

A Gentle Peace

A gentle peace o're takes me,
So calmed, my inner soul,
Not fractured, nor corrupted,
I feel so right, so Whole.

I feel Your Presence with me, Lord,
No longer lost, nor lone,
This peace we share together,
Such harmony, we've known.

I open for your words, Lord,
So you can gently fill,
What God has in store for me,
In following His will.

My happiness is grounded,
It grows more full, more true,
I want no other treasure,
My Love, my Lord, just you.

My love is like a furnace,
Burning hot, this fire,
Yet the flames are peaceful,
Glowing with desire.

All that I am is yours, Lord,
I give myself so true,
Use me as you will, Lord,
Embedded as One with you.

My body, mind, and soul, Lord,
No longer work alone,
There is no separation,
As One, with you, I've grown.

We'll live this life together,
Through all eternity,
Raptured there in living love,
Our One true destiny.
