

A Need to Share

Lord, what is it you'd like to say,
To those who read this poem,
I'm listening close, so I can hear,
Intent on not to roam.

Randi, this poem will be about,
Something important there,
There is a need for readers,
To give to one – to share.

This one is My beloved,
He's one you've known so true,
He's been your teacher for so long,
He brings My words on through.

He needs half a million dollars, plus,
To keep his living space,
Here the work is given,
A place to live in grace.

Yes, it's a large amount, there,
He makes his work a gift,
Freely given all these years,
Let's all give Paul a lift!

The need will be met easily,
Let's open love's flood gate,
I'm right within each Mind there,
Give large, don't hesitate!

*His work, utmost important,
A joined mind bringing light,
To a world in need of healing,
To clear its blinded sight!*

My thank you now is given,
E'en before you give,
For opening up to Me, there,
In love and joy we live!
