

When Life Seems Empty

Do you awaken sometimes,
And feel if nothing's there?
You long for inspiration,
To fill the void so bare.

Nothing seems to spark you,
You've done it all before,
Another day so routine,
You wonder "Is there more?"

You sit there on the bedside,
Suddenly you smile,
Remembering who is with you,
Who makes your life worth while.

You shrug off any doldrums,
You claim our Oneness there,
Alone no more life opens,
Togetherness, we share.

No matter what unfolds this day,
It matters not that much,
God's Love gives all its meaning,
And inspiration's touch.

Life's no longer empty,
It's filled up to the brim,
Jesus is the answer,
I dwell in peace with Him.

He's not there just for me, dear,
He's waiting for your call,
No one is left out ever,
He's there with Love for All.

A little poem to cheer you,
And meant with big intent,
To offer you an answer,
His Love for you is sent.

In closing I will tell you,
What you have surely known,
The Lord is with you always,
You are not alone!

02/22/21 Sharing is encouraged, but please acknowledge the website. Thanks.