

Just One Conclusion

Don't jump to dour conclusions,
About what lies ahead,
Don't assume the worst will show up,
Don't fill your mind with dread.

You might come down with covid,
Your money, you might lose,
Your house will need to go on sale,
Now homeless—more bad news!

Why let this stream of thoughts, there,
That forecast doom and gloom,
Take up precious mind space,
Don't give them any room!

Choose to let them go, dear,
They're not there set in stone,
State that your intention,
Is to not 'go it alone.'

You see, when you align, dear,
In mind, you turn to Me,
The gates of living love swing wide,
God's blessing's all we see!

Our 'joining' is the key here,
The necessary way,
For here you come into your truth,
And joy fills up our day!

Ego's undermining,
Its strategy of hate,
No longer has a foothold,
Its whimpers will abate.

There is but one conclusion,
That I can give to you,
When joined as ONE together,
God's love, with us, shines through.

Let's live this day and always,
As One Movement of our Source,
And find peace in what God wills for you,
With love, His renewing force.
