basis. The judgements that infiltrate your mind are truly based on the separated sense of self and are not legitimate. You are not called on to judge others, nor are you called on to judge yourself. Truly the call is to turn inward to the Source of love and turn it all over to that Source.

You are not called on to place yourself in the role of judge and jury and offer up the pronouncement on those around you. It is as you turn inward and ask for guidance in each matter, in each circumstance and in each encounter that you will find the true way to appraise the situation.

You will be given the way to move forward and, in all ways, it will be the way that is most loving there. Now the call is to release your tendency to judge and release your need to find fault there. You are not guilty nor are you called on to find others guilty there. You are only called on to turn inward and offer the way forward as you live.

We are with you, guiding you, surrounding you with what will move you forward as you turn inward and listen there. These words have been given many times before in this book and yet they are, indeed, the substance, the essence of what is written here. They are the substance and the essence of how to live your life there.

Guidance is given to you freely, dear one, and is given with your utmost well-being at heart. We would say your utmost, direct and most positive movement to be engaged in. Now is the time to put down this book and find anew what was lost but now is found. Now is the time to turn inward and close your eyes, ask that guidance be known and that the forward movement continue.

You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 54

Take heed that you listen with a mind set of expecting change, transformation there. Expect the impossible and trust that what will provide perfect unfolding for you is waiting to come forth.

The Father, your Source knows you and knows what will provide fulfillment for you. In every aspect of your life, He knows you there. You are not alone as you live and you are not without much needed help.

Now is the time to open to this newness and open to receive what is there waiting to gift you. As you turn inward and as you listen you will be given next steps there. How wonderful to know that you will be given next steps and the know-how and the can-do of it all. Each step along the way is made plain for you and each step is given to you to explore and to follow as you do so feel into the rightness of it.

Now there is an order in the unfolding and it is as you allow for the order your Source would have things unfold, that you will be able to embrace it all. For you will never be given more than you can take in at one time. You will be given what is the perfect next step for you and you will delight in it as it unfolds for you anew.

Now is the time to turn inward and ask “What is the truth of this situation, Father? What would you have me know and what would you have be do here?”

In the quiet you will be given an answer and the answer will feed your soul as nothing else. It will feed you and nourish you and give you the clear path to follow. How wonderful to have this ongoing experience and this ongoing means of coming into the truth there. For only in this way will you be moving to the truth of you. All else will be a made up way, a way that you are conditioned to follow but has not the confidence that comes from moving to your truth there.

Try out this way to live, dear one. Truly this is the way to move confidently forward. All is well, all is well there. Not a thing out of place as you do so turn inward and find anew what was lost but now is found. You are not alone there ever, for indeed we are One.

As we continue on with this book it is necessary to take stock of what has been said so that you can feel into the truth of things and understand the meaning that is given here.

The book tells us that we are first and foremost, connected to our Source and that this Source knows that which is its own. We are told that we have a guide who accompanies us always and who has as his/her best interest what would awaken you to the truth of whom and what you are. You are given a way to know the truth of life and a way to access the bounty that is readily available for you there.

The principle of “ever unfolding anew” is given and it is felt as ongoing and pressing to release you from the confines of conditioned expectations in your life. Your guidance is there to help you each step of the way and this guidance is accessed in Mind as you quiet your conditioned thinking.

The life-changing and far-reaching perspective that is gained and the “knowing” mind set that will move you forward is experienced.

Now will come radical shifting there and the horizon will expand and move you toward what would have been unthinkable in your life without guidance.

You will realize that what unfolds cannot be taken credit for as what you as a separated self could do, for the movement is so perfect and often so unexpected there. The time to open to receive this guidance is now and the time to reaffirm anew what was lost but now is found is there. You are never alone as you live and truly you are met with the ongoing love of your Source, always. Let in and allow for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 56

Move into the territory of the joined perspective there. Here you will find guidance that will provide immeasurable and highly individualized input into how you are to move forward and live your life. It is truly as you move into the territory of the joined perspective, that you will realize most fully that you are indeed not solo in your life, neither are you without companionship of the greatest kind. You are joined always, dear one, truly you are joined always by the movement into the region of whom and what you really are.

Here, in the place of true originality, you are met with the ongoing love and companionship which reinforces you and reassures you there. You will feel into the understanding given and you will marvel at what is there, what has been there all along, and yet has been hidden by the cultural miasma you have found yourself in.

What was hidden now is found and the delight at this is so far-reaching in its significance. Truly, you are not alone ever and you are met with the ground swell of spiritual beings who accompany you and who support you and delight as you let go of the ignorance of separation there.

It is said that the movement into your wholeness is a movement away from the miasma of the culture and the myth of individualism or separation. It is said the you are never without a way to move forward as you do so stop and ask, "Father what is the way to move here and what would you have me do in this situation ?"

Now will come the great waves of releasing into the truth and the releasing of the burden of making things happen on your own. Responsibility shifts to guidance and your part is to listen and follow what is given.

Indeed, this takes practice and indeed, it takes perseverance but as you do so practice and follow you will find the age old truth of whom and what you are. A direct inheritor and a receiver of the intelligence of the universe, of the Source of whom and what you really are. How wonderful this will be for you and how important this discovery is for you. We who are working with you will rejoice for now we know that you have heard. Now will come the great releasing into the truth of whom you are. The false and foolish persona you have created will drop away to hold forth the shining truth of the beauty and the love that you are.

How wonderful for you, dear one. How wonderful for you. Now is the time to quiet your conditioned thinking and put the book down again. Release the thinking mind set and allow for peace to enter like a still quiet lake. "Are you there?" you may ask. "Are you there for me?" And, indeed, you will be given an answer. You will be given the truth of your life... that you are joined always with Source and that you have guidance... your guidance, readily available.

We are here for you, dear one, and we will guide you each step of the way. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 57

Why is it that we keep dealing with the same thing in each of these chapters ? I can tell you that it is the most important thing for you to read again and again. The words are necessary for you to get it, dear one, for the words carry with them the means to open to receive the truth of whom and what you are. We can tell you the necessity for you to read the words again and again is there.

You must pay attention to what is said here for you will easily be brought back into the miasma of the cultural way. You will be given “come long and go along” messages daily and you will feel the need to follow the herd there. But you will not be brought into the creative original of you as you live if you do. You will be forsaking your birthright as an original dynamic aspect of the Whole. Now you have a way to open to your truth there and it takes but persistence and willingness to follow. It takes persistence and willingness to open to receive and it takes curiosity to pursue what you think is just happenstance or coincidental there.

Now you will be given reassurance time and time again and as the unfolding occurs you will have no other choice but to acknowledge the truth of what is said here. You will have no other choice for the outcome of guidance will be so clear that and no other explanation can hold water.

Unless you utterly disregard your experiences you will have no other choice than to believe that you are indeed in connection. We cannot force you though, dear one. We truly cannot force anyone to ask without a willingness on your part. For you will feel coerced and manipulated into the false way there if you do so follow unwillingly.

Your free will and your desire to know the more of you that is there, the truth of you, must be expressed. We can tell you that your request will be heard and your desires will be made known to all.

As you feel into the unfolding and as you recognize that you are joined there the burden will be lifted, for life will no longer be that which is haphazard and slipshod in its unfolding. Rather it will be felt as orderly and with purpose there. Your mission will be made known to you and your forward movement will be felt. Now is the time, dear one, truly now is the time.

Chapter 58

Do not be led astray by the habitual behaviors that plague you there. There is reason for change to occur and for a new beginning to be felt. Now is the time to allow for the mind set of joining to be experienced and for the separated way to be forgotten. Now is the time to fully turn inward and listen for the Voice for Truth.

For so long you have allowed your truth to be diffused, compromised and dismissed there. For so long you have given your mind of connection the boot and the relegation to a sometime thing and a thing to be called on only in desperate times or in times of great need. But you have not realized that this mind set of connection, the truth of whom and what you are is there to be turned to always. It is you that you are turning to, your Wholeness there. We here, who are working with you, want you to understand that you stand at the threshold of waking up and you stand at the threshold of releasing the burdens of the separated way. How wonderful this will be for you and how free you will feel as the burden of responsibility disappears and is allowed to be as a vaporous illusion, that which is a made up thing and an imposter there.

You see, dear one, you never were anything but a part of your Father/Mother, your Creator. You never were anything other than an aspect of the Whole of you and in that you have access to that Whole. Now as you realize this and as you allow this to penetrate into your mind set, you will feel the “ah-hah” moment, the joy and the exhilaration of what this means. Now will come the fulfillment and the longed for meaning that has been so vaporous in the culture and in the made up way you have been trained to live. You see, dear one, you have never been alone there, truly you have never been alone. We have been with you always and always we shall stay with you. This is so comforting as you realize that we are not judging you, nor holding you as less-than or unworthy of. Truly we see you as a part of us and as that which is loved dearly. We would not be so ardent in our love for you and in our desire for you to wake up to the truth of you if we did not know that you were a part of us, of the Wholeness, and so we treasure you as our own.

Now the time to turn inward is there and the time to ask for connection to your guidance, your Source be felt. We will answer you and we will not leave you there without the answer given to you. Again and again you will turn here and again and again you will feel into the truth of what is being given here to you.

Now we would say to you to put the book down and quiet your thinking mind set. As you do so feel into that still place, ask that your guidance make him/herself known to you and trust that your call will be heard and answered. This is not a mind game, a trick or a manipulation there. Rather it is the truth of you and we are working mightily to bring you out of the miasma into the living love that you are. We are there for you always, dear one, truly we are there for you always. Let in a and allow for indeed we are One.

Do not think in terms of sacrifice, nor of suffering, nor of repression there. Rather think in terms of greater fulfillment and ultimately of waking up to the truth of whom and what you are. There is truly for you a time of increased letting go as you come into the joined perspective. The letting go will feel as a releasing of a burdensome and difficult and often erroneous way of living. For you will find that the way is hard and the way is without a clear forward movement as you do so choose to live from separation.

How cumbersome to think you know what is best for you when all you have to go on is past behavior and what others have impelled into you. Now you will find that the mind set of the enculturated way is truly not a mind set that has the answers, dear one, and is, in all ways, only haphazard in its assumptions and in its projections there. For the way that is truly creative cannot ever come from that which has gone before and that which is based on wisdom from a bygone era.

For that which is new must come from the place of true creation, from Source itself. Here is the fountain head of experience, dear one, and here is the way forward there that will prove most significant in its bringing forth the truly new there.

Now newness is a hallmark of the Creator. “Ever unfolding anew” is a principle of creation and is how life is meant to unfold. We are ever coming from this place as we join with our guide. Here lies the place of the original and dynamic truth of creation. How wonderful to know that we have within our very hearts and souls this place of creation where we can live out our lives, flowing forth with the originality of the Source there. We would say to you to trust that what is said here is true and trust that what is said here is more than worth investigating on your own. As you do so investigate and allow for your Wholeness, your Source, your inner guidance to come forth you will marvel both in the big ways and in the small ways how creative and original the answers are to your questions, your searching mind set, and your situations there. I can tell you that as you do so turn here, you will feel into the “all is well” feeling and the “right-on” feeling. Now you will feel as if you hit the hammer on the head and that you did not skirt the issue but squarely and appropriately you took action based on what you have heard and on your trust that this is the right way to proceed.

Now will come the further guidance and again and again you will feel into the right-on feeling there. You are never alone as you live and you are never without the perfect guidance step by step given to you. I am with you there always and so turn inward and ask and I will answer. I love you, dear one, and truly have your best interest at heart. Nothing untoward here and nothing that is based on anything other than your well being and you coming into the truth of you. All is well there, dear one, truly all is well. I love you and will never leave you there. We are One, you and I, truly we are One.

Chapter 60

Move forward with assurance that you are involved in a mighty gifting. Now what is called for on a constant basis is trust, for it is necessary that you move forward without the constant reinforcement of others there.

There will be times that you question what is transpiring and question the wise and practical way life unfolds. For you will be asked to go out on a limb and you will be given guidance that has you questioning why, why?

Now will come the great forward movement as you do so follow and as you do so listen to what is being given to you. How will you move forward? It is as you constantly turn inward and ask for guidance and for reassurance and for the companionship that will make your movement seem doable and enjoyable.

Now the call is to trust, dear one, and the call is to ask of me often, "Are You there Father? Are you there for me? Am I on track here? Is this what is needed?"

Then the necessity of listening and following is there. We are with you as you live and we see you as you move forward there. You are not alone as you live, for indeed, we are One there.

Let this teaching on trust bring you into a movement where you will join with me and carry the confidence of inner guidance as the way forward there. You are never alone, dear one, truly you are never alone.

Let us close this chapter by declaring my love for you and for what you are involved in. Let me declare the importance of what is unfolding and let me declare our eternal joining there. Never alone and never without help. I love you there always and that is the truth.

Move forward with the intention to listen always. Now the ego in its subtle and persistent way will try to undermine your listening, for it is interested in maintaining the status quo and is not easily distracted from its goal of undermining your turning inward. Now you are in a place where you know that listening is truly where the unfolding of newness, the way forward is occurring there and you know that only as you do turn inward can the way forward be known.

It is truly as you listen with intention to what is given you and then following what is given to you that the forward movement will occur. We cannot force anything on you, dear one, truly we cannot force anything on you ever. You must come willingly there and you must come with an openness to hear and desire to follow. It is truly not difficult, nor is it without the solid feeling of right-on there. For you will find the feeling of direct purpose and mission as you do so listen and follow. You are not alone there ever, and you needn't feel that the mind set of joining will isolate you from others. We can tell you that you will find the connection to others greater and deeper as you allow for your mind set of the joined perspective to be heard and experienced.

You have been given a mission and you have been given the knowhow and the can-do of it. You have been given the where-withal to carry on and the place of finding next steps there. And so, there truly is no other thing that can give you any meaning there. There truly is no other way that will prove as meaningful and as purposeful to you.

All else will be based on judgement from the conditioning you have been exposed to through many lifetimes there. Sooner or later the hollowness of following this way will be made plain to you and you will let it go easily as the nothingness that it is. Now your gifts of love that you have engaged in are there to be looked on as real and these will markedly increase as you listen for guidance there.

For being a loving presence in the world is the mission you were called to, each in his or her way, as given from Source. All love ushers forth from Source and is truly the substance of whom you are. All things and all others, all is this love and its purpose is to set things right, bring harmony out of chaos and smooth the way for awakening to the truth of itself there.

This chapter has meaning for you and it is worth reading again, dear one, for it has within the text all the steps necessary for you to move forward and to feel into the purpose of your life. Nothing here is misleading and nothing here has anything but your best interest at heart. We are One, you and I, truly we are One.

Chapter 62

Move forward confident that your mission will get given. Move forward and feel into the truth of your life as you follow what is given to you from the Voice for Truth there. Your mission is intact and has not been mislaid nor abandoned by us nor held as insignificant there. Indeed, it is of the utmost significance and has the purpose of opening to others the great connection to spirit.

We can tell you that the time lapses you feel as you turn away have not displaced what is given to you and has not erased the meaning of your life and the forward movement of your mission.

Now you have felt as hesitant to continue on because you have felt as a small one, looking out at the world as impenetrable as the culture weaves is threads of deceit and illusion.

You are caught in the web of a cultural miasma that holds you as small and insignificant and serving your others by spending and upholding the incantations of greed and pride.

Now you are held hostage to a mind set that limits your creativity and limits your forward movement and you are paralyzed by a media and a culture that sees itself as all important there. Subtly, it insinuates itself into your life and mesmerizes you to march to its tune and resonate to its throbbing incantations. How senseless this is and how easily it wraps you in its web of immobility there.

We can tell you that the call is to shake off your lethargy and shed the tentacles of enslavement to the cultural way. You are so much more there, dear one, truly, you are so much more there. Let your life be felt as that which is meaningful and dynamically alive. We are truly involved with you and we see you as a dynamic and powerful influence for love there.

Let your life/light reflect the love that you are and let the energy of living love propel you forward. Break free there and open to receive the gift of true invigoration and meaning. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever.

Chapter 63

Carry with you my undying love. Love is of such importance to you, that it is like unto your very breath there. Love has within it, healing on all levels. Love carries the movement of the Father within itself and identifies as that which unfolds to you your divinity. Love withholds nothing and gives to you a vision of fulfillment there. For love, in its glory, is fulfillment as you embrace the very nature of whom you are.

What a wonderful thing to know that love is whom you are and what a marvelous experience to radiate that love as you connect with your Source.

Now this is powerful in its implications for you, for it unfolds to you how to live and how to move as a connected being, always.

The dynamic of love is beyond words in its ability to set things right, smooth the path and unfold the glory of life. It gives the vision that propels you onward and upward, always moving with integrity and with the well-being of everyone as its motive. Love, the very nature of your Source, is what now will provide the next steps for you there. For it safeguards the mission and surrounds you with a clear way forward. It is as you step into the light of living love there in the silence, that you will allow for your direct connection to your Source to be experienced.

You are not alone there, dear one, truly, you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One. Let this simple chapter on love be read many times and may the truth given here penetrate into your heart and mind, releasing your love and the truth of whom and what you are. Never alone there, dear one, truly never alone.

Chapter 64

There is ample evidence that your life is truly that which emanates from Source there. This evidence is based on the willingness to align yourself with the mind set of intention to hear from inner guidance and to stick with this until you are in connection and find the true and valuable resource there for you.

As you do this, the evidence of inner guidance is verified again and again. Your life will be changed and your way of moving forward will have been brought into the movement your Source would have for you.

We are actively working with you there, and we are ready to bring to you, guidance of the most wonderful kind. For the guidance we will give you is based on the truth of whom and what you are and will show you how your false sense of self has insinuated itself into your mind set and has been a false and erroneous way of living life. Your way of living life has been based on what you have been taught to understand as true there and has been reinforced by your culture and your separated sense of self which has protection and defense as its motive there.

We are actively engaged in showing you how this false sense of self has led you astray into the way of haphazard and “that’s the way the ball bounces” kind of life. Now this does not mean that you have not had some success there, nor does it mean that you have been without happiness at times, but the randomness and the fear and guilt that is generated by living out from this way is truly overshadowing the joy that could be yours as you do so come into connection there.

We are working with you and we are earnestly attempting to get you to show a little willingness to open to inner guidance. Here you will access your guide, the Holy Spirit, me, Jesus, God, the spiritual dimension, that has only your best interest at heart. Here, you will find such verification that you are in connection and that you are joined, that you will no longer seek answers without consulting inner guidance. You are not alone there ever, dear one, and you are not without our continued efforts to awaken you to the truth of you, that you are a part of the Wholeness that is your Creator and you could never be separate from this.

As you explore inner guidance, and as you find that time and time again you are given perfect next steps, you will not want for anything else there. Here is the answer and here is the way made plain. I am with you there and I will not leave you to weather the storms of life and to feel the pain and isolation of disconnection. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. Let this teaching on inner guidance move you into that still place within where you ask for your guidance to make itself known to you, and may you find that love which is there always.

Search within and know that I am there for you. Seek and you will find the answer to your questing. To know the answer is to know the meaning of your life and to know the method of moving forward there. In truth, here lies the place of connection to whom and what you really are and here lies the joining with the fullness, the Wholeness of you.

As these words sink in and as you let them penetrate through the miasma of separation, you will then want to include the Whole of you in living and you would not think of moving forward or doing something or thinking something without the fullness of you included in the decision, that choice. Why would you live a partial and haphazard way that can only bring you into a chance way, a slippery slope of living that can either bring you down or cause an unbalanced decision to be made?

The reason you would choose this way is only because of ignorance that there is another way there. The reason you have not known of this way is that you have been taught from your earliest years to be self sufficient and to base your decisions on what the culture deems as best and what has been proved scientifically there. You have been told that you should follow what has been proven tried and true and will bring you the accolades of your others there.

But this may not be the way for you, for it high-jacks your integrity and it moves you into the place of following the crowd, the enculturated way there. We can tell you that your movement forward will be unique and will be felt as truly what will give you fulfillment there. As you access your Wholeness you will bring the intelligence of the Creator to bear on your decisions and you will know that there could never be another way ever to live. Time and time again you will feel the “right on” feeling of this way to live and time and time again you will see the benefits that result from living in connection. Many will benefit and many will find the forward movement as a result of your coming out from your Wholeness.

You are truly not alone as you live dear one, and we can tell you that we are with you always. Let this chapter on living out from your Wholeness be meaningful to you and may you abide with us always. We are there for you and we have a powerful and dynamic movement for you there as you do so listen and follow. You are never alone there ever, for indeed, we are One.

Move forward knowing that you are abided with and that you are met with intelligence at every step of the way. Intelligence will meet you and will bring you into a way of living that has as its meaning what your Father/Mother God would have for you. You are an offspring and you have within you all that your Creator has as available to you. There within is the intelligence of the universe brought to you as you let go of the separated sense of self and move delightfully forward from your conscious awareness there.

As you let go of the identification with the material world and view your world as that which emanates from mind, you will find the meaning your Source has for All That Is. We here who are working with you and who hold you as our own, want you to experience this, the truth of you and find the joy of this way of living.

Now you will need to practice again and again, for you are so used to seeing your world as that which is material and that which is as defined by your sciences there. But you must realize that the world is truly meant to be experienced by Mind, and as connected to Mind there. Here you will see that it ushers forth as that which is spiritual and which has as its meaning the movement of living love. How wonderful to know that the world is truly that which emanates from the mind of God there and has All That Is as created to be experienced by that Mind which is you. How wonderful to let go of the false sense of meaning that the separated way has impelled into you and has so limited your way of seeing things that you are now caught in the place of victim and victimizer, as that which is fearful and which is dangerous there.

No you are not without the true way of looking at things and you are not without the fullness, the Wholeness of our Source there for and as you. How wonderful to know this, dear one, and how wonderful to ask of your Source to show you the way. We here, who reside with you, are so eager to have you find the truth of you and so eager to have you let go of the false sense of self that has held you in its web of deceit for eons of time. The time of letting go is now, dear one, and the time of opening to receive the truth of you is now.

You are truly never alone and you are truly held in the Mind of Source as holding All That Is there available to you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone. We love you and will see you through the time of letting go. We will not abandon you to the false sense of self, the separated sense, that holds ignorance and partiality to be its hallmark.

All the fear and guilt which accompany this way of living will be released as dust, or as a cloud that never really was. You will see the light of living love shine through and you will weep with relief and with the reality of the joy of whom and what you really are, what creation really is and what the truth of life has there for you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.

Move forward in your life with a mind-set of listening always. As you listen to the Voice for Truth, you will find unfolding for you, untold miracles a plenty. How wonderful to be in the flow of your Father and to move forward carried by the infinite knowing of your Creator.

We here, who are working with you, are ready to clear the way for the influx of the perfect knowing mind-set, the perfect way to proceed in your life. We here, who know you as our own, want for you untold joy and untold happiness. We want for you to relish in the gifts that the Father has in store for you. Now the call to listen is not without the necessity to follow, for it is as you listen and respond as you are given that the true forward movement will occur.

As you give purposefulness to your listening and as you give your willingness to heed what is given to you, you will marvel there and you will find life made easy for you. All will flow forth there as with naturalness and purpose. Obstacles will be overcome easily and that which seemed a problem will be let go of there. Now the time of great forward movement will occur and as you allow for it your mission will be revealed and fulfilled there.

Nothing that is opposed to your integrity will be called for and nothing that you are not capable of doing will be shown to you. For we take into consideration the Whole of you, where you are at this moment, as the next steps are given.

We can tell you that the flow will be as doable and as that which provides real satisfaction to you. As the step is taken you will marvel at how perfectly it was given as the right step to take. Now the great unfolding will occur with increase and with joy there. You will rise to the occasion at each point and you will open to receive the gift that comes forth.

Through it all, you are never alone there and the companionship of your spiritual family will be significant to you. You are truly not alone as you live, neither are you without real help available. We love you and we are with you always. Let this chapter on listening be as a verification to you that you are with us always. We love you there and we will not abandon you ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 68

What is there that would hamper your turning inward and what is it that would keep you from living out from spirit? We will answer this question in this chapter.

There are many distractions that impede a listening mind-set and many ways your separated sense of self tries to escape the focus that is needed to listen to inner guidance. For your way of living from separation is so ingrained in you and seems to offer escape from the necessity to focus and listen there. You are given an escape route through the media and the promulgation of inroads into your private space. You are given ongoing messages of come -along and go -along and do this or that to promote the cultural way there. Now these things are not necessarily bad in and of themselves, but they do distract you from the necessity of opening your mind to receive the messages of direct connection from spirit.

They impede the focus that is so necessary for you to learn of and listen to your inner Voice for Truth. Now we would say to you to take the time necessary to still that barrage of input from your culture in so many ways there and take the time to empty out your mind-set into the place of still and calm peace. It is possible to let go of the thinking that intrudes itself and it is possible to allow for that constant stream to be gone.

As you take the time to find that place of quiet within, you will find that this place indeed is a place of relationship to the mind-set of your spiritual self, whom and what you truly are.

Here in your mind is the place of your Wholeness and ready to relate to you as pure and true inner guidance. You see, you must realize that you are connected to that infinite Mind of your Source that created you and sustains you there. As you chose to “go it alone, do it yourself, “ you let go of this place of magnificent truth and you let go of the connection that would lead you in your life... the way your Source would lead you.

You are now ready to open to receive the truth of you and open to that place where you are in direct connection there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One. I can tell you that as you find this direct connection, you will not return to the thinking mind-set that lives apart from here, for it will be so unsatisfactory in what it can offer you. You will let go of the false and flimsy mind- set of the cultural way and you will open to receive the very truth of you there. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Let us now think in terms of what will occur for you as you let in the inner guidance that will surely make itself known to you as you earnestly seek it. What will occur will be words of verification that indeed what you hear is real and not your imagination.

You will be given verification again and again and you will no longer doubt the truth of your inner guidance. You will be given answers to your questions and you will be given next steps to take in your life. In the smallest ways and in the larger ways, your guidance will provide perfect unfolding for you. As you live out from this way, you will marvel at how perfect the steps given were and how what was given benefits all. You will be given the simplest direction and also you will be given the direction that your life should point towards.

You see, each one has been given a mission there, and each one chose this as they were guided by their counselors before they came to earth again. Each one was given a plan that he/she might follow in order to come into the mission they chose.

Now the plan, the way for each one is different, but the means is the same. That is, the need to come into spiritual guidance from Source and to be in relationship with the spiritual realm. Many are working with you and many are in the throngs who have as their mission, awakening mankind to the truth of whom and what they are...direct inheritors with all that this means.

You are not without many who are working with you there and you are held by these as of utmost importance there. We can tell you that you are held as significant and you are held as the place where the work is being done in the manifested world at this time.

You are in the unique place of being in the world at this time to fulfill a purpose there and you are there to bring to your others that truth of your life as you find it unfolding there for you.

Truly, you are never alone ever, and you have All That Is as your resource there. The immensity of this statement can not be overstated there, for it is truly of such value to you. As this chapter comes to a close, let your life be felt as significant and as that which has great meaning. We love you and we are with you there, always.

Chapter 70

This chapter will bring to you the benefits of living out from your inner guidance, from Source there. The benefits are numerous and the way to live is truly the way you were created to live. Therefore, the outcome of living from guidance can only be called the perfect way to live there, the only true way.

You see, you were given a means to come into direct communication with your spiritual Wholeness, and you were given a way to access this which is clear, direct and meaningful. As you have lived your life from the separated way, you have been told that you must comply with the expectations of society and you must follow the methods given to you. That is, school yourself to be a productive member of society and one who works to earn a living, paying your taxes and conforming to the cultural dictates.

Now you have known no other way there, you have known no other way. I can tell you that the way to live is radically different from this. The way to live is to quiet your thinking mind-set and listen to the Voice for Truth, whom and what you really are.

Not without your willingness will this way be given to you, for you must ask of your inner guidance, your spiritual self, to make itself known to you in order for it to blossom forth. We cannot force ourselves on you nor coerce you there nor manipulate you to open to receive. Always, it must be a free will experience and always it must be received with an open and curious mind.

You see, you must desire to live from your truth and you must ask for it to be given. It would be something to fear if it were not freely given to you without fear of retribution, nor with strings attached. It must be freely asked for and listened to and then the need to follow will come as the experiences that occur will be so right for you.

I can tell you that the need to listen and follow is there and the need to bring into the experience your free will is a must there. This is freeing there, as you will not be caught in a mind game nor a game of control nor manipulation ever.

We want you to see this as there for you as a gift. A gift is given freely there and it will not be that which exploits you for our gain nor our power nor our self interest. No, it will be only for you there to open to and experience. Only for you to experience as you so desire,

Truly the need to come into relationship is called for and so we do invite you in, dear one, to experience the truth of whom and what you are. I can tell you, you are never alone and we are here to love you and guide you and move you forward into the truth of whom and what you are... that is, as direct inheritor and a part of the Wholeness there. You are the place where God comes into the world as you, to live and love and gift your others. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.

Chapter 71

There is a powerful movement occurring as this chapter is being written there. There is a movement within the hearts and minds of mankind that is opening to spiritual guidance as never before. You are on the crest of a wave of humanity feeling into the truth of the spiritual realm and moving forward there as beings connected to Source.

This movement into Wholeness, into the Truth of whom and what you are, is finding its way into even the most dense places of ignorance. The renewal that is forthcoming will usher in change as never before there.

Now we can tell you that the movement is ushering in change and we can tell you that the ground swell is occurring but it will be most meaningful as you feel into it with your own heart, mind, and soul.

As you have chosen this chapter to read this day, you have felt a movement within your heart and soul and you have opened to listen with intent there. We, who exist there with you, know of you and we know of the questing that is being given space to move forward and bring with it curiosity and longing. This intention to know the more of you that is to be known will bear fruit. Truly, your searching mind-set will bring ring to you the verification that you are in connection and that you have much more there for you. How wonderful to learn of this and to marvel in the landscape, the mind scape opening up to the more of you and to the brilliant light of living love ushering through.

How powerful this is and how nourished you will feel with the invigoration of this lovely light, this divine light shining through to you. You will move forward, confident in what is unfolding there.

I can tell you that the movement is truly breathtaking in its scope and in its magnitude. We are working nonstop to open you to this, dear one, and we are working with the full force of the divine inherent in our efforts. We can tell you that through it all you are never alone and you have the full magnitude and magnificence of the Whole working with you. We love you there and we are ever ready to guide you along the way. Enjoy the movement and joy in what is there for you. Never alone, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 72

We are working with you to bring into your life fulfillment on all levels. We are working with you to open to you the infinitude, the Wholeness, of whom you are. How wonderful for you to know that we are working to gift you there and to show you how delightful living from your Wholeness can be.

Now you will find that as you connect you will find increasing and multitudinous gifts that will be felt as showering you there and will be felt as never-ending there. We want you to feel into the greatness of your Wholeness and we want you to understand the magnificence of your Father/ Mother God/your Source.

In small ways and in large ways we want to gift you and so we are working tirelessly to open you to accepting these gifts and understanding them as gifts there.

We can tell you that what you will experience is truly substantial in its power to transform you and to awaken you from the miasma of the separated way. The gifts we have to give are not superficial nor are they of little consequence there. Truly they are gifts that could be called life-changing for you.

How wonderful to feel into this showering of gifts and this abundance there so clearly felt In body, mind and spirit these gifts will be felt Now as you learn of our intention there and as you learn of the nature of Source, you will want for no other way and as you do so receive you will so give.

For the gifts will generate such gratitude you will want to share with your greater Wholeness, your brothers and sisters there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow for indeed, we are One.

This message is given to you with the intent of bringing you into a place where you will quiet your thinking mind-set and listen for our signal, our sign, and listen for the words coming forth.

For indeed it is as you access this inner guidance that the truth of you will be felt. You see, you are always connected there and you are not without this relationship of magnificence there for you.

This is of such vital importance, for it is the necessary step to take to access what is there so lovingly available for you. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. Let in and allow for indeed we are One. Let this chapter on gifting be for you a gift in itself for it brings renewed confirmation of what I have in store for you. I love you and that is the truth of it.

Chapter 73

As we begin this chapter take a moment to ask that what you read will be felt as important to you and as that which will gift you there. Take a moment in the quiet before you continue and allow for the thoughts of separation, the snippets of nonsense to dissipate and allow for the quiet peace to enter in.

Now you will find that you are met there with a presence that companions with you along the way. This companion is of such great significance for you and of such great help in your journey there. Would you not welcome in a companion who has the transcendent view as its beacon, its lodestar? Would you not welcome in a companion that loves you and brings to you unerring guidance that has only your well being as its goal/mission there?

Now we can tell you that you have such a guide. You have a guide who is with you always. This guide will not let you go alone there nor abandon you to the wiles and cunning ego dynamics which insinuate themselves into every interaction, every moment your mind allows it to. Your companion will not abandon you to this wily and cunning set of defenses that have been working their insidious and death provoking ways into your mind-set.

Now the time to let this go, this ego set of intrusions, though not a personage nor an entity nor a mind-set of truth, is now. As you feel this intrusion say "No, I will not succumb to this false and intrusive defense that has only its own need to maintain itself and its goal. No, there is no reason to feel fear and guilt, no reason to allow for this ugly and harmful intrusion into my peace to be felt."

Now you will turn to guidance and say, "Help me, Father and my guide to disregard what is false and to enhance and verify what is true. You are true and the mind-set of our Source is true... that we are love and come from a place of love and have nothing there but what is real about us."

Let the illusionary world go and let the joyous infilling of your true self be felt. Now is the time to feel into this guidance and this truth . Now is the time to feel into the peace of your being and join with the Whole of you. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 74

As this chapter begins we will focus on how you can alleviate the mind-numbing and tedious incantations of your ego mind-set , your separated self. You are truly met with the resources necessary to release this choice for ignorance.

You see, you are met with an ally, a partner of far superior intelligence and knowhow. You are met with inner guidance that outranks your separated sense of self and ushers forth as the truth of you. Now you can say, “ Isn’t the ego a part of me too? Isn’t this that which should be looked at as a part but not a good part nor a noble part, but still a part?

Here is the good news for you. The ego mind-set is truly an imposter there and has no footing in reality. It is a system of defenses you have worked out over eons that has held you hostage to its subtle ploys and degradations there. It has held you hostage to its unyielding attempts to bring you down, foster hatred, greed, self-serving and ultimately, to bring you to the point of death there.

Now we can tell you that you have the power to ignore this tyrannical mind-set that whispers its ploys and attempts to undermine your resolve and your attempts to listen to your true self, your spiritual self, whom and what you truly are.

We here, who are working with you, know of your ego and we can tell you that it is truly as you disregard it, chose to ignore it and dismiss it as an imposter and a lie, that the system will eventually limp along into oblivion. Not that it ever was a real presence, but it will yelp and cry out for regard and it will throw up to you issues in hopes you will bite and react to them Then it has you there, then it has you and the hatred and spiral of destruction continues on.

How wonderful to release this and to let in the light of living love, the joy of creation there and the love that you are truly made of. How wonderful for you to let in our guidance which has nothing but your opening to receive the Wholeness of you as its goal .You see, you could never be separate there, you can never be left twirling in the dust and without a means to move forward there. Now is the time to turn to your inner guidance and move forward there. Now is the time to open to receive your Wholeness. We are here and we are not without your best interest at heart. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One. I love you and that is the truth of it

Move forward lovingly with the intention of listening always. There is much that will unfold for you that will seem as unrelated to your mission there and which seems as extraneous and as incidental there.

Now the incidental things are not that for the movement includes much that you are not aware of. That thing, that event that seems minor may be significant for another....one that you do not even know. Therefore, you must trust that what unfolds is truly of value and not to be dismissed there as irrelevant. We can tell you that the way to move forward always, is to listen and follow and find anew the Voice for Truth at each choice point.

You are brought to this place of attention as you abandon your inclination to go along and come along and follow the way the enculturated mind-set would have you. Therefore, you must be willing to trust that the way of seemingly perplexing guidance is given with the big picture, the whole picture in mind.

We would say that the need to listen brings with it the need to follow and the willingness to set aside what may seem to be obvious steps to take. You will find that trust is called for more and more and that leaning into the Voice for Truth is the way. Leaning into and waiting quietly for the next steps is what is called for. You see, we have the knowledge of what is truly transpiring in your situation there and we have the view from the transcendent as ours.

There is reason to rejoice in this as it allows you to give up the impossible task you would otherwise undertake, only to fail and to gain nothing there. The task your culture sets up are put in place to further the ego mind-set and to further the way of the culture and the economy and the government entities that would have you marching to the tune of its/their empowerment.

Truly, this is not the way you must live, if indeed, you would come into the truth of you! For you are an authentic one and you are not meant to give over your own movement, your sense of self to what is only a trap for you. Let your mind set be open to receive and let your intention be one of following your inner guidance. Truly this is the way and it is the way for perfect unfolding. Let in and allow, dear one, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 76

We would say to you to turn inward at each choice point. Not to the thinking mind-set, but to that quiet place within where you are in touch with spirit there. Here your guidance will direct you in the perfect next step there.

We see you as you wonder and search for authentic ways of unfolding and of finding meaning, those ways that are truly you. We see you as you look for the movement that suits you and gives you meaning there. Now you are not one who is satisfied with the enculturated way and you are not one who is out of step with your inner needs, wants and desires there. We can tell you that your desires are known to us and we take them into consideration as we direct you, guide you there. Now it is truly this “joining with” your spiritual self, whom and what you really are, that the true and authentic movement will be known.

Common sense and practicality will play a part but you must be open to what is new there and what seems as that which has no relevance nor bearing on your situation, for indeed, spirit can see the big picture there and can direct you accordingly. Your needs and your wishes are known to us and we take all of this into consideration of what guidance to give you there. And so, do not be dismayed if what unfolds seems unrelated nor of little consequence to your own wants and needs, for inevitably the meaning will become known to you, or the reassurance that what has transpired is the right way, there.

We can tell you that you are held in our minds as of great relevance and as of great value and meaning for the unfolding of mankind into its greater wholeness. The very fact that you are reading this is proof that you are not oblivious to what is occurring there. The time to let in is now, dear one, truly the time to let in is now. You are not alone ever and we delight in you. As this chapter comes to a close, trust that what is given is important for you and trust that what occurs is what is the necessary unfolding for you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.

We, who are working with you, see you there and we see the small upsets that impede your forward movement. We see the need for continual turning inward and allowing for the Voice for Truth to be heard. Now there has been mention of our involvement on a constant basis and there has been a call to turn inward again and again.

How is it that we continue on in this same and seemingly mundane message? It is truly the message you need to hear there and it is truly the way forward for you. We cannot tell you too strongly how important the need to quiet your constant thinking and your focusing on the small tidbits of thoughts that run through your mind there. The tidbits of thought are truly small roadblocks to forward movement there, and so it is as you clear the path and silence those ongoing tidbits of thoughts that impede you, that you will find the new and the original ideas coming through to you.

Now you can say that the necessity to clear the path is there for you always for you have lived as one accustomed to responding from separation and that is truly illegitimate there.

It is nothingness and it is as if you were holding onto vaporous and inconsequential information to live by. Now your culture will validate and urge you on there, but always the thinking from the separated way is erroneous there.

We would say to you to quiet this way, dear one, and learn to live from guidance there. Learn to live from the real Source and Center of your life. Do not be sidestepped by the inconsequential and do not be misled by the miasma of a culture that would lull you into its way there. Its message of “come along and go along” is insidious and meaningless and its grotesque illusions thrown up at you at every turn are truly horrible in their insinuation of fear and mind-numbing horror to you. Let the way of the separation be let go of and live joined always. Here is your truth, your Source, your life and your forward movement felt freely and fully there. You are never alone there, dear one, truly you are never alone. We love you and that is the truth of it.

Now we are at a point in your understanding where we can tell you more of what is in store for you and you will marvel at what is said here. As you allow for the penetration of the divine to enter in, you will feel a releasing of the burdens you have carried for so long. You will feel into the freedom that comes from letting go of personal responsibility to perform and to live your life according to the mandates of the enculturated way.

This freedom will allow for such a lightness of being as you remember that the responsibility you have is to turn inward and listen for what next there. This is your only calling for the movement that will be given you will come forth with ease and will not be that which will overwhelm you there. We see you and your unfolding and we see you as you move forward with the intention to follow what is given to you.

How delightful your life will be as you allow for the peace of your being to be felt there. How delightful you will feel as you bring to bear much needed help. You see, we are with you always and we are not about to abandon you to the wily and cunning ego mind-set that has nothing but ill will as its intent. We are not about to abandon you to the cultural miasma and let your life be dissipated in the throws of nothingness there. We are interested in you fully and we are interested in you moving forward with the full accompaniment of your Wholeness there.

How sweet to know that you have companions who love you and want only your best interest at heart! How sweet to know that in all things the love that you are will shine through and clear the way for the perfect unfolding there. We can tell you that what will come forth will cause you to marvel and you will say, "Only God... Only through God could this occur."

Nothing there to impede your bliss, dear one, nothing there to impede your bliss. Let the full flowering of your life open to receive and allow for the input from the divine. We are with you always, dear one, truly, we are with you always and that is the truth. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

As this chapter opens we shall give you information that will be important to you in your unfolding there. You are truly one who is following your inner guidance. You are one who has opened to receive and you are one who has allowed for the penetration of truth to be known to you.

That makes you an important and uniquely suited one to open to others what you have learned there. As you live your life, those you will meet are the ones how will benefit from your opening mind- set and your connection to the Whole. Those you meet will be the ones who will find anew what was lost and now can be found there.

You are not alone as you bring the good news to your others and you are not alone as you allow for our guidance in what to say and what to do as you live. You are in good counsel there and you are moving forward to the flow of the love of your Source. How wonderful to know that you are living the life you were meant to live and that you are not off track nor off the path of what, in the end, will be most freeing and most fulfilling for you.

We can tell you that you have let go of the miasma of the enculturated way as you have let in your guidance there. You have let go of the incantations of the ego mind-set and you have allowed for the infilling of the divine. This is of such good news for you and of such a good and utterly freeing way for you to live.

We can tell you that you are ready to receive much more and the infilling will be as wonderful to you. Now the great waves of releasing will be felt and the life you were meant to live will be lived. We can tell you that you are on track and in the groove, in the flow and in the alignment there. Relish in this and stay tuned to the more that is to come. Truly, you are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Do not dismiss what you are reading as inconsequential to you and do not dismiss this writing as of little importance to your life there. We cannot emphasize enough the importance of what is written here to your well-being and your forward movement.

There is such meaning to be had in your life and there is much meaning to be experienced as you allow for the penetration of the divine to be made known to you. How wonderful to feel into the closeness and the connectedness of your Wholeness, your spiritual brothers and sisters, who exist with you on the spiritual side of things. How wonderful to experience these ones as co-creators with you and there to bring to you happiness and prosperity, joy and fulfillment. Your life is truly meant to be one of unabashed joy, dear one, and it is meant to be one of great significance to your others there. We can tell you that you are opening to understand this and to feel into this much more. As the days and weeks pass and as you continue in your turning inwards, you will find the clearing away of the mind-set of separation and the delightful company of others who exist with you who are open to their Wholeness.

I can tell you that this will happen sooner than you can know and soon the great miasma will dissipate and the fundamental truth of life will come forth, shining bright and clear in the dawn of a new day. Soon the light of living love will penetrate through and clear away the darkness and despair that can only come from separation there.

You are not alone there, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. We are with you and we are urging you to quiet your thinking mind-set and turn inward. I await your call and I long to bring you into the fold of those who know. Now is the time to do this and now is the time to let in.

All is well there and all is awaiting your nod to go ahead with allowing the infilling to occur. We are here and we will not let you go alone there to the destiny of an isolated and separate one. Truly, we will not let you go. And so in closing, turn quietly inward and ask, and indeed, we will be there for you always. Now is the time, now is the time.

I am with you always. What sweet words are these to ponder and to hold close to you. I am with you always and I am there to guide you, to comfort you and to lead you through the miasma of the separated way.

Now you have found that you are, indeed, joined there and you have found that your life is infinitely better than before. Not without great and real support have you released your sense of isolation there, for we have worked with you in this and we have joined with you again and again as you have so asked .

As you have allowed for this, you have felt the infilling of your peace and you have felt the desire to know more there. You have asked and you have been given answers to your questions. Now you are at the point where you are able to live more fully from the joined perspective and you have found your life infinitely better.

How wonderful to anticipate what you could not know from the separated mind-set. How wonderful to look forward with great anticipation to what lies ahead for you. Each day is a new beginning there and each day brings to you a bright and powerful connection to Source, whom and what you are. The light of living love shines bright and you can count on this, dear one, truly you can count on this.

We are with you always. As you contemplate these wonderful words and as you feel into this divine relationship, your life will immeasurably increase in its scope and influence and gifting to your others.

Now is the time to allow for this and now is the time to open with even greater letting go and welcome in your Wholeness.

We can tell you that your life is about to unfold in the most wonderful way there and as you feel into this you will know. Now is the time to let in, dear one, and now is the time to allow. We are ,indeed, One, you and I .We are, indeed, One.

Chapter 82

We are with you there and we see you as you read this. Now you are not without companions there, and you are not without those who are working mightily with you to bring you out of the dismal and dreary place of separation into the light of living love.

I can tell you that you are met with the love of your Source and you are held as of infinite value. You are held as of inestimable worth as a part of the Whole there, without blemish nor without the horrors that you think you may have done there.

We see you as a perfect one and as that which is waking up there. We see you as waking up from the sleep of ignorance into the light of living love which is the place of your Wholeness there. We see you and we are there to guide you through the miasma of the illusions you so think are the real world there. Truly, you are caught in a web of deceit as you have listened to the subtle and seemingly innocent incantations of your ego to deploy you from finding inner peace there.

Now your ego is not a real presence, dear one, but it is truly a defense system or set of strategies that have as their intent to undermine your peace and to bring you into the place of false understanding. Ultimately, your ego defense system would have you give up and die and succumb to its tirades.

We can tell you that life is the real reason for your guidance to be there. Life and awakening to what this life truly is. Awakening to the very foundation of whom and what you are. You see, dear one, you are a direct inheritor, always. You are a direct inheritor and you are met with the love that heals all and sets things in perfect order there. You are this love and as you open to it, you will find the joy and the forward movement given to you to embrace and to find as the truth of you.

Let your curiosity be felt and your willingness to allow for guidance to be heard there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 83

I can tell you that you are truly ready to receive what we will give you which is a gifting of monumental worth there. We are ready to gift you and to bring to you the influx of truth and joy there. We are now at that point where you have allowed for our guidance to be known to you and we are able to see you as you open to receive what can only be called transformational and life-changing energy of such value that it is epic in its cleansing and renewing properties.

This energy is what can be called the energy of living love there. Living love, or what is the very substrate of you is that which sets all things right, moves obstacles and ushers in self renewal as nothing else. Now you are at the threshold of receiving this, dear one, and you are at that point even as you read this.

How magnificent for you to know that this energy will sustain you and bring such a radical transformation to you. In every area of your life will the transformation be felt. In each and every encounter will this love enter in. As you embrace it and recognize it you will marvel at what is there for you and as you.

Now is the time to turn inward and quiet your thinking mind-set. Now is the time to release those thoughts of disbelief and in the still place ask that this love be known to you. We will not leave you to the insanity of separation there and we will not withhold what is your birthright, dear one.

As you ask so shall it be given. Now is the time, truly now is the time. Let your mind-set be one of willingness and curiosity and indeed, we are there to answer your call. Never alone, truly never alone.

Bring to bear on your life, much needed help. Help is needed there and help is available to you. You see, dear one, you have been living under a delusional mind-set that sees itself as the authority and the controller of life. You have lived your life as a self sufficient and independent one who sees his authority as of the utmost importance to living. But in all ways, this is erroneous there, for you are not that which operates as a solo one nor an isolated one there.

You are not one who has as your fundamental mind-set, independence. How could this be you may ask? How could this be? From the beginning you have been taught that you are truly the most respected and the most self-respected as you have defined who you are and have lived your life accordingly, but it is all wrong! Truly, you are not that, dear one, you are not that!

You see, you have been given an inheritance that marvels anything there on the earth plane. You have been given an inheritance that far exceeds the wealth and prestige of those who claim royalty as their inheritance. You have far more available to you as you learn of whom you are and of what is there for you.

Now the time of releasing of the mind- set of control is occurring and millions are giving way to the truth of whom and what they are...created beings with the inheritance of their Creator imbued within them. How wonderful to know this and how wonderful to access this moment by moment as the great unfolding occurs there for you. How wonderful to bring to you this news of great import there.

We, who are working with you, see you as our own. We see you as part of the Wholeness and as bringing your great and magnificent gifts to All. How could this be, you may ask, how could this be?

Well , dear one, that is the reason, we here, are giving you this book and the many other resources there to wake you up and to bring you to the truth of your life that you are never alone there ever and that you are not ‘ one down’ nor ‘ less than’ in any way.

Truly, you are of the greatest importance to us and to the Whole. Let your life be one of gifting and receiving and may you find within, the very fundamental truth of you, that you are joined intrinsically with your Source and that you have the Wholeness to access there. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly, you are never alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 85

Stay focused on listening to your inner guidance. Here, in that quiet place within, I await your call. Here I await your call and your inquiries there and I await your willingness to listen for what comes forth.

Ready to assist you and ready to bring to you relationship of real worth, I await your opening to receive there and your curiosity to understand fully whom and what you really are.

As you have now come to this point in the book you have understood that the necessity is to let go of your ego mind-set, your separated sense of self and move inward to that quiet place within where you are joined with your Wholeness there. You are joined and you are met with the multitudes who exit with you on the spiritual side of things, the reality of things as you live.

For the spiritual is the reality of you, dear one. Now you will understand this more and more as you allow for the penetration of the divine to enter in and to illumine you with the truth of you. How wonderful for you to have this ongoing experience as you realize that there is so much more for you to know of there.

You see, you are not alone as you live, truly, you are not alone as you live there. You are always joined with me and with your guide and with those who are working with you to open you to the truth of life here. Urgently and with the utmost intention we are working with you. Urgently and patiently we work there to open you to what can only be called the reality of you, the truth of life there.

I can tell you that you are not alone here ever, dear one. Truly, you are not alone there ever. You are met with the ongoing involvement of those who love you and hold you in their embrace, their love and their ardent attention there.

To know that you are not alone and to know that you are loved is such a boon and such a blessing! To know that in all that occurs you have your Allness there to share and embrace, as there for you to love and to open to. We are there for you always, dear one. Our attention is not sporadic but always there as you do so let us in. Now is the time to open to receive and now is the time to let go of that which is only an illusionary mind-set, a made up thing of ideas impelled into you from eons of misunderstanding there. You must realize that you are not separate to live as an independent one nor as one who can decipher the truth without joining.

The truth can never be known through the methods that have been engaged in as real there, for they are always based on the physical reality as the only reality. Until the spiritual is embraced and allowed to enter in and be counted as real nothing will hold water there in your world and so we urge you to let your mind-set be quieted. Find the peace of your being and discover the truth of your life, that you are joined always with the Whole of you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.

Embrace fully what is given to you and allow for the words to be felt as real to you. Now what will come forth will be truly that which will be the guidance based on the whole of your life situation there. For those of us on the spiritual side see you in your totality and see those that would be impacted by what you are involved with.

Pay close attention to the words and trust that what is given you is the most perfect next step there. You may seek clarification from guidance if what you hear does not make sense to you or if you want a more complete understanding. Guidance will heed your request and bring you additional understanding there.

It is truly as you allow for what is said to be carefully followed that you will realize the immensity of what you are involved in. You will realize that what you are involved in is truly of the utmost importance for you and for others there.

We are not careless in our guidance nor are we haphazard in what we say to you. We are not bringing you next steps to foul you up nor cause you to feel as a chump or a victim there. This is never our intent. Rather, in all ways we want to bring you out of your delusional mind-set and awaken in you the truth of whom and what you are.

You see, you are not without a Source there, parentage and heredity of the most profound and far-reaching impact there. We can tell you that you have this as your birthright but you must invite it and access it fully and freely there. We cannot override your will nor your own mind-set nor manipulate you into doing it our way there. You are truly one who is loved here and you are one who is held patiently in the arms of love to have and to hold as our own.

As the immensity of this sinks in and as you realize that you are not without this love there you will feel the security and the certainty of it and the far-reaching implications of having this love there for you. Truly, you are not alone there ever, dear one, you are not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 87

Flow forth with the love of God guiding you always. Flow forth with the love and the willingness to follow what is given to you. We can tell you that your willingness to follow is all important there and will usher in what can only be called transformational and healing guidance for you and for those who you are involved with.

There can never be healing without a request for it for on some level for the doors must be opened to receive. The history of your mind-set is one of closing off what seems to you to be that which is not coming from your culture, your science or your traditional way. All other avenues are looked at as fakery and as that which is empty of real help.

But we are here to tell you that the way of turning inward and asking for help is all important there. What help will be given? The flow of healing energy, of living love which has as its very nature setting all things right, and bringing forth the perfect unfolding there. And so the need to allow for this great resource is there, dear one, truly the need to allow for this great resource is there.

As you invite in, you will find unfolding that which you had no claim over as coming from your own thinking mind-set, but it appears as from out of the blue or as a chance or circumstantial happening that was just coincidental, and yet as you examine further, you know that this answer to need is absolutely the perfect answer there.

Now we can tell you that what is coming forth is not only remarkable in its unfolding perfectly, but remarkable in its timing, and in its breadth of benefit there. Many will benefit from the unfolding there, many will benefit from the unfolding and so, dear one, it is time to quiet your conditioned thinking and turn there to Source. Open to receive what is so marvelously there for you. Truly, you are not alone there ever, dear one, you are not alone there, ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

At times as you listen to guidance you will hear something you may not want to hear. You may hear something that you know to be true about you but something that you have had great resistance in facing. This obstacle to forward movement is something that you can take fully to your guidance for help in. For always, the problem will be looked at as fully that which is able to be overcome there.

Now this obstacle may not seem as large to others, but, dear one, it is you who knows the truth of what lies before you. Only you know what has hindered you along the way. Now we can tell you that the call to bring your attention to how to overcome this impediment is called for there and as you do so listen the steps to take will be given to you there.

We are not interested in you stumbling through life and tripping over a mind-set that is easily let go of there. Now in all areas of your life this overcoming and letting go is called for. We see you there as you struggle and we see you as you bring to bear on your life an opening to receive what will be so helpful for you.

You may say but I have depended on this thing or that activity. I have loved this addiction for it has allowed me to escape the reality of my situation there. But, dear one, what you called an escape is truly detrimental to you, for it is that which limits you in your growth and in your understanding there. It limits you and holds you in its grip without a way out there.

Now I can tell you that there is a way out of the entrapment there and there is a way out of the limitation you have allowed and, in some ways, embraced. This limitation is let go of easily as you move into that quiet place and listen for the answer there. We will guide you each step of the way and we will bring you into the freedom from this taskmaster, this monkey on your back. We will help you there, dear one, truly, we will help you.

Now is the time to quiet your thinking mind-set and allow us in. Let your willingness be expressed and listen for your guidance in this. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 89

I am with you each and every day. We walk the path together, you and I. We joy in life together and we find solace in each other there. I find solace in you, dear one, just as you find solace in me. For you are a part of the Wholeness there.

We are bound together by our heritage, and by our selfsame Creator. We are bound together by the bonds of deep and abiding love that holds us safely and securely in its light. We are bound together by the Source as He manifests within us .

And so, the delightful experience of togetherness is ours, always. Together we walk the hills and valleys of life and together we find anew what is ever unfolding for us. Life unfolds and offers newness and yet the newness holds the divine spark that is eternal and in that we know of its fulfillment for us.

Now the joy we feel and the bliss we experience is shared one with the other there and with all of the others whom are, indeed, a part of us, also. Let the manifestations and the movement be felt as intimate to us for our relationship is an intimate one there. Intimate and at the same time, open to all.

Now is the time to open up, dear one, and now is the time to allow for our joining to be felt. One with the other there and One with our Creator/Sustainer. Now is the time to let go of the loneliness you have felt and let go of the isolation that can never be there for you ever, for indeed, dear one, truly we are One. I love you and in that is the truth of it.

Now is the time to allow for divine intervention in your life. There is reason to place your trust in this intervention and allow for the changed perception that will make transformation possible. There is a call for changed perception there and there is a call for much needed help.

You have a mission to give and you have a calling there that is magnificent in its gifting to others. Now the time to give your gifts is approaching and the time to bring forth all that is there to bring forth is imminently waiting for you to proceed.

You are met with many on the other side who are working with you and are eager to bring the flow of the gifting into being there. Eager to bring the flow into being and into the light of day as the transformation continues there.

You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. As you come to realize that the time to give your gifts is now and that the call is for transformation of your perception and transformation of your mind-set which will open to you a vista of gifting of vast proportions there.

Now is the time to allow for this and now is the time to let the movement forward begin. You see, in order for you to give your gift you must be willing to put it out there fully. You must be willing to put it out there and trust that the Holy Spirit will work mightily there with you and guide you in all that will come.

You are not alone there ever to go it alone nor experience the isolation of one wandering in the wilderness. No, always you will be guided there and always you will find the love that is transforming available to you.

Now is the time to let in and now is the time to begin this greatest of gifting there. Your mission is significant, dear one, and it is time to give the gift. We are there for you always, and we see the need for the opening to receive there. We see the need now.

Let us stay in touch and in tune with guidance and see how the gifting unfolds for you. Open to receive what is coming forth and stay tuned to the marvelous and significant gifting there for you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone. All is well, all is well. We love you there, truly. We love you there and see you as our own.

Let this chapter on “Opening to Mission” be read again and again as it will reinforce to you the importance of what is said. I love you and that is the truth of it.

Chapter 91

Bring your attention to the quiet place within at each choice point. Here, in that quiet place you will find anew what has always been there for you. Here, you will find a place of peace and a relationship of profound significance for you. You see, dear one, you are never alone there as you live, truly you are never alone there ever. I can tell you that you are met with the love of your Source always.

Now the time of bringing forth your gifts to others is approaching there. The time of giving your gifts and bringing to the world what you had promised before you incarnated.

What does this mean? It means that you have been given a mission to complete while on the earth plane at this incarnation and you have been guided specifically in how to do that. As you have been given your mission, it is time to move forward with it and to turn inward always to find the next steps there. These steps are meant for you to follow as they are given with the view from the transcendent there. They are given to you looking at the Whole of you and of what you are involved in.

We see you there and we see the places you will impact and the persons who will benefit from your gift, your mission. We see the profound love that is there for you to share and for you to move forward from. This love is of such magnificence and in its wake is the ordering of experience and the setting free of all that was locked in and thwarted there.

Now the call is to let the forward movement continue and let the blessing you can give get given. We are with you through it all there and we are working mightily to bring to you, far-reaching and significant impact to your others as you move forward.

Now this is not a pipe dream nor a pie-in-the-sky gift. Rather it will be felt as transforming there for you as you move forward. How wonderful to know that what you have come to give you have given. How wonderful to know that the unfolding will occur in every area of your life and in every relationship there.

We can tell you that life is moving forward and life is unfolding for you always, dear one. Truly life is unfolding always forward. We can tell you that what is said here is the truth and what is said is what will occur. Stay tuned and stay in touch always, for indeed, we are One. I love you and in that is the truth of it.

Now there is a call for real focus in your mission and in your life. Many things will intrude on your forthright mission and many things will seem as important for you, but in all ways the call is to focus on what you are hearing from guidance.

We can tell you that you are moving forward there and you are moving with the love of your Source, abiding with you, as you. This love is so powerful in its ability to set things right and to harness the disparate ways your mind /your separated sense of self will divert you.

As you turn inward and listen and as you are given the next steps there you will find much needed help and you will find that the call is to move forward with the intention of ongoing listening and following.

We can tell you that this is the way forward, dear one, truly this is the way forward there. Do not feel that you are giving over what is your identity nor your own sense of self as an individual but see yourself as an aspect of the Whole, as you identifiable as you there.

Not as a mass movement but as you identifiable and fully known to us. You were created as an identifiable one there and we work with you as an identifiable one. But you must see yourself as emanating from Source and having Source as your place of inspiration there.

Not as one who imagines what life is like nor as one who works at a project or a situation that is generated from your own thinking, but rather as you, coming into guidance and moving forward from this place of ease, this place of truth, and this place of the reality of you.

No fabrication here, dear one, truly no fabrication here. We see you and we see what needs to be done there and what needs to be brought forth. We see those who would be impacted and we see those who will benefit from your gifts there. Now the call is to listen always and follow what is given to you.

As you do, the great unfolding will occur and the movement forward will occur there. We can tell you that as you do this the releasing of layers of delusion will occur and you will begin to see clearly there. Let your life be felt as a movement from Source created and sustained from Source and answering to Source there. You are never alone, dear one, truly you are never alone .

As you find that your life is ever unfolding with newness and as you open to receive what is being given to you, you must trust, dear one, truly you must trust. Now there is a call for further gifting from you and there is a call for you to open to what is being shown you there.

You see, we can only work in your Mind to open unto you what is being given. We can show you how this or that action will be the best one for you to take there or it may be that no action is called for there. Now you must trust into what is given for there will be times when you think “How could this be the right choice to take? How could this be? It flies in the face of all that I have known and it goes against what would be called traditional thinking or best practice there. It goes against what others would say would be common sense and it is truly that which is often looked at as off- the-wall thinking or action.”

But you must trust that guidance knows the best way for you and you must trust based on your myriad of experiences that what is being said to you is truly what will provide the way forward there for you. Now I can tell you that the way forward is without a doubt the way of following guidance. For we see the Whole of you, the transcendent actions in your life, and we see you as what can only be called of significance to the broader unfolding of all.

Now that is truly important, for you must see yourself as a part of the entirety and a part of the Wholeness there. You must see yourself as a part of that which is truly coming into awakening into the awareness of whom and what they are.

This is the movement that is occurring there and this is what we here on the other side are most interested in. We are working mightily there to open to you the great comfort and the great security that can only come from joining there. And so, this book is being written and many more like it and many speakers and mystics and those who have given over their own lives to guidance to bring all into the greatest unfolding there. Here is the way, dear one, here is the way. Let your life be felt as significant and that which plays a crucial part in the great awakening. You are never alone there ever, for, indeed, we are One.

Move forward and look for the possibility that what will come forward will be opening to you, unfettered good. What does this mean there? Look forward to the real possibility that you are moving with those who are there to open to you, unfettered gifting and unfettered love.

You see, those who are working with you will know the next steps there and will bring to you what is necessary for your perfect unfolding. We do not see you as without the means to bring to your others the perfect gifting. And therefore, we are working with you to see what unfolds as that which will allow for you to give a gift of significance here. As you are given this gift and as you are brought into the flow of inner guidance and as you follow what is given you will move most perfectly forward and find unlimited fulfillment unfolding ever anew.

We can say that you are on the precipice of change and we can tell you that change is the constant mode/ way of Source as unlimited unfoldment and fulfillment come ushering forth there. Now you are truly one who has opened to receive inner guidance and you are one who has brought to your mission persistence and commitment. You have brought this and yet wonder if the gift you have to give will ever truly get given there for it seems to be something that others will not embrace nor open to receive there.

I can tell you that you are moving to the flow of your Source and in this you must trust. You are moving to the flow of your Source and have the backlog of experiences to shore you up. You know that listening has proved to be invaluable for you and you know that your life would be infinitely less meaningful had you not given your attention and your commitment to following.

You are able to count the many times you have chosen to follow guidance and how this has proved invaluable in your unfolding. Especially in regard to relationships and to others you have been given the perfect next steps to take there. I can tell you that you are now at a point where you will feel the movement and you will know that what is unfolding is truly from Source. Now is the time to stay close to me and now is the time to listen with the intention to follow what is given. I love you and I want you to open to your unbounded truth. We are One you and I, indeed we are One.

Chapter 95

It is wise to allow for time to spend with your inner self, your guidance there. It is wise to take the time away from a schedule that does not seem to allow for time in silence nor solitude. There is resistance to this, for it appears as if nothing is happening and it appears as useless there when life seems to cry out for activity and for involvement there.

But truly, the time spent will be well worth it and will prove to be of the most significance to you. This time is not wasted nor is it time that is lost to anything more important. Indeed, this time away and in quiet where you learn to get in touch with guidance is of the most significant there. We can tell you this but it will only prove itself as so, as you do so involved your attention to that quiet place within.

What will you find here? You will find something new, something brand new there, dear one. You will find something of the greatest impact for you and of the highest order of things. Here is that relationship that will accompany you always and here is the most far reaching involvement of your life.

These are powerful words and they seem to be out of proportion to the quiet sense of peace that you find within. But they are the truth of things. For here, in that peaceful place you are in direct connection to your Source, the Source of All That Is, that you are indeed a part of there.

Here you are in touch with the place of living love that has only your fulfillment as motivation and only your awakening to the truth of whom you are, a direct inheritor, a child and offspring of the one true Source and Center of life.

You are never without this love and you are never without this place of moving forward there.

You are indeed felt as intrinsic to the forever unfolding of newness and you are that which is held as an idea in your Source's mind. You are of that Source and you have All That Is available to you.

Now the call is to allow, dear one, and to quiet your thinking mindset there. Quiet your mindset and let the place of unfoldment occur. Here in your Mind, I am, and here I will connect with you most readily there. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.

Bring to bear on your life situation a desire to move from your Source, always. Now this is so important for you to hear, for it is the single most transformational way to live there. You are met with the love of your Source always and as you do so access this love you will find that life unfolds in an orderly and perfect way for you. Nothing out of place nor without its place in the larger scheme of things, that is, your mission there.

It will seem incredible to you that the flow could be so perfect there and it will seem as a miracle happening on a regular basis. This is the way of Source for it sees you in your situation and wants for you to know of the love that is there and of the perfect unfolding as Source is listened to and moved to.

Now the need is for patient staying with your inner guidance and flowing from there. Let go of the sense of 'do it yourself' or 'go it alone' attitude and join, join, join. This is the way of Source and this is the way of true love there. I can tell you that you are met with the love of your Source, always, dear one, but it is you who must join and feel into it. It is you who must join and feel the safety and security, the joy and the true love that ushers forth.

As you do so stay with and feel into it, you will respond in kind to others who are in fact a part of the Wholeness of you there. You will respond in kind and move forward wanting to love and share with your others there. You will want to share and joy in the great unfolding there and the blessing will carry on.

Even in this gifting the call is to turn inward and ask quietly, "How Father, how should you unfold here as me? How should I respond as you in this situation that will usher in the way of Source?"

And as the brothers and sisters realize how wonderful your Creator /Sustainer moves and has his/ her being you will find that the rushing waves of releasing the limited mindset of separation will come in, and the people will laugh as they all let go of the idea that they could ever be separate there. Then the forward movement will continue as millions open to receive there. Millions will move from Source and the great awakening to the truth of whom and what you are will be felt.

Now the magnificent joining with the universal hierarchy will occur and the ushering of planet Earth into its inheritance and into its place in the universe will occur. And so, you see how very important turning inwards is.

It is truly the way there, dear one, it is truly the way. Join now and join the chorus of those on the invisible side who are working mightily to wake up planet Earth into its inheritance there Wake up! Wake up and allow in, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 97

You are met with ongoing love and involvement from us. This involvement waits for your request and is truly ready to gift you as you do so ask. We are here on the other side and we are 'at the ready' to provide your wants and needs as is the Father's will. Truly, we are ready to gift you there and to bring to you the 'knowing' mindset that verifies to you that you are not alone there ever.

We can tell you that you are not alone and we can shower you with gifting there, but you must open to receive. You must open to receive.

There is much that will distract you along the way and there is always the intent of ego to undermine your well-being and your sense of forward movement there. But as you discern that there is a better way, you will turn within again and again there.

You are not alone ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. Now is the time to quiet your thinking mind set and your stream of thoughts that have no bearing on your life but only seems to distract you there. You must quiet this stream of snippets of ideas and thoughts that have no relevance to you but only serve to distract you there.

Your intelligence is truly available for you and is available to bring to you small steps to follow that will give you a sense of forward movement and that 'on track' feeling there. Now this will feel so on target and so right that you will want to return again and again there. You are truly never alone as you live and you are never without the 'much needed help' of your Wholeness.

As you turn here more and more, the results will be so comforting and so unparalleled in there right feeling, that you will soon know that this is where life happens/ unfolds in its perfection for you.

Now will come the great releasing of the separated way and turning inward and trusting will occur.

How marvelous to know that there is a place of goodness for you and a place of true worth there. You are, indeed, never alone as you live, truly you are never alone there. May the joy you feel as the 'right- knowing' is felt, be there for you, and may you find anew who and what you really are. We are One there, you and I, indeed we are One.

Chapter 98

Move forward with the intention of listening, always. Intention to hear what is there for you in that still place is necessary, for we cannot input to you without your desire there, without your free will intention to hear. It is truly a decision you must make and it is a decision that will be answered and embraced by us. We will move to bring to you much needed help. We will bring to you, the know-how and the can-do to move you forward there, and to unleash in you greater conviction to continue on.

You are not alone there ever, dear one, and you have the mighty Wholeness as your resource there. How wonderful to know that you have the ballast, the full support of your Source and the mighty and powerful love that will put all things in place and bring order out of chaos there. You are truly moving to the love of your Source as you do turn within to the love that is there.

I can tell you this and I can bring you news of such great worth but it is you who must open to receive. How can you do this? First, you must quiet your thinking mindset and let the snippets of thoughts and ideas that filter through your mind, go. Let them go and find that quiet place where you are empty and ready to receive. State your intention to hear and ask that your movement forward reflect the will of Source. Source knows what will fill you there and Source knows the next step for you. Source knows of the joyous gifts you have to give and knows of the perfect way forward there for you.

All is unfolding for you in its majesty and in its mighty fulfillment there. How wonderful for you to know that you have a way forward there always, dear one. Always, are we there. This is your lifeline, your foundation and your reservoir of truth, love and purpose.

There is no other way, there, dear one, truly there is no other way there. I can tell you that there is no other way and you may say “I’m independent. I hold on to my own charting of the course of my life. I hold on to my own destiny.”

These words sound valiant and worth while there and indeed you are sovereign in your free will but you are joined always and in setting yourself apart from that joining you are giving up your birthright there. You are giving up your birthright and your inheritance and settling for a 'rolling the dice' existence there, a chance happening a random way to live.

Truly you are leaving out the crux of whom you are. Now is the time to explore this and to find what was there all along but what was hidden from you as you were so indoctrinated in the culture and in the limited mindset.

Now the great letting go is occurring there. The great awakening to the truth of life is occurring and the way forward is coming into view. How wonderful for you and for your brothers and sisters on planet Earth to find that life is so much more. Let your ego self, your separated self go, and find anew the Whole of you. Never alone, dear one, truly never alone .

Verify and validate your experiences time and time again. As you find that what is occurring in your life is nothing that you have been able to take credit for, you will look forward to what comes next with eager anticipation.

It is as if you are in a waiting room in your mind, expecting nothing but wonderful new happenings and unfoldings there...ever expecting wonderful news and events and relishing in them as they happen again and again there. Now you will find that you are met with the confidence and the conviction to carry on as each thing validates and verifies to you the value of joining in your life and the real way to live there.

It seems impossible that in your life you could not have known of this. It seems impossible as you live, that this way has been hidden from you and held at bay from you by your culture and by your own ego structures that have done everything possible to defend against you finding out.

For you see, the ego is intent on defending against your forward movement and your peace there. The ego is intent on dismantling your conviction and your certainty that what has occurred is anything but a random act, a crap shoot, that happened to go your way. It clearly says the other shoe will drop and the luck will run out if you carry on this way. And so you let go of the joined perspective and go back to thinking it out for yourself and buy into the cultural way, the way of separation, the ego there.

But you find yourself curious if what you experienced was truly from Source and so again you return to the joined way and again you find that this way brings to you, perfect unfolding there.

Now you 'stay with' again and again. But the ego will not let up and so you go back and forth. Eventually, you will be so convinced that the joined perspective is the right way that you 'stay with' longer and longer. As you experience the right way more and more, you make commitment to this way and your life now takes on full meaning and movement with the greatest anticipation of what next. You are relishing in life and in your profound companionship there. You are joined by your guidance and by your Wholeness there and many who are working with you on the other side. You are involved in the great awakening to the truth of whom and what you are. How wonderful for you and how much of a gift you can bring to others as you share the good news. Never alone there, dear one, truly never alone, there.

Take heed in what guidance relays to you, for the words heard are given to you for the express purpose of bringing you into the state of higher consciousness there. The words are given to guide you into the awakened state and bring to you, your Wholeness there.

We, who work with you in this endeavor, are not interested in bringing to you anything but the very truth of existence there and showing you how the separated way is fallacious and without value to you. We are interested in showing you how meaningless your life is as you let the cultural way, the way of ego dynamics lead the way.

What will occur for you as you do so let in your guide? You will be brought into the flow of Source there and you will find that your life will unfold in new and miraculous ways. You will find that your Source will move you into the unknown and impossible to have imagined territory, and opens for you a vista of unending beneficence to you. As you embrace what has just been said and as you wonder if this could be true, let me assure you that it is.

You are on the precipice of real change there and you are entering the mystical and the miraculous world of Source. Now you have what it takes to go forward there. You have what it takes to move forward and embrace fully this guidance. As you feel into it and as you find such 'right knowing' in what you are given, you will turn within more and more. How wonderful to know that this is the way life is meant to unfold and this is the way that life is truly bringing to you untold miracles aplenty. This book is indeed a miracle as the writer had turned her life over to inner guidance. Now she moves and has her being in this guidance and finds the joy and the relishing of the forward movement each day. She has chosen to follow guidance and she has chosen to give her gifts as she so receives.

Now is the time for you to turn inward, too. Your gifts will come forth and they will bring to you untold experiences and gifts there. Now is the time to turn inward, dear one, truly now is the time. Let this chapter on gifting and gifts be felt as truly meaningful to you.

Are you aware that you are met with guidance that loves you and has nothing but your best interest at heart? Are you aware that you have spiritual help available and that you are never alone there? These words are so powerful to you as you embrace them, explore them and find them to be true.

We are not interested in you as that which brings to us a disciple nor a convert nor a follower to claim as our own, to serve us and to worship us. For indeed, we do not view you as an underling nor a 'less than' individual to be harnessed to us and made to do our bidding. Rather, we are here to give you information and the 'knowing' mindset that will truly set you free.

We see you as an equal to us with only a thin veil keeping you from the 'knowing' mindset of whom and what you are. We see you as our equal and we want you to let go of the ignorance that is so rampant on your planet there. Now we are here for you always and we are ready to gift you there with the truth of your inheritance as a full fledged inheritor from Source. You see, you are the place where love comes into the world as you and you are the place where Source opens to others to give and receive there.

This is such wonderful news, for now you can claim your birthright as that which emanates from Source and has the energy of living love there to access and to be, always. We can tell you that this inheritance of living love is mighty in its impact here and in its ability to set all in order there. How wonderful to feel into this love and to feel the peace of your being and the mighty flow of the river of love running through each and everything you are involved in. How wonderful to know this, dear one, and to allow for whom and what you are to come forth. Never alone there, truly never alone. Let this teaching remind you again of what you have available to you and remind you that in every situation and in every instance we are there for you. I love you, dear one, and in truth, that is what I want you to know most importantly, I love you!

Fix your gaze on the inward way. Here you will see what needs to be done or the way to progress there. Here you will find your direct connection to Source and your lifeline to reality. Not heavy-handed is this way, but gently compelling, as water falling from a ledge and as the influx of air when a window is open. You will find that this way is so right on as you continue more and more. Nothing but the far-reaching truth of you to be experienced. How wonderful to know that you have a way to access what is divinely right for you and how wonderful to know that this way will lead you into your awakened state there.

Now you will find that you are easily led back into the ego mind set and back into the enculturated way but you will turn more quickly to guidance and to your right mind as you become familiar with it. You will move with ease in the world and you will move with the grace of one who knows the way there. You are not alone there ever, dear one, truly you are not alone there ever. We are with you as you live.

This volume, in truth, has nothing in it but the simple news of direct connection, told again and again. Why? Because of the importance of it and because it is the way forward for you. And so we continue to tell you of the good news of connection to your Source, your highest calling there.

Soon you will find that turning inward is as easy as breathing there and will be the only way you will experience life from. Soon you will experience the Mind of connection and the infilling of Source as the usual way to live. We can tell you that this way will embrace you and support you along the way and will give you much needed help. For we are there to love you and to support you always.

Now is the time to turn inward, dear one, and now is the time to allow for your Wholeness to be experienced. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Move directly into that connected mind space that offers such solace to you. As life is lived you will find that solace is needed, for you will be brought into the culture that is there to intrude ego into every nook and corner. As you are confronted with this, the answer always, is to turn inward and listen to guidance and follow what you hear.

Now you will be given words that will clear the way for your joy to be felt and for your needs to be met. You will be given information that will move you lovingly forward, out of the mire and the meanness of the separated way.

As you are confronted with the issues that play havoc on your well being, there will be a call for turning inward on a constant basis. Here we are to help you and here we are to shepherd you along the way. How wonderful to know that you have a resource of such transcendent value there and how wonderful to know that you are never alone as you live to suffer the injuries of a world gone awry.

How wonderful to know that through it all you are never alone there and you are never without the Wholeness of you, the holy and spiritual reality of you there to love and support you. We are here, dear ones, and we are ready to guide you fully as you are confronted with challenges to your peace.

As you engage more and more the only way to proceed will be to turn inward and ask. Now will come the great releasing of the separated way and the great flood of joy will usher in. You will feel your Wholeness and you will become awakened there to the truth of whom and what you are.

Never alone, dear one, truly never alone.. Now take a moment to turn quietly inward and ask that I give you inspiration to continue on and to find truth in trouble and the way to proceed there. You are never alone and, in truth, you are always One with us. Let this chapter be a verification to you that what is said here is a perfect way to live in your times. Never alone and joined always are you.

Validate and verify to yourself that you are in connection. It is as you quiet your thinking mindset, and as you turn off the running stream of snippets of thoughts that impinge on your peace, that must be let go of there, that you will find connection. We can tell you that the need to quiet your mindset is real and the need to allow for the influx of spirit there is real. As you become familiar with this experience, you will know in your own way that you are in connection. You will know for the experience will be radically different from the way your thoughts impinge themselves on you.

As you become familiar with this way of using your mind, you will want no other way for the input is so right on there for you. So right on and so satisfying in its outcome. Now you will let go of all the enculturated and historical and habitual ways of being and you will allow for the simple and perfect next step there. As you proceed with it and as you see the outcome that is so right on, you will marvel at this and will return again and again. Here is your answer to life and here is your true unfolding as you were meant to move forward there.

As you engage in this way and find the outcome so satisfying, you will want to let the old behavior go and find the unfolding that is dynamic, simple and in perfect harmony there. Now what unfolds will benefit others there also, and so the truth is that you are not called on to do anything that would cause harm to another there. You are not called on to do anything that would endanger others.

No, what will occur will be the perfect unfolding for all those involved. You see, you are working from your Wholeness and in this is the unfolding occurring. You are coming from that which is transcendent in its way of moving and knows the perfect next step there for you.

Truly, you are not alone there, dear one, as you live and truly you are not without guidance there to comfort you, support you, and move you forward in your life.

We would say to allow for the unfolding and the comfort gained from this way of living, the true way there. You are never alone there ever, dear one, truly you are never alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Chapter 105

Move into the place of stillness and listen with intention there. Here, in this quiet place, can be found the truth of whom and what you are. Here can be found the truth of life and the ongoing connection to your Source, your guidance and your Wholeness.

As you learn to access this place you will find the love that cannot and will not abandon you to the wily and cunning ways of ego. You will find the love that carries you along and gives you the safety and the stability to move forward always, there. This love is inviolate and is of the highest quality for you. Always, it is conditioned on your asking for it, as it must and will not intrude on your will. You must want this involvement and you must open to it. Here you are met with the way forward for you. We can tell you with certainty, that as you do so involve yourself here, you will find the next steps given for you and the way will be made plain.

We are not interested in confusing you, nor throwing up to you roadblocks to your moving forward there. We are interested in simple and plain steps that you can take without confusion and without cause for alarm and without fear of betrayal and abandonment. We are there for you and we are forever interested in your awakening to the truth of whom and what you are.

As you do so ask us in, and as you do so begin the movement to connection, you will not find that you are given that which will throw you a curve, nor harness you to a way of life that is arduous and disdainful. No, no, no. Truly, the life of living out from guidance is joyful and worth the commitment to it. Because it is the truth of how you are suppose to live, you will find that your unfolding will be that which is felt as on track, in the flow and in alignment with what you are to be involved in.

Now the movement forward will occur and the letting go of the illusion that you could ever be separate will occur fully. We are with you there fully, dear one, truly, you are never alone. Let in and allow, for indeed, we are One.

Bring to bear on your life an increased willingness to listen to inner guidance. Now, as has been said throughout this book, this is the most powerful tool you have to move into transformation there. This guidance is truly a part of whom you are and is not separate from you but it has been ignored throughout the ages there. It has been ignored and it has been held as that which is vaporous and not to be counted on. Truly it is thought to be trivial and of little significance to people. But yet, it remains of interest to those who have experienced occasions of inexplicable happenings and coincidences and that which has made a real difference in their lives.

Now there is a movement afoot within your world to bring the good news of guidance to everyone and to allow for the increased releasing of the ignorance of separation to be felt. How wonderful for you on planet Earth to at last gain the know-how and the can-do of living from your divinity, your true self. You are truly not alone there ever, dear one, you are truly not alone there ever. Let in and allow, for indeed, what you will experience is our Oneness with Source.

This book has been given to you to bring you another verification and validation that the inward way is the way. And so, as this volume comes to a close and as you begin the journey to Wholeness, embrace what is given here and move with lightness into the joined perspective. We will be there for you always, and we will not abandon you to the wily and cunning ego dynamics that so infuse your planet there. Now is the time to let go, dear one, now is the time to let go into your Wholeness.

In conclusion we would say, we love you mightily and we will be there with you each step of the way. Release the separation and invite in the truth of whom and what you really are, a child of Source and One with All That Is.
