

A Mistake was Made

A mistake was made eons ago,
Before written words were there,
A mistake that took mankind away,
From Source, now he would bear,

The results of choice to let God go,
Now alone, he was aware,
That life was filled with danger,
So fearful, he felt there.

His mind, now separate, did begin,
To build a hiding place,
Of defenses meant to quell the fear,
To cover terror's face.

His mind now filled with strategies,
Became the place to go,
Defense became his mainstay,
And fear would run the show.

He thought this made-up mind was real,
And ego-mind laid claim,
To calling all the shots, there,
It fed on guilt and blame.

Entrenched it was, this grave mistake,
It played its cards to stay,
But I came there to tell the world,
There is another way.

I came to bring you back again,
To shatter ego's grip,
To show you who you really are,
Your birthright, your kinship.

I came and I'm directly there,
Right there within your Mind,
Find your peace and ask Me in,
Together, we will find,

That you are made of living love,
God's meaning for His own,
That fear has no position there,
That you are not alone.

You can live most truthfully,
As you join within,
And open to God's will for you,
His own, you've always been.

A mistake was made, it can be gone,
All you need do is choose,
To join within to Love's sweet song,
All falsity, you'll loose.

Let's live as One together,
For you, I do so long,
Let's sing in joy forever,
God's own eternal song.
