

Give Some Time in Prayer

A sunny day in summer,
We feel an inward peace,
Yet some are feeling turmoil.
Their fear, it will not cease.

We may not know these others,
Who suffer inward pain,
Yet we can help though prayer, there,
Their inward peace to gain.

Prayer, it is not empty,
Has power when love is there,
Connecting with Transcendence,
Can heal, erase despair.

Your part if you are willing,
Is to pray for those unknown,
And think of them as family,
You know All are My own.

Your prayer that seems so general,
Will help specifically,
A hurting soul will benefit,
One you may never see.

Your prayers will lift the density,
That still pervades the earth,
Will help clear the miasma,
Will help in her rebirth.

So on this sunny summer day,
Give some time in prayer,
Never without consequence,
Let's help a loved one there.

In closing, let Me share again,
Telling you what's true,
I see a great unfolding
Fulfillment's there for you!
