

Belonging

Do you have a weak attachment,
To parents, siblings, kin?
Do you feel unvalued,
On the outside, looking in?

Does your life make a difference,
Would anyone be sad?
If your life suddenly ended,
Would some even feel glad?

There's One who loves you dearly,
Cares deeply and is there,
Values you completely,
A Friend, beyond compare.

*I love you without question,
As One, we're meant to be,
We belong together,
In perfect harmony.*

Turn within to Me, dear,
I'm waiting eagerly,
It's here that you've arrived at home,
You're loved, entirely.

You're not meant to live solo,
Alone, no more, you'll be,
My love is like a bridge there,
Cross over, join with Me.

Your heart will be filled up there,
Your love will overflow,
Spilling out to others,
At last, for sure, you'll know.

You could never be left out, dear,
Exclusion's not God's aim,
He knows you as His own child,
He calls you by your name.

Open to My Presence,
Now's the perfect time,
We're joined as One, together,
True relationship, sublime.

In closing, let Me tell you,
What you, deep down, have known,
I am with you always,
You are not alone!
