

A New Year Dawns

A new year dawns upon us,
A fresh start can be made,
The old is gone forever,
Its history has been laid.

Let's start by stating purpose,
How we intend to live,
'Not my will, but thine, Lord,
Show me how to give.'

To give what really matters,
To those that we are shown,
To tell of love, God's meaning,
Indwells for All to own.

A singular intention,
To be God's point of light,
Joined within to Me, there,
We move with love's clear sight.

Let not your heart be troubled,
Nor fear what lies ahead,
We'll go through life together,
By love, we will be led.

Each year is made of days, there,
Each day, the moments fill,
Each moment is a choice, dear,
To yield to God's own will.

Yield to what I give you,
And follow what is true,
I see the complete picture,
I know what's best for you.

Let's joy in one another,
Includes the Entirety,
We move in God's Completeness,
Our One Identity.

Make your resolution,
Your goal and your intent,
To live with Me and follow,
Your life will be well spent!

My resolution is a promise,
One that you have known,
I will never leave you,
You are not alone.
