

Clear the Way

Can you find a way there,
To simplify your life?
To rid it of complexity,
That causes so much strife.

Will you let your life be lived,
With a great deal less,
Clear out all the excess,
That make's one's life a mess.

Your house, your room, your car, there,
Not only clear out these,
But clear your mind of clutter,
Let go of your unease.

The little scraps of fear there,
The hurts and slights you've felt,
Let go of what's not helpful,
What ego's cards have dealt.

Let peace fill up your mind there,
Enjoy a cleared out space,
Join Me there, where peace is found,
We'll live in divine grace.

Your life will not be empty,
Though simple it will be,
Pure joy will fill your cup, dear,
We'll live in harmony.

'Twill be a new beginning,
You'll feel as all brand new,
Living love will light our way,
God's meaning shinning through.

This poem, itself, is simple,
Its message, plain to see,
Simple love and joining,
Clear the way for Me.

My mission is to clear you,
Of all your falsity,
Revealing who you are, dear,
So perfect, whole, and free.

In closing, let Me tell you,
I love you, as My Own,
I will never leave you,
You are not alone.
