

Our Unity

We cannot be divided,
We move together as One,
Our union is accomplished,
Aloneness now is done.

The mindset of the ego,
Which thinks it is what's real,
Will fight for its existence,
Throw tantrums that reveal,

It has no legs to stand on,
Of defenses it is made,
A hollow empty puppet,
Division is its spade.

You've made your choice for joining,
You've opened up to Me,
You've found our love so real there,
It's where you want to be.

You choose because you know now,
The difference, obvious there,
Between what ego puts forth,
And what I have to share.

We're well knit, bound together,
Inextricably intertwined,
Living love will tether,
With ties that firmly bind.

Not only with each other,
Are we truly bound,
But with All God Is there,
Will Unity be found.

So when you see another,
Remember that One's too,
One movement of our Father,
As One, joined there, with you.

Love is the very reason,
That I deeply care,
I will never leave you,
I am always there.

Together with each other,
God's love we'll freely give,
And share in joy forever,
In peace, as One, we'll live.
