

Memorial Day

We remember fallen heroes,
The casualties of wars,
Who gave their lives for others,
On far and distant shores.

We honor these brave soldiers,
But honor not the cause,
For war itself is useless,
And should give us pause.

For how can killing others,
Ever lead the way,
For peaceful life together?
And so, this day we pray,

That those who seek aggression,
Would open up their eyes,
Would cherish life together,
That they would realize,

Love is the call to action,
Love is the only way,
Love brings us all together,
So that we can stay,

Together on this planet,
And live with one intent,
To cherish all who live here,
For this is what is meant,

When God placed deep within us,
His meaning, not our own,
That living love should lead us,
To harmony, its tone,

To awaken to our Oneness,
As siblings all are we,
With God our loving Parent,
We join as family,

To live, to love, together,
To know we're not alone,
God's love is ever present,
His light is what is shone,

So let us open to it,
And let it show the way,
Beyond aggression's killing,
Until that bright new day,

When All are loved as equals,
And All are cherished there,
And hearts are gladly opened,
And love is brought to bear,

On all our situations.
In closing, let Me say,
I love you dearly as My own.
Forever, I will stay.
