

Easter's Meaning

It's Easter Day, a time to pause,
To remember what it means,
A time to look beyond the grave,
Beyond just what it seems.

It seems His body now is gone,
The tomb is empty there,
The ones who came to lay their balm,
Now run to tell, to share,

That Jesus has been taken,
Our Savior's there no more!
What could this mean for we who care,
Who loved the One who bore,

The weight of death upon the cross,
Who gave Himself, so we,
Would know of everlasting life,
With God, eternally.

One version says an angel,
Came to Mary and said,
'Jesus now has risen,
He surely is not dead.'

Other gospel versions,
We safely can surmise,
End with the same conclusion.
Jesus did arise!

And now I speak directly,
To every daughter, son,
Come within and find Me,
Triumph o'er death is won!

I am real and risen,
God's Love will light the way,
'Til rapture in our Oneness,
Brings forth a brand new day.

Easter meaning's clear, dear,
I'm right here just for you
Just turn in peace within, there,
Find living love so true.

A cross, a stone, a tomb — none will
Sever who I am,
I am your Redeemer,
Your Savior, and Your Friend.

The end's but the beginning,
Let's start anew this day,
Carry Me with you always.
Together, let us stay!
