

Sacred Destiny

To recognize, to call to mind,
And then, to clearly see,
What lies right there before you,
Is your sacred destiny.

Not oft in the future,
But now, it is the time,
To let the world know, dear,
In more ways than this rhyme.

You'll be called to use your spoken voice,
To tell others, I'm within,
Opening a new mission phase,
It's time! Let us begin!

You'll recognize the when and where,
While listening, dear, to Me,
You'll honor this, your calling,
Your sacred destiny.

You're called to be a witness,
To tell what you know there,
A life of love, relationship,
And now it's time to share.

Don't cower in a corner,
Don't turn your eyes away,
Don't pretend that you don't hear Me,
Tell them God's truth this day!

Don't worry about the outcome,
Your part, to plant the seed,
We're in charge of growth, dear,
You've done your part, indeed.

No need to prepare a speech there,
That's not how witnessing's done,
Listen, then say what I tell you,
Words uniquely for that one.

You'll have the strength to do this,
Together there with Me,
You came here for this reason,
Your sacred destiny!

In closing let Me tell you,
What you, so well have known,
I love you and am with you,
You are not alone.
