

Your Reward is Me

Do not place the value,
Of your gift and its need,
Based solely on the numbers,
Of those who choose to read.

The value there for you, dear,
Is based on staying true,
In listening to the message,
And bringing My words through.

If even one who comes there,
Will turn within to Me,
This site has been worth while,
Not wasted energy.

Some seek fame and fortune,
These rewards, their choice.
Your reward is Me, dear,
My clear and present Voice.

You know from your experience,
Your life with Me feels right,
The years have brought fulfillment,
Have brought you pure delight.

Keep true to what you know, dear,
Don't give up now, nor wane,
Let's give the gift that's needed,
To heal a world in pain.

Though feedback to you's not given,
I'll tell you what I see,
Many lives have changed, there,
As they have turned to Me.

This poem 's meant as encouragement,
To keep you staying true,
You're called to be My listening scribe,
You know that I love you.

It's truly about the others,
The lost and lonely there,
Remember, they're our family,
For them — that's why we share.

In closing let Me state again,
I love you as My own,
I will never leave you,
You are not alone.
